Flood Moves Into Dubuque

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mississippi River floodwaters covered much of Dubuque, Iowa today as the pounding current increased pressure on sections of western Illinois and eastern Iowa.

The tide was scheduled to peak at swamped Prairie du Chien, Wis., where nearly a third of the city of 5,649 population is under water.

The river sweeping southward, stopped its steady rise at Quincy, Ill., giving workers some leeway to prepare defenses against a predicted April 30 crest that could run eight feet above flood stage.

The river was running eight feet over its 17-foot flood stage in Dubuque as some 1,000 volunteers sandbagged levees. Reinforcements streamed in from as far as New Hampton, 115 miles northwest, to relieve weary workers who have hauled almost 300,000 bags of sand.

Officials say the river will crest Saturday night at 26.5 feet in Dubuque, a city of 57,000 at the Wisconsin-Illinois-Iowa junction. Overflows have already covered an eight-block riverside section in downtown Dubuque.

The Red Cross estimated that floods have damaged 1,094 homes in Iowa and injured 42 persons. President Johnson declared the state a disaster area, as he had done in Minnesota and Wisconsin. Floods have evicted an estimated 3,000 Iowans and caused $15 million damage.

Down river at Clinton, Iowa, a hermit told sheriff's deputies he'd beaten the 1952 flooding by climbing a tree "and he'll go up in a tree again in '65 if he has to."

The hermit is known only as "Silent Henry," the sole occupant of Joyce's Island on the northern end of Clinton. But deputies said Henry apparently had decided to climb the tree the easy way — by tying a raft to it and letting the water buoy him to the higher branches.

At Prairie du Chien, Wis., Arthur Dover, an official of the Office of Emergency Planning, toured the city by boat and promised prompt emergency assistance. The city's sewerage plant has been pouring raw sewage into the floodtide.

In downtown La Crosse, three cracks appeared in a five-story brick building but officials said there was no immediate danger of collapse.

Red Cross officials said the floods destroyed 48 homes and damaged 3,240 in Wisconsin. Three persons have died and damage is estimated at $18.7 million.

In Illinois, the flood caused at least as much havoc in East Dubuque as it did in Dubuque across the river. Police said there were 1,000 flood workers in East Dubuque, a town of 2,000. They said 700 residents had been evacuated. Floodwaters completely covered two-story homes at the southern end of town.

Nearly every railroad with routes through the flood area has rerouted its trains. The Milwaukee Road trains from Chicago to Minneapolis are taking an 1,100-mile detour that swings as far as Aberdeen, S.D.

Workers tried to protect East Moline, Ill., its three sister cities and the failing Meredosia

Flood Damage Inspected by Federal Official

By HARVEY BREUSCHER

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN, Wis. (AP) — It was the first tour of Prairie du Chien for Art Dover of Washington, D.C. and he made it in a motorboat.

"What will you have to do to make these houses livable again," he asked, as the craft moved up Main Street, on 12 feet of Mississippi River floodwater.

"We honestly don't know, we've never had it this bad," replied Sgt. Robert Clanton of the National Guard.

Dover, an official of the Office of Emergency Planning was in town to see the public property damage inflicted by the record crest. But the awesome destruction of private homes compelled attention.

About 350 houses in this city of 5,600 have been flooded. Families have abandoned about 250 of the houses.

"My father lived over there, you can see the water go up over the basement level," the sergeant said.

The current moved the craft while the motor idled. The speed of the flow down Main Street had been estimated at 10 to 12 miles her hour.

"That was the truck route to Iowa, and here comes U.S. 18," Clanton said, as the boat neared the approach to the Mississippi River bridge.

"See these sheds, they're starting to float," he added. "There's going to be a lot of water and lumber down river."

Dover next was shown the flooded municipal disposal plant. Raw sewage has been pouring into the river since Monday.

"This is where the federal government can help," said Dover. The OEP's activities are restricted to the replacement of public facilities.

The boat then moved out into the river's channel and headed up stream bound for the 4th Ward residential section — the first to go under. A Bible floated past.

New York City Declares 'Open War' on Criminals

By BERNIE GOULD

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's largest city has declared "open war" on criminals in the streets as an extra 500 patrolmen and detectives, all in uniform and working overtime, begin pounding beats tonight.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner in a televised speech Thursday night said: "The days ahead will be days of open war."

We're against the criminals. We are going to win. They are going to lose."

On April 5, the mayor announced a crackdown on subway crime and threw 800 policemen into the battle on their off-duty hours.

Two nights later, a policeman was riding every train and patrolling each of the 80 subway stations between the high-crime hours of 8 p.m. and 4 a.m.

The result, Wagner said Thursday night, "has been successful beyond our hopes."

During the first 15 days of the new patrol, 12 felonies were reported on subways compared to 37 in the same period in March. Misdemeanor arrests rose to 42, compared with 17 the month before.

The mayor's war on crime in the streets took shape as a five-point program costing nearly $17 million a year. This is in addition to the more than $9-million price tag for extra police manpower on subways.

And it will, Wagner said, cost the public more tax money.

He ordered:

1. That an extra 500 uniformed policemen be put on the streets every night of the week from 7 p.m. to 3 a.m., starting tonight.

2. That the Police Department

200 U. S. Planes Destroy Six Viet Enemy Bridges

By PETER ARNETT

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — About 200 U.S. Air Force and Navy planes destroyed six vital bridges and a river ferry in North Viet Nam today, a U.S. spokesman reported. It was the most destructive operation mounted to date against North Vietnamese transportation lines.

The spokesman said all the planes returned safely. But on the ground four Americans were killed today, and the death of another American Thursday also was announced.

Three of the dead were frogmen, either from the Navy or the Marine Corps, who were killed on the coast about 340 miles north of Saigon. No details were announced, but they were in the water at the time and possibly were victims of an accidental explosion.

Eighteen Americans have been killed in Viet Nam so far this week, one of the highest losses of any similar period in the Viet Nam war.

The Vietnamese air force said two of its squadrons leveled a "major military position" about six miles southwest of Quang Khe, in North Viet Nam, and destroyed the only ferryboat at Xuan Son, on the Gianh River.

The Vietnamese said the Gianh River ferry had been used to move Communist reinforcements to such southern bases as Dong Hoi. A spokesman said all the Vietnamese planes returned safely.

Several of the bridges hit by the Americans were only moderately damaged by raids early in the day but were reported destroyed on repeated strikes.

U.S. Not Aiming At Invasion of North Viet Nam

Three Klansmen Freed on Bond in Race Slaying Case

Three Ku Klux Klansmen were free on $10,000 bond each in Birmingham, Ala. today awaiting trial on first degree murder charges in the ambush death of a Detroit mother who marched for civil rights.

The three said they were innocent and had been subject to almost continuous harassment by telephone calls and letters in recent weeks.

Their attorney, Matt H. Murphy Jr., criticized President Johnson for his remarks in connection with the arrest of klan members. Murphy said he would have to subpoena the President "if I fairly hope to represent these men."

Soviets Launch Communications Satellite

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union announced today that it had put its first communications satellite into orbit and had successfully carried out television transmissions between Moscow and Vladivostok, 4,000 miles east of the Soviet capital on the Sea of Japan.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said the satellite Molniya 1 went into a "high elliptical orbit" today.

"All the equipment installed on board and the entire ground radio complex are operating normally," Tass said.

The announcement said the main task of Molniya 1 "is to relay television programs and long distance bilateral multichannel telephone, radiophoto and telegraph communications."

Molniya — like the early U.S. Telstar satellites — is not in synchronous orbit and is not continuously available for communications relays across the Soviet Union.

Early Bird, the U.S. communications satellite launched over the Atlantic Ocean April 6, is in an orbit synchronized to the revolution of the earth so that it is consantly in position to relay signals between the United States and Europe. On Sunday, Early Bird is to inaugurate two-way live telecasts between Europe and North America.

Tass said Molniya's period of revolution is 11 hours, 48 minutes. The Soviet satellite's egg-shaped orbit carries it to a maximum height of approximately 20,600 miles above the earth and a minimum height of only 300 miles over the southern

Bids Opened For Project At Air Academy

Bids were opened Thursday for the first increment of the Air Force Academy's $40 million expansion program.

Apparent low bidder for the first project, preparing the site for a 350-room dormitory, was Harry Pinello Construction of Colorado Springs with a bid of $86,600.

Government estimate of cost of the project was $119,300.

According to Col. John M. Ansley, Colorado Springs Area engineer, Army Corps of Engineers, the project will consist of clearing 11 acres of trees and shrubs and grading ranging up to 40 feet of cut and 30 feet of fill.

Grading will also include removal of large quantities of rocks.

The work site is at the south edge of the cadet area.

Completion of the job is expected within 60 days, Col. Ansley said.

First segment of the expansion programs calls for the addition to present dormitory facilities, a Base chapel, and extension of existing utilities systems.

Business Zone Change Refused By Planners

A developer failed to convince the City Planning Commission Thursday that his property should be changed from shopping center to business use.

Leonard J. Rhue requested a change from planned business center (PBC-2) to intermediate business (C-5) for 11.5 acres northwest of Academy Boulevard and LaSalle Street.

Rhue explained that he did not have the large type of business necessary to start a shopping center, saying:

"We were on our way to putting together a shopping center and then, wham, 90 acres were zoned (for shopping center use) across the way."

Residents in the area turned out to protest the zone change and presented a petition. Their spokesman, Lt. Col. Joseph P. Bernier, said, "We were told that there would be planned, orderly growth of the area.

"I certainly don't want a hot dog stand here. Please don't open the door to future problems."

Residents pointed out that planned business center zoning would give the commission the

Security Water Regulations Are Announced

Security's Water Board Thursday approved a set of watering regulations, which will be put into use on a trial basis May 1.

Beginning May 1, Security residents will be allowed to water from 5 to 8 a.m. and 5 to 8 p.m. every day. There will be no odd or even day restriction under the trial method, only the restriction to six watering hours a day.

The board also agreed to more stringent violation penalties, for watering in other than specified hours and wasting water. Under the new ruling, the second offense to the watering regulation would carry a penalty of installation of a water meter at the home owner's expense.

Board members agreed on the "watering daily" policy after looking into Widefield's watering policy for 1964. During that year Widefield had no restriction, while Security only allowed watering during specified hours every other day. As it turned out, Widefield used only half the water per-acre feet that Security used.

The board felt they should not make people plan their lives around alternate day watering periods. They also elected to hire persons to patrol neighborhoods for violations if necessary.

Barney Heads Independent College Group

Armin B. Barney, chairman of the board of Colorado College, was elected vice president of the Colorado Association of Independent Colleges and Universities.

Presidents of five non-tax-supported institutions of higher learning in Colorado met in Denver Thursday and announced the formation of the association.

The five member schools are Denver University, Regis College, Loretto Heights College, Colorado Woman's College and Colorado College.

Purpose of the new organization will include action in the areas of inter-school communication, planning, and joint efforts in establishing education policies and principles.

Other officers include Gerald Peters, chairman of the board of Colorado Woman's College, vice president; Donald Blanchard, vice president for business and finance of Colorado Woman's College, treasurer; and Dr. Frank Kerins, chairman of philosophy of Loretto Heights College, secretary.

Among those named trustees of the association were Dr. Lloyd E. Worner, president of Colorado College, Robert W. Broughton, vice president of Colorado College for business affairs, Professor Bernard P. Arnest, chairman of the college's art department and Professor J. Douglas Mertz, chairman of the political science department at the college. Barney also was named a trustee.

Park Grass Is to Be Walked on

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Frank Vaydik, superintendent of the Kansas City Park Department, announced Thursday it is going to install some signs which say: "Please walk on the grass."

"That's why we have a park and boulevard system — so people can walk and feel the green turf," Vaydik told a neighborhood council.

More Than Half of U.S. Plans on Daylight Saving

NEW YORK (AP) — More than half the American people will have to turn their clocks ahead one hour Sunday to conform with Daylight Saving Time.

In 16 states, the change will be statewide. In others, one or more areas of the state will go on DST, while other areas stay on standard time.

Some states remain on standard time next week will shift to daylight time later in the spring.

Latest reports indicate a slight gain for the Daylight Saving Time advocates, many of whom would like to see the whole country on DST all year — as some sections in Indiana do now.

New to the fold is Colorado, which will turn the clocks Sunday for the first time.

Iowa adopted DST on a statewide basis for the first time this year by legislative action, but will have it only from Memorial Day to Labor Day.

Wisconsin will begin DST as usual Sunday, but by legislative action will have an extra month of it, going back to standard time at the end of October rather than as previously, in late September.

Generally statewide DST is favored by populous states — New England, the Middle Atlantic states, Illinois and California. Others adopting statewide DST include West Virginia, Nevada and Washington.

But in other states the picture is not so clear. In Ohio, 226 cities and communities in the

More Than 1,000 Soviet 'Volunteers' Already Reported in North Viet Nam

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

While Premier Kosygin threatens to send them, intelligence has definitely established that more than 1,000 Soviet military officers and technicians are there. Also, that others are arriving almost daily by ship, plane and train.

The last two are highly significant. This means that despite their apparent ideological wrangling, Moscow and Peking are working in close cahoots on Viet Nam.

The Russian "volunteers" include jet pilots and mechanics, artillerymen, guerrilla warfare specialists, anti-aircraft missile crews and construction personnel, port and dock experts.

Congressional authorities, who have been briefed on this covert Russian build-up, were told the information is based on a number of reliable sources. They include detailed photographs by high-level U-2 reconnaissance flights, and reports from French and other Westerners residing in or visiting Hanoi and Haiphong.

It is the understanding of these members of Congress that the Central Intelligence Agency has no firm figures on the Russian build-up in North Viet Nam. The Navy is maintaining a close scrutiny of Soviet bloc ships transporting cargoes there.

In the past several weeks three Russian freighters — Malakhov, Kurgan and Ishma — unloaded numerous heavy crates similar to those in which SAMs (ground-to-air missiles) and Mig-21s were shipped to Cuba.

All these so-far-unannounced Soviet "volunteers" are under the command of Ambassador Ily Shcherhakov — who is also a lieutenant general in the Russian army and member of the powerful Central Committee of the Communist Party.

Also, Shcherhakov is on friendly terms with Red China's Premier Chou En-lai. Before being assigned to Hanoi as "ambassador," Shcherhakov spent several years in Peking as a "minister" in the Soviet embassy.

Under Shcherhakov's direction, a number of new Soviet weapons are being combat tested. They include:

Spring Brings Slayings, Says One Professor

By LARRY FRIEDMAN

NEW YORK (AP) — A prominent social scientist offered a possible explanation today for the outbreak of recent family slayings: Something snaps inside frustrated people in the spring.

"Spring always is a bad time for these things," Dr. Alfred McClung Lee said in an interview.

"All life is reawakening in the spring, the roads are open and these people can't use them," he said. "Life is frustrating. It is a time of inadequacy for them.

"They have to lash out at someone and often they do it against those to whom they are most devoted."

Lee, 58, a professor of sociology and anthropology at Brooklyn College and author of many sociology textbooks, quoted a line from Thoreau on the subject: "Most men lead lives of quiet desperation."

But the sociologist stressed that his theory is only a general one and not meant to provide any answer for the slayings of entire families in recent days.

"Of course, it is difficult to understand the tensions that build up in some people in spring," Lee said. "We do know that something snaps inside. It often is resolved by either violence, desertion or divorce."

These slayings without apparent motive have occurred:

— In New London, N.H., John Sargent, 32, a Korean War Marine veteran who now is unemployed, has been charged with first degree murder for the slaying of his wife, Janet, 30. The couple's four children, ranging in age from 3 to 9, also were found shot to death Wednesday.

— In Vancouver, British Columbia, police Wednesday found the bodies of Leonard Hogue, a Vancouver policeman, his wife and their six children in their suburban home in Coquitlam. "We are assuming the man shot the other members of the family and then committed suicide," a spokesman for the Royal Canadian Mounted Police said. The children were between 3 and 13 years old.

— In Newark, N.J., the police director said Wednesday night an investigation was underway to determine whether Arthur Sherod, 37, had threatened to kill his family shortly before his car crashed into a truck, fatally injuring his wife and seven of their children Tuesday night.

CHICAGO (UPI)—Chicago defensive end Ed O'Bradovich, who saw little action last season because of injuries, signed his 1965 contract with the Bears Wednesday and vowed to report to summer training "in the best condition ever."

FEW N. Y. EASTER HATS WORTH SEEING: HEDDA

NEW YORK — I always love the view of New York City from an altitude of 35,000 feet. As we flew in, an ocean liner, looking like one of the toy boats my son, Bill, used to sail in Central park, was going out. I couldn't wait to get to Fifth Avenue and see the Easter parade. Never again. It laid an egg. There were only two hats worth looking at. People had everything from rags to chickens on their heads — and it wasn't funny. Mixed in with the paraders were fanatics, babies in carriages and dogs. Crazy it was: Fifth Avenue it wasn't. Four school boys decided to have a romp in their fathers' finery. Wore top hats, carried canes and couldn't keep the monocles in their eyes. The only laugh of the parade.

Most of the women were bearheaded, including Connie Bennett, when I lunched with Serge Obolensky at the St. Regis. Anita Colby wore a sailor with one daisy on it. I sat between Serge and George Farkas, who's building a huge store here opposite Bloomingdales. George found a bit of Eden in Jamaica where he has a private beach and a small home, but he is so successful he can find only five weeks a year to enjoy it.

Oleg Cassini iintroduced me to Tina, his daughter by Gene Tierney, a lovely dark-haired girl who resembles neither parent. Oleg staged a fashion show and made some pretty funny remarks as the girls modeled his clothes. When one came out in a multicolored bikini, he said, "How do you like your eggs in the morning — scrambled or straight up?" He called one girl (thin as a rail) "The Belle of the Bulge"; another "my double-breasted model"; and a third "Dr. Strangelove — if you don't like it, reject it." And to the girl in the bridal outfit, he said, "Wake up, darling, today is our wedding day." The girls looked as though they wanted to hit him, but Anita told me people fight to get in just to hear what Oleg will say next.

At the cocktail party given by the Arthur Hays and Arthur Ochs Sulzbergers to meet the Associated Press directors, Aggie Moorehead came in with a St. Louis publisher who told me Aggie used to sing in the choir and on the radio in St. Louis when she was quite young. When I told her she'd sure kept it quiet, she said, "you bet." Jessie Royce Landis and her husband, Gen. J. F. R. Seitz, came in after dining in the country with Lilly Dache and her husband, Jean Despres. I expected to see Maryland McCormick with Mrs. Paul Bellamy, of Cleveland, but Maryland got caught in Washington's social whirl and couldn't make it. Missed Clare McLean—sickness in her family kept her away.

When I left with Roy Roberts and some friends, it had started raining and there was no cab in sight. When a limousine drove up and disgorged its riders, I asked the driver if he'd like to deliver us to the Waldorf Tower. "Delighted," he said. Six of us got in and Roberts remarked, "Only you and Bob Hope would have the nerve to do that." "What did you want to do — get wet?" I asked.

Back at the hotel, we joined Red Motley's parade party on the starlight roof — jam-packed as usual. I sat down with the Bill Knowlands, of Okland, hoping to get a few political pointers. Instead I swapped yarns with their son, Joe, who works on his father's paper. When the Knowlands lived in Washington, D. C., Joe met a lovely girl from Maryland, whose father owned a big farm. He had eight daughters; told them all they had to marry men who understood farming. Joe was crazy about the girl, so went to the farm, spent two days on a tractor (bareheaded), and had a sunstroke. The father carried him into the house, dumped him on a sofa, and said, "Here's your city slicker." Despite striking out as a farmer, Joe married the girl and they have three children. He wanted me to go out on the town with him, but I had other fish to fry.

Air-to-air missile which apparently has a greater range than the deadly U.S. Sidewinder.

Night viewing device with electrical radar control.

Some of these weapons are deemed superior to comparable U.S. arms. In an effort to obtain working specimens, considerable sums are being offered for their capture.

The night viewing device is of particular interest to U.S. authorities, as intelligence has reported Russia is equipping many of its weapons with this highly effective instrument. Latest word is that it is being installed on Soviet tanks and weapon carriers that recently have shown up in Laos, apparently destined for the Viet Cong in South Viet Nam.

Intelligence also has reported that all North Vietnamese Mig fighter planes (15, 17 and 19) are being armed with the new Russian long-range air-to-air missile. This powerful weapon is making the "old" Migs a lethal match for supersonic U.S. fighters.

The 40 or more late-model Mig-21s (comparable to U.S. F-106s) Red China has on Hainan Island in the Gulf of Tonkin, are definitely known to be equipped with these deadly air-to-air missiles.

Congressional authorities have ascertained that despite State and Defense Department assertions to the contrary, SAM anti-aircraft missiles are now in place on launching pads around Hanoi and Haiphong. These are the main military and supply centers of North Viet Nam, and the Soviet obviously is building up powerful defenses for them.

Burma is buying rice from the U.S. and South Viet Nam and reselling it at a considerable profit to North Viet Nam. This has been definitely established by naval intelligence. Burma professes to be neutralist, but has evinced a marked anti-U.S. bias. . . . . President Johnson is pressuring Democratic senators and congressmen to make speeches assailing Russian and Red Chinese attacks against the use of napalm and tear gas in fighting the Viet Cong. At one White House briefing, Johnson told a group of lawmakers, "I can't understand why you gentlemen are not taking the floor of Congress and defending our country against these Communist blasts. You should be telling the American people about Viet Cong and North Vietnamese atrocities and terrorism against women and children and our own personnel. The flying glass that wounded our people in the Saigon embassy was ten times worse than the tear gas used against the Viet Cong." The President also stressed that he plans to use only enough military force against North Viet Nam to bring that government to the conference table.

Three Klansmen Freed on Bond In Race Death

Eugene Thomas, 42, and William Orville Eaton, 41, both of Bessemer, Ala. and Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr., 21, of Fairfield, Ala.

Mrs. Liuzzo, 39, mother of five and the wife of a Teamsters Union official, was shot to death from a passing car as she drove along U.S. 80 near Lowndesboro the night of March 25. The Selma to Montgomery march ended that day.

The 18 members of the grand jury did not mention specific cases investigated. But their written report to Judge T. Werth Thaggard deplored "the actions and statements of the President and others in high government places in connection with" Mrs. Liuzzo's death.

The President announced the arrest of four white men on March 26 and said they were members of the klan.

Thomas, Eaton and Wilkins were indicted by a federal grand jury on civil rights charges. Charges were dismissed against the fourth man, Gary Thomas Rowe, 34, of Birmingham. Later he testified before the grand jury.

Rowe was described by the New York Times as a paid undercover agent for the FBI working inside the klan. Federal officials declined comment.

The cases of the three indicted on murder charges were placed on the docket for the next term of Circuit Court starting May 3. Conviction of first degree murder carries a penalty of death or life imprisonment.

The three surrendered to officers in Birmingham and later talked to newsmen. Present in addition to Murphy were Robert M. Shelton, imperial wizard of the United Klans of America, and Robert Creel who said he was a klan dragon of the Alabama KKK.

It was there that Murphy spoke of a subpoena for the President. He also said it was possible he would subpoena FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover "to tell how much Rowe is being paid."

John G. Genschorck Services Set Monday

John G. Genschorck, 541 William Ave., died Wednesday in a local nursing home after a long illness.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Monday in Swan Funeral Home with the Rev. Dr. John H. Skeen officiating. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

Mr. Genschorck was born June 24, 1894 in Washington, Kan. He moved to Colorado Springs in 1919. An Army veteran of World War I, he belonged to the American Legion Hut and Club. He was a former member of Eagles Lodge, Pikes Peak Aerie 143, and was a member of A.F. and L. Painters Local Union 171.

Mr. Genschorck was married January 18, 1941, in Colorado Springs. His widow Mrs. Ila Genschorck survives him. Other survivors include two sons, Robert Genschorck and Louis Genschorck, both of Colorado Springs; a daughter Mrs. Gay Ann Hardt of Charleston, S.C.; four grandchildren and two greatgrandchildren.

He is also survived by three brothers, Herman Genschorck and Arnold Genschorck, both of Hanover, Kans., and Otto Genschorck of Manhattan, Kans.; four sisters, Mrs. Mary Boeschling of Hanover, Mrs. Rosa Koeneke of Bremen, Kans., Mrs. Hermiena Harz of Greenleaf, Kans., and Mrs. Caroline Hoile of Deshler, Neb., and several nieces and nephews.

Two infant daughters, Mary Carolyn and Beverly, his parents, and two brothers, William and Louie Genschorck, preceded him in death.

Early Bird's orbit period is 23 hours, 57 minutes, which will require corrections about once a month to keep it "stationary." Its maximum and minimum heights have been given as 22,242.6 and 22,237 miles, virtually a circular orbit.

Early Bird, owned by the Communications Satellite Corp., is the first commercial communications satellite. Dr. Joseph V. Charyk, the corporation's president, said last January the Soviet Union had refused to join the system.

Charyk said the Soviets described the project as "too experimental, premature and operated in an undemocratic manner."

Business Zone Change Refused By Planners

power to approve each stage of any development, but commercial zoning would not.

The request was denied by commissioners.

In November commissioners approved C-5 zoning for a 150 by 150-foot southeast corner of the tract. The City Council approved this in December on first reading, but tabled it on second reading. Later the council allowed the request to be withdrawn by the developer.

The Shepard Land Co. presented an overall development for 2,600 acres southeast of South Circle Drive and Airport Road. Commissioners said they would work with the developer for a "flexible" plan for development of the area.

The development plan was in two parts. The first was a detailed plan for 1,016 acres in the tract annexed to the city in December 1964. The second was a generalized development plan for the total 2,600 acres.

The developer said they had given tentative approval of a 19-acre park site as part of the master plan in the area west of Academy Boulevard. Wilbur Hanes, president of the Park Advisory Board, said they were very pleased with the plan. "It was the first time the park board has had an overall plan," he commented.

Hanes said there were some problems in working out park-school use, because the School District 2 board was not familiar with the procedure, like the District 11 board was.

Commissioners also approved final plats, vacations, an amendment to the Rustic Hills Plaza Shopping Center, and denied several other requests.

Lighting and signs were approved for a Texaco service station southeast of Academy Boulevard and Marion Street. There was considerable discussion by commissioners on the menace of large signs.

Car Stolen From Gas Station Thursday

A 1955 model car valued at $50 was stolen Thursday from the rear of a Texaco Station, located at 329 W. Bijou St. The owner of the car said it contained between $400 and $500 worth of mechanics tools.

Marvin I. Bulteme, 2415 Wheeler St., told police he parked the car behind the station at 2:30 p.m. Thursday, and when he checked it at 5:30 p.m. it was gone.

The car is a 1955 Chevrolet, blue bearing license KD 426.

Security Board Solves Water Problem for Group

By DAVE OSBORN
Gazette Telegraph Staff Writer

A group of residents from the Nelson and Bradley Road areas of Security found a possible solution to their water problems Thursday when they brought the matter before the Security Water Board.

Representatives from most of the seven homes involved were present at the District's monthly meeting to present their plight to the Board. Their problem is dry wells and the immediate solution is a temporary hookup with the Security Water District.

The Nelson Road Group, as they are called, agree to petition for annexation into the District, a matter which will take from 30 to 60 days to finalize. In the meantime, the Board agreed to install a temporary hookup to a number of the homes which are completely out of water.

The Board agreed to install its own temporary water line and a temporary meter, but the residents would have to pay for their own taps from the main line. The water will be metered as a whole and the cost will be divided among the patrons. While this line is in use, residents of the seven homes will petition for inclusion into the District.

Cost of the entire permanent six-inch line, plus all taps and meters will be divided among the patrons. When other taps are added to the line (there's a possibility of three or four more), those new residents would be required to pay a pro-rata share of the line's original cost back to the seven original payees. County regulations state that land in that particular area must be sold in lots of more than five acres each — thus the possibility of only three or four additional homes.

The Nelson Road Group also agreed that when and if the permanent line was installed they would also pay for inclusion of one or two fire hydrants onto the District line.

A suggestion that the group submit a letter requesting inclusion to the board at its next meeting was made by a Board member. The Water District heads also suggested that the residents check on the possibility of bank financing, as the permanent line and residence hookups would be costly.

After the letter petitioning for inclusion is presented to the Board, the residents will have a three-week waiting period while the notice is published once a week (for three weeks). Other legal matters before inclusion would put the time before permanent service can be installed up to nearly two months — thus the need for a temporary line.

According to one of the residents in the Nelson Road area, there are one or two homes with dry wells, while some others are nearly dried up. A church in the area will be the hardest to reach with the temporary line, as a permanent line will have to be placed under a roadway to hookup with the main water supply from the district.

A motion was made for the District to provide temporary pipe and a water meter at the moment inclusion proceedings begin. It was carried by a unanimous vote.

1) Accept the auxiliary pump bid submitted by Bembo for $13,878. The low bid for installation of an auxiliary water pump on the Clear Spring Ranch one of the major sources of Security water, was accepted unanimously by Board members.

2) Check into the problem of extrememly low water pressure in the upper Grand Street area. Readings had been taken in the past at a number of the homes and pressure had been as low as 11 pounds at some homes. A District employe was asked to make daily pressure checks at certain effected homes and report back to the Board.

Flood Moves Into Dubuque And Illinois

The Meredosia Drainage District comprises 12,000 acres of valley land. It is protected by Illinois 84, a 40-mile stretch of road on top of a dike.

At Quincy, in midstate, volunteers helped place eight tons of steel web into a sandbag mat to use as an 80-by-80 foot frame for sandbags to shore up a weak dike.

No damage estimate is available for Illinois, where more than 3,000 persons have been forced from their homes.

State police said Missouri's flood damage thus far was negligible.

In Minnesota, where 14 have died in the floods, the river subsided a foot and 1,000 evacuees streamed back to their homes. At flood's peak, some 23,000 Minnesotans were homeless. Damage has been estimated at between $50 and $60 million.

Mrs. Linda T. Kline Died Here Thursday

Mrs. Linda T. Kline, 2713 Andromeda, died Thursday in a local hospital after a short illness. She was 52.

Funeral services will be held at 1 p.m. Monday in the First Congregational Church with the Rev. Joseph W. Carroll officiating. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

Mrs. Kline was born Oct. 26, 1912, in Au Gres, Mich. She attended business college in Bay City, Mich. Before moving to Colorado Springs in 1962, she lived in Argentina where she was past president of the American Women's Club. She previously lived in Michigan and California.

Mrs. Kline was married Aug. 31, 1940, in Plymouth, Ind. Her husband LeRoy G. Kline survives her, along with two sons, Ralph L. Kline of Colorado Springs and Lawrence G. Kline of Boulder.

She is also survived by three sisters, Mrs. Esther Fahrenbruch of Colorado Springs, Mrs. Irene Tulk of Richmond, Mich., and Mrs. Rose Pfeiffer of Midland, Mich.; two brothers, Reinhold Thaut and Otto Thaut, both of Au Gres, and several nieces and nephews.

Judge Grants Dismissal In City Court

Attorney Richard Webster's motion for dismissal of a charge against his client was granted Thursday by Municipal Court Judge Allan Asher because of a technicality concerning the summons and complaint.

Webster's client, Jerry Glen Gray, 18, 2340 E. Highway 24, was slated to stand trial Thursday morning on a charge of driving too fast for road conditions.

After the six-person jury had been selected, Webster motioned for dismissal on grounds that the charge was not applicable. Judge Asher ruled that the wrong charge had been lodged against the youth, and granted the motion.

In regular session Thursday afternoon, the judge ordered a $25 bond be forfeited by Joe Mitchell, 26, 628 E. Cache la Poudre St., who failed to appear for his trial on two charges of disobeying a stop sign.

James Muse, 24, Pueblo, pleaded not guilty to reckless and careless driving charges and his trial was set for May 7.

Judge Asher dismissed a drunk charge against Harry Longdue, 20, Ft. Carson, and fined the soldier $15 on his guilty plea to driving the wrong way on a one-way street.

William Johnson, 42, Rex Hotel, was sentenced to 20 days in jail on his guilty plea to drunkenness. Judge Asher also reinstated a $25 fine levied against the man on a previous suspended fine for drunkenness. Arthur Marez, 37, 618 S. Weber St., was fined $25 on his guilty plea to drunkenness, and Thomas Tafoya, 58, 329 E. Fountain St., was given 20 days in jail on his guilty plea to drunkenness.

address on Asian economic development, Rostow said the only American interest in Indochina is to uphold the 1954 and 1962 Geneva agreements on Viet Nam and Laos. He charged the Communists had broken the agreements.

"None of us has any interest in upsetting the government of North Viet Nam, in invading North Viet Nam or the provocation of war with Communist China," said Rostow, chairman of the State Department's policy planning council.

Rostow arrived Thursday night for a 12-day private visit to Japan. He spoke at a public meeting in the Asahi Shimbun newspaper's building. The meeting was arranged there after officials at Tokyo, Waseda and Kyoto Universities canceled scheduled appearances by him on their campuses because of pressure from left-wing students.

Some 1,700 students from the three universities came to the airport Thursday night to demonstrate again Rostow's arrival, but 600 police kept them well away from him.

Rostow's audience today was friendly.

"We must defend the independence of nations, the dignity of international agreements," he said. "We must also be outraged by the existence of poverty and disease."

Older Americans recall with a pang, he said, that the free world might have stopped Hitler in 1935 at the Rhineland.

"We now have the feeling that the way to stop the third world war is not to let aggression pay."

His earlier prepared address dealt almost entirely with economics. He said rural life in Asia must be modernized to give the basis for continued rapid industrialization.

Owner Reports Car Stolen Here

A 1957 model car was stolen between 10:30 p.m. and 11:45 p.m. Thursday from the Sinclair Service Station, located at 130 E. Cucharras St.

Rafael A. Martinez, 126 E. Navajo St., told police he parked the car in the driveway, removed the keys from the ignition, but apparently neglected to lock the car doors. He said he didn't know if he left the ignition in the on position when he left.

3. That a major recruitment drive begin at once to put 750 new men in the Police Academy to train as patrolmen. This would be in addition to the 540 now undergoing training and the 1,300 who will enter between April 30 and July 30.

4. That 564 civilians be hired to relieve that many patrolmen from stationhouse jobs as clerks, fingerprint technicians and phone operators and put the patrolmen into the street.

5. That 175 new patrol cars, equipped with two-day radios, be purchased and put into service in dangerous and outlying areas. They will concentrate on bus routes and bus stops "to discourage assaults and provide security, especially for women."

"In police work," Wagner said, "there is no such thing as perfect security."

The mere presence of a policeman on every doorstep would not prevent a murder one flight up, he said.

"Nevertheless, it is clear that the streets and public places must be guarded as completely and effectively as possible," Wagner said.

Gasoline Bomb Explodes at Irish Embassy

LONDON (AP) — A gasoline bomb exploded in the entrance to the Irish Embassy just before midnight, smashing windows and setting the doorway woodwork on fire. Staff members sleeping upstairs were awakened but no one was hurt.

A passing cab driver jumped out and fought the flames with his portable fire extinguisher until a fire engine turned up.

Police combed the area around the embassy, which overlooks the Buckingham Palace grounds. They reported the bomb seemed to have been a plastic container taped to a pillar, filled with gasoline and lit by a five-foot rag fuse leading into the roadway.

There was no damage inside the building and no indication who placed the bomb.

This morning members of the Irish Republican Movement paraded on the sidewalk in front of the embassy, campaigning to get Irishmen to wear the "Easter lily" emblem during Easter week in memory of the 1916 Easter uprising in Dublin against British rule.

Local Couple Enjoy Paid Aspen Vacation

Capt. and Mrs. J. F. Murpjy of Colorado Springs have returned from a paid vacation of skiing at Aspen.

The trip was the result of Mrs. Murphy winning a contest sponsored nationally by the Foam-ettes Co. Mrs. Murphy's entry of 25 words or less in the contest was chosen as the best submitted.

AFA Cadets Will Visit Sponsor Unit

Members of the 5th Cadet Squadron at the Air Force Academy will visit their sponsoring unit, the 92nd Strategic Aerospace Wing at Fairchild AFB, Wash., this weekend.

Contact with Academy cadets also enables Air Force personnel and their families to develop an interest in, and appreciation for, the Academy and its mission.

Clothing Reported Missing From Car

Clothing valued at approximately $245 was taken from a car between 7:30 p.m. and 8:45 p.m. Thursday, police reported.

Harold L. Webster, Ent AFB, told police he parked his car at the west curb in the 00 block of North Weber Street at approximately 7:30 p.m. He said the clothing was hanging in the car at this time, and that all the doors except the driver's were locked. When he returned to the car the clothes were gone.

Among the missing articles were four pairs of slacks, an Air Force uniform, two sports jackets, and several shirts.

Man Injured As He Loses Control of Car

A man was injured early this morning when he lost control of his car in the 3200 block of W. Colorado Avenue, the State Patrol reported.

Richard Lee Kaufman, 23, 1515 N. Tejon St. suffered lacerations to his nose and right temple, and a bruised chest. He was taken to Memorial Hospital by E & E Ambulance.

The accident occurred at 1:15 a.m. today when Kaufman, westbound on Colorado Avenue, lost control of his car on a left curve. The car jumped the curb on the right side of the curve, skidded down the shoulder for 85 feet, and struck two wood power poles. The impact knocked the poles down, according to the report.

Motorbike Rider Injured in Mishap

One person was injured Thursday when his motorcycle collided with a car in the 1200 block of West Cheyenne Road, the State Patrol reported.

Bradley Chessman, 15, 1516 Vista Place, suffered cuts and abrasions on his head, arms and legs, and was taken to Ft. Carson by his mother.

The accident occurred when Chessman was eastbound on Cheyenne Road and following a car driven by Elizabeth Syn 44, 17 Holly St. The Syn vehicle was turning left into Cheyenne Jr. High School when Chessman attempted to pass, and ran into the left rear side of the Syn car. Chessman was thrown off his motorcycle and injured, according to the report.

Woman's Purse Taken From Kitchen

A woman's purse and billfold containing $21 were stolen from the kitchen of her home between 8:30 a.m. and 10 a.m. Wednesday, police reported today.

Margaret Adler Strub, 2425 Eagleview Dr., told police the articles were taken while she was working in the front yard of the house. She said the back door leading into the kitchen was open and that anyone who walked through the yard from the alley behind the house could have seen the articles and taken them.

The purse and billfold were found on the school grounds of Wasson High School, and the $21 was missing. Everything else in the purse and billfold was intact, she said.

Man Charged Turns Himself In to Sheriff

Sidney Howard Walker who was charged with embezzlement April 6 turned himself into the sheriff's office Thursday morning and appeared in county court Thursday afternoon before Judge Jack Roeser.

Bond has been set at $2,000.

According to the charge, Walker, 44, 3316 Corbett Lane embezzeld $500 while he was an employe of William Barber and Co. Peterson Field, Feb. 22. The information states the defendant was in charge of a bank account at the First National Bank when he converted the money to his own use.

Deputy Sheriff Vincent Denboske said Walker wrote four unauthorized checks made payable to himself.

Former Figure Skating Champ Dies at Age 38

Mrs. Gay's body was found Thursday in the living room of her apartment. Nearby was a case filled with trophies won during a skating career that began when she was 10.

Police said Mrs. Gay, who may have been dead for as long as a week, apparently died of natural causes. The results of an autopsy have not been announced. A neighbor notified the apartment building superintendent when she noticed Mrs. Gay's car had not been moved for several days.

The skater captured the national ladies junior crown at the age of 12. She won the U.S. women's title in 1943 and retained it through 1948. She retired after losing the championship in 1949.

Mrs. Gay's mother, Gretchen Merrill of New Canaan, Conn., is the only survivor.

Mrs. Jennie Culver Services Saturday

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a.m. Saturday in Swan Funeral Home for Mrs. Jennie Hadley Culver who died Wednesday in a local hospital. She was 90 years old.

Mrs. Culver, a long time piano and primary school teacher in Colorado Springs, formerly lived at 228 E. Yampa St.

The Rev. Dr. LeRoy Arend will officiate at the service. Mrs. Culver will be buried in Evergreen Cemetery.

Mrs. Culver was born June 4, 1874, in Wataga, Ill. She moved here in 1902 and in 1922 was married to Francis Culver who died in 1931. She received her B. A. degree in education from Colorado Teachers College, now Colorado State College, in Greeley, after graduating from high school in Wataga, Ill.

Mrs. Culver taught piano and primary grades from 1916 until her retirement in 1940, in Helen Hunt and Washington schools, and in the now demolished Liller School.

She had been a member of the First Methodist Church since 1918. Mrs. Culver belonged to the Retired Teachers Association of Colorado Springs.

She is survived by a sister Mrs. Edna Prichard of Topeka, Kan., and a nephew Howard Hadley of LaMesa, Calif.

By Ele and Walt Dulaney

Dear Ele and Walt: I'm writing on behalf of our church youth group. We always thought our minister was just perfect until he blew up last Sunday. We were just kidding around and somehow a screen in the chapel fell over. Our minister got all wild and told us to "Get out! Go home! Go anywhere!"

We were all so shocked, he's always preaching about understanding and forgiveness —and then to tell us to get out of our church. Now we're trying to decide what to do. Should we tell our folks, or find a new church, or what? Personally, it makes me sick that a minister would act like that. — James

Dear James: Where have you been all your life? There are no angels on earth. Even the calmest, sweetest, most serene person occasionally has to let off steam! Don't expect your minister to be a tin saint; he's human just like you.

Since your minister seemed "perfect" before, he must have been very kind to all the church youth. Don't you think it's time you did something for him? How about getting the gang together and going over to the church to apologize? You're not too young to show some understanding and forgiveness yourselves. — Ele and Walt

Dear Ele: I've got a manners problem. Here's the situation: I invited a boy to my club banquet. He accepted, and offered to pay for the banquet tickets. I thanked him, but turned his offer down.

Now I learned that several other girls are letting their dates pay the $8 cost for the tickets. Are they doing the right thing, or was I right? — Vannie

Dear Vannie: I think you were 100 per cent right! The boy already has to supply transportation and probably a post-banquet snack or movie, and maybe a corsage, too. It's only fair that the girl absorbs the banquet costs! — Ele

Dear Ele and Walt: I'm not old but still I've got lots of gray hairs. I guess you could say it runs in the family. It never bothered me until a girl I'm dating started trying to get me to color the gray with some stuff she's got.

It seems like a big thing with her, but I don't like the idea. What do you think of all this? — Bert

Dear Bert: If you don't want to touch up your hair, then don't do it. If your gal can't accept you the way you want to be, then look for some lass who will. — Ele and Walt

Dear Walt: Can you tell me why boys make gods out of their cars? That's all they seem to care about. Honestly, it gets me down! — No Car Lover

Dear No: To a boy, a car is a hobby, a key to freedom, a status symbol and an education. A boy feels about his car in the same way a girl feels about clothing and hair styles.

If you took the trouble to learn something about their enthusiasm, you might swing better with the car-lovers. — Walt

Entrees Being Accepted for Gymkhana

Entries are now being accepted for the third annual Gymkhana, Horse Show and Roping Contest sponsored by the Colorado Mounted Rangers.

The show will begin at 9:30 a.m. May 2 at the Reed Ranch Indoor Arena, 6000 Wilson Rd.

Advance entries may be mailed to Donald R. Wilkinson, chairman, at Rt. 1, Box 2?0, Colo. Spgs. The fee for gymkhana and horse show events is $1 if application and money are received by Wednesday. Checks must be made payable to Troop C, Colorado Mounted Rangers.

Post entries are $2, and close at 9 a.m., except for roping which closes at 3 p.m.

AVANT GARDIST'S NEXT ONE

The show, voted the season's best by London theater critics, was written by a 5-year-old author, Joe Orton.

Cavalier Club Slates Annual Breakfast Ride

The Cavalier Club of Ft. Carson has scheduled its annual breakfast ride for 8:30 a.m. Sunday. One group will leave from the Fort Carson stables, and another group, from the Marland Road Stables. The two groups will meet on the trail.

At about 11 a.m. they will eat brunch at the Broadmoor Cafe, where non-riders may join them.

The riders are expected to return to their starting points at about 1:30 p.m.

Participants are requested to make reservations with the club secretary, Mrs. A. C. Herzberger, at 634-2338; or with the ride director, Col. James Young at 635-4628.

Unlike many other local saddle clubs, the Cavaliers' primary activity is trail rides to local scenic and interesting areas. The annual breakfast ride is the only club activity restricted to those 18 and over.

The Club's next planned activity will be participation in the annual Fountain Valley School Gymkhana Day May 16.

For additional information call Belmont S. Evans Jr., club president, at 633-6138.

How to Keep Well

By DR. T. R. VAN DELLEN

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

© 1964: By the Chicago Tribune

SIMPLE HEALTH REMEDIES

Not all diseases are treated with pills, capsules, or an operation. Diet, rest, heat, and exercise are examples that are simple and accessible. A physician friend of mine is recovering from a stroke and finds the best exercises for his paralyzed extremities are those associated with everyday activities.

Lacing his shoes, opening and closing a book, eating with a fork, writing, and working in the garden fill the bill. The involved leg is aided by walking, swinging the limb, and wiggling the toes. Expensive equipment and help from outsiders are not required; he is relearning to do the things that help him most.

Music is medicine for certain people. Some numbers soothe the tense and excited; others stimulate the depressed. Not only does music feed the soul and combat boredom; it can be used to enhance the benefits of exercise. Weakened extremities are strengthened by keeping time; coordination improves. It is not difficult to tap with the hand or fingers while resting the arm on the table or to keep time with the feet while sitting on a chair.

Dancing was a common remedy among primitive peoples. It is difficult to be tense and rhythmic at the same time. Dancing has more to offer than ordinary physical activity. Many with orthopedic problems can waltz or rhumba with ease.

Hydrotherapy is utilized to strengthen weakened muscles and limber stiff joints. Moving the arms and legs under water has many desirable features. Buoyancy overcomes the effects of gravity and makes it easier to raise and lower the limbs. In addition, water offers resistance which is beneficial in the treatment of polio and other orthopedic disorders. The ability to move freely and voluntarily is of psychological value. A warm batch also eases tired and weary muscles.

Walking can be considered a therapeutic exercise for men and women of all ages. It is stimulating and relaxing. The mind can be aired of disturbing thoughts and emotions.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self - addressed envelope accompanies request.

DROOPING LIDS

C. P. writes: A man in our office cannot open his eyes completely. What is the cause of this condition?

REPLY

This is ptosis that is caused by a congenital or an acquired defect of the nerves or muscles in this area. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on ptosis of the eyelids.

VARICOSE VEINS

I. D. writes: What symptoms do varicose veins cause?

REPLY

None, in most instances, except their unsightly appearance. Pain, tenderness, and puffiness develop when the veins become inflamed. Skin ulcers, discoloration, and swelling of the ankles may occur as complications.

WINTER BATHING

E. B. writes: In winter, is it better to take a bath or shower before bedtime or before going out in the cold air?

REPLY

It makes no difference except that bathing removes oils from the skin and chapping occurs if the person goes out into the cold immediately afterward.

ITCHY EYELIDS

J. D. writes: Several times a day my eyelids get very itchy. Is this caused by a fungus infection?

REPLY

The Ute Pass Saddle Club made plans for the summer activities which they sponsor. They are sponsoring a Saddle Club Queen in two different age groups. These queens will reign over the Gymkhanas which will be held this summer at the Pickett Field in Green Mountain Falls. On May 2 the Saddle Club will have it's first Fun Day. The rules for the Queen Contest which will be May 16 are: all contestants must dress in white shirt, red tie, powder-blue pants, and wear a hat. The contestant must be a member of the Ute Pass Saddle Club with dues paid by May 10. The age groups are: 13 to 18 years and 12 years and under. No former queens are eligible. There will be one queen from each group and two aides. The Queen's contest will be held at 1 p.m. May 15 at the Pickett Field and those chosen will reign over the first Gymkhana which will be May 16. They will be judges on horsemanship and personality . The Gymkhana dates are: May 16, June 13. July 18. Aug. 7 and Sept. 5. Bert Woods is the

The Manitou and Cascade schools are joining with other schools in Public School Week, April 18-24. Some special activities have been planned and patrons of the districts are invited to attend the events. Anyone wishing to eat lunch in the school cafeteria may do so by making reservation the previous day. The Cascade elementary school will have open house Wednesday. Mrs. Millie Van Kirk especially invites parents to visit the Science class at 9:30 a.m. Mrs. Mary Belle Thomson would like visitors for the poetry class and Mother's Day Tea at 2:30 p.m. and Mrs. Elva L. Warner will be pleased to have visitors any time during the day. There will also be an art exhibit in the school throughout the week.

Mrs. Garfield Sumner and daughters, Connie and Candy, who have been spending a week's vacation in Pamona, Iowa, with Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Rose and other relatives, returned home Monday.

Bob Mendenhall of the San Frendano Valley and a business associate spent a few days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chew in Cascade.

Many from the Ute Pass area attended the open house of the Park State Bank in Woodland Park Friday and Saturday. We feel justly proud to have a part in the bank as two of our local residents were instrumental in its construction. William Page, Cascade architect designed the structure and the construction of the building was by Kenneth W. Quinn, Green Mountain Falls contractor. Bob Showalter a Green Mountain summer resident is the president.

Mrs. Jonnell Ewart and Mrs. Betty Beals will start their duties as Brownie leaders in May. At that time Mrs. Phyllis Giles, who has been their leader will take the leadership of the Junior Girl Scouts. Mrs. Giles has been taking training the past few weeks in Colorado Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Glines and family of Woods Cross, Utah spent the Easter weekend with Mrs. Gline's mother, Mrs. Gertrude Gil. They returned home Monday.

Sandra Isele, a student at the Trinidad State Junior College, spent the Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Isele.

Among the out-of-town residents who spent the weekend in their cabins here were Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hoeg, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Whalen and family of Kansas, and Mr. and Mrs. Walton Wolfong and family.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Beals, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lofland and family, Mrs. Minnie Lofland, Mrs. Madge Koepfer all enjoyed Easter Sunday picnicking near Penrose.

Several from this area attended the Easter Sunrise Services in the Garden of the Gods. Mr. and Mrs. Frank VanArsdale took Mr. VanArsdale's Sunday School class: Molly Lofland, Sharon Pledger, Jo Reed, Vickie Dzwon; after the services in the Garden they had breakfast at the VanArnsdales before attending Sunday School at the Church in the Wildwood. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jones, Mrs. Stewart Lamb and Mrs. Bert Williams also attended the service.

Guest speaker Easter Sunday at the Church in the Wildwood was Joseph Pickle from Colorado College. His sermon was entitled "Saving Time." The choir gave two special Easter numbers. The Sunday School had a special Easter program, with all the children taking part.

Mrs. Howard Blevin is in the Penrose Hospital for observation and treatment. This Mrs. Blevin's second time in the past few months. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Blevin and family of Dallas, Texas are here for a visit this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fisher are patients in the St. Francis Hospital this week.

Chuck Stull, and a friend Al Wolcot of Massachusetts, students at the Trinidad State Junior College, spent the Easter weekend vacation with Chuck's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stull in Chipita Park.

Bobby Toms, of Alphine Valley motel, fortunately escaped serious injury when an explosion in one of the cabins in which he was working caused a fire. He received quite severe burns on his arms and face and was taken to the St. Francis Hospital for treatment. Latest reports are that he is doing satisfactory.

Mr. and Mrs. Les Gayler entertained at Easter dinner their children: Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gayler and son, Jeff, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bear and Kevin.

Vacation and two ambitious boys raking leaves caused a little excitement in Chipita Park when they decided to burn them and the fire got away, burning about an acre of grass and small trees in the area near Fountain and Columbine Roads. The Goffe house was the only residence in immediate danger but the Chipita-Green Mountain Fire Department soon had the fire under control.

The Green Mountain Fire Department are taking training from the Colorado Springs Fire Department. Their next session will be April 29. Battalion Chief Bailey is their instructor.

Mr. and Mrs. Garland Ruthart and son, Rodney of Canyon, Texas spent the Easter weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Smith returned last week from Boone, N. C. where they had been called because of the death of their three-year-old granddaughter Kara Lynn Graham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray L. Graham. Kara Lynn met death by drowning in a pond near her home.

The sympathy of the community goes out to the Smiths and their family in this tragedy. The Grahams have two sons, Kelly and Kyle.

Reservoir Named For Lyndon Johnson

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Lake Granite Shoals, where President Lyndon B. Johnson likes to go boating, is being renamed for the President.

Directors of the Lower Colorado River Authority decided Thursday that henceforth the 6,300-acre reservoir shall be called Lake Lyndon B. Johnson. It is 50 miles north of his central Texas ranch.

The lake, impounded by a dam 100 feet high, winds for 22 miles through two counties. Johnson has a cabin and other property there.

An estimated 11.9 persons are employed in wholesale or retail trade activities in the United States.

Beagle Seeks Medical Aid All on His Own

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — The staff at the North Shore Veterinary Hospital has tended hundreds of animals and birds, but Poncho, a three-year-old Beagle owned by the Alvin Davis family, was the first to seek medical attention on his own.

Poncho had been brought to the hospital by the family several times for shots and treatment of minor ailments. Last week Poncho had a run-in with a porcupine and lost.

Though the Davises think he first tried to get into the house for attention, Poncho, covered with quills, trotted some two miles to the veterinary and scratched on the hospital door.

He was recognized by the staff and the Davis family was called for permission to give Poncho medical attention.

ANNOUNCES PROGRAM

NEW YORK (UPI) — Chairman Ogden Phipps announced Wednesday that the Jockey Club's program of X-raying the knees of 2-year-olds to determine if the young horses are ready for training is being extended to the west coast at the request of Hollywood Park.

'Human Comedy' Reported at World's Fair

By BERNIE GOULD

NEW YORK (AP) — Judging by the first day's events — from the kid who sneaked in, to the youth who waited two days and two nights to be first, but wasn't — the reopened 1965 World's Fair has all the elements of a human comedy.

"Some day," said the fair president, Robert Moses, "I should like to write about the human comedy as manifested by the fair, but by then I shall be otherwise occupied, tired or gone."

The human comedy was displayed in many ways as the fair began its second year's run through Oct. 17, after six months in mothballs.

There was Moses himself telling one flattering acquaintance, "Please, stop. You wouldn't want to make me blush, would you?"

There were the celebrities:

— Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey being serenaded at luncheon by a trio of roving musicians who played, "Thank Heaven for Little Girls," when it was reported he had a new granddaughter, and "Once in Love with Amy," when they learned Amy would be her name.

— Sarah Churchill, the late Sir Winston's daughter, walking alone amid the memorabilia of her father in the new Winston Churchill Center, and saying, "It's just wonderful, absolutely wonderful — in fact wonderful isn't really an adequate word."

— Arizona's Vonda Kay Van Dyke — Miss America — brushing the sleep from her eyes as she awaited the signal that would start the fair's inaugural march, and explaining: "I just flew in last night from Japan. And so day's night and night's day for me. I hope the people will understand."

And there were the little people, 158,704 of them paying first-day admission, more than triple the number on opening day last year.

By comparison, the 1965 edition entered under fair skies with the temperature in the 60s — and with no civil rights demonstrations that marked last year's rainy day inaugural.

At the main gate of the 646-acre site at Flushing Meadow in Queens, Gary Schuster, 17, of Orangeburg, N.Y., had camped out since Monday morning to be the first one in. But ticket-takers opened dozens of other turnstiles at the gate before getting to his. The turnstile at which he had waited was broken. He was led to another one.

NO LIGHT

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has escalated his White House "turn off the Lights" campaign.

Returning to his office Thursday, he reached through the door of the ladies' powder room of the White House press office, snapped off the light and went on his way.

Theta Sigma Phi to Aid In Summer Visitor Program

Theta Sigma Phi, a professional sorority for women in journalism, is undertaking the compilation of a comprehensive list of all men and women's club in the Pikes Peak Region for the local Institute of International Education Short -Term visitor Program group. Under the championship of Mrs. William Boddington the Short-Term Visitor Program handles international visitors coming to the region under the auspices of the Department of State Leader - Specialist Program. During the course of some 14 years this program has served over 600 visitors to the region from some 60 countries.

In compiling a list of clubs for this program, the Theta Sigma Phi sorority is asking the cooperation of local groups in identifying their special interests and hobbies so that complete coverage of regional resource may be made available to those persons planning itineraries for the international visitors. Mrs. Robert Turnbaugh and Mrs. Loy Holman are in charge of the work. Members of the committee are Mrs. Wilber Fulker, Mrs. Harold Stumbough, Nell Womack Evans.

Clubs are asked to call either Mrs. Gordon Kearne, 634-7033, or Mrs. Gladys Carlson, 633-6528, with specific information on their club activities and interests, both professional and amateur, public and private.

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Are You Kidding?

DEAR ABBY: Cookie and I have been married for six years. We have no children. This is the second time around for both of us. I work nights and Cookie works a split shift. Something went wrong with the equipment at the plant and they had to shut down and send everyone home until they could get a replacement for the big machine. When I got home no one was there, but the bedroom smelled like someone had been smoking cigars in there. Cookie doesn't smoke and I smoke cigarettes. When I went into the bathroom, I saw my razor on the sink. It was still wet. The wife doesn't shave. Should I ask some questions? —SUSPICIOUS

DEAR SUSPICIOUS: If you ask a foolish question, you'll get a foolish answer. It looks like somebody had a pretty close shave.

DEAR ABBY: When "J" in Portland complained because her boss opened all the mail (including bills and personal letters) addressed to his employees in care of his office, you said the boss had "nose trouble." Furthermore, you told her if she valued her privacy she should clear out and find another job. You're wrong, Abby. The boss has a right to assume that all the mail that comes to his office is business mail. So why should he have to look to see to whom the letters are addressed? Could it be that the employees pay their bills and answer personal letters during office hours? If not, why don't they have their bills and personal mail sent to their homes? —CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: That's what about 400 sharp-eyed readers what to know. You're right. I goofed.

DEAR ABBY: The letter signed "TRAPPED" could have been written by me. My mistake was in keeping the peace at any price. The more you give a jealous, possessive, dictatorial tyrant, the more he wants. I lived in a house just like the dump "TRAPPED" wrote about. Way out in the sticks, 20 miles from civilization. I chopped wood, pumped water, worked a garden and made almost every stitch of clothing my children and I wore. I scrubbed, cooked, baked and canned to save his money. Everything I wanted was either too expensive, too impractical, or too something else. If you let your husband move you out into the wilderness, with no modern conveniences, away from people, you'll grow to hate him, the house and yourself. You'll soon look like a hag. And one day he'll look at you and say, "Whatever happened to the pretty girl I married?" And then he'll run off with someone who had nothing to do but take care of herself. I know. It happened to me. —BITTER IN ILLINOIS

CONFIDENTIAL TO "Bullet Bob From Martinsburg, W. Va.": You and your mathematical mind! You are right. Mrs. Louise Johnson, who was hailed as the youngest great-grandmother, must surrender that title to her own mother!

Super Sleuths Put Bite on Tough Bugs

FRESNO, Calif. (UPI) — Why do some mosquitos refuse to curl up and die when doused with lethal doses of insecticides?

Researchers have reached the conclusion that certain strains of mosquitos are able to shrug off the effects of insecticides by disposing of an oxygen by-product produced by the insecticide.

The research was conducted by Donald Mengle, Larry Lewallen, Patricia Gillies and William Wilder of the California State Department of Public Health at the annual meeting of the Entomogloical Society of America.

They concluded the parathion in itself probably does not kill the insect.

"Actually, when a mosquito ingests some of the poison, its body mechanism manufactures a substance called paraoxon," Mengle said. "The paraoxon kills the mosquito."

The scientist said paraoxon, an oxygen by-product, is even more toxic than parthion. But some mosquitos are able to dispose of it before its lethal effects begin.

The researchers studied strains of Aedes mosquitos called Nigromaculis. They found two which were resistant to the phosphate insecticides.

After a time, the larvae were ground up and the parathion and paraoxon contents were analyzed. The sleuths found paraoxon in the ones which died but none in those which lived.

They now are searching for ways to block the body metabolism of the resistant strains and make them susceptible to the insecticides.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 ♣	Double	1 ♡	1 ♠
Pass	3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Queen of ♠

Both sides blundered in today's hand, and the final triumph by South — the declarer at four spades—was the result that nature had intended on the deal.

South's free bid of one spade may appear to be a drastic measure, however, when partner makes a take-out double, the responding hand should exert an effort to enter the proceedings with any legitimate values in order to relieve the doubler of any further pressure.

West opened the queen of spades and declarer won the trick in his hand with the ace in order to lead a heart. West put up the ace and continued with the jack of spades. The king was played from dummy, and East showed out—revealing that his partner had a trump trick.

It was South's plan to strip out the red suits and then put West on lead with the high spade. Declarer reasoned that, if his opponent could be made to open up the club suit, he might be able to restrict his loss to a single trick.

In executing his plan, South refrained from cashing North's high diamonds first. Instead he played the king of hearts and then ruffed dummy's remaining heart. West promptly overruffed and got out with a diamond, putting North back on lead. Observe that, had declarer cashed dummy's diamonds before playing the third heart, West would have been deprived of a safe exit card when he goes in—and he must surrender a vital trick whether he returns a diamond or a club.

Once South had let his opponent off the hook, he proceeded rather belatedly to cash North's high diamonds, discarding one club from his hand. A small spade was overtaken by declarer's eight and the jack of clubs was led. West covered with the queen and North's king won the trick. On the next club, East played the ten and West was obliged to let his partner hold the lead for, if he overtook with the ace, it would establish declarer's nine. East had nothing but red cards remaining and, on the forced return, South discarded the losing club from his hand as he ruffed in the dummy.

When the jack of clubs was led from the closed hand, West should have put up the ace and then continued with a small culb for, unless East has the ten, the defense might just as well give up. If West had held the nine of clubs, then his play of the queen would be correct for, once the king is dislodged, his ace-nine provide assurance of wining two tricks on the return.

Memorial Fountain Dedicated by YW Board

A gift of a drinking fountain was given to the YWCA in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Asa T. Jones and dedicated at 11 a.m. Wednesday by the YWCA board members and members of the memorial committee. This committee was headed by Mrs. Lester Griswold and Miss Julia Hamp.

Other sponsors of the project were: Miss Ivy Carter, Mr. Roy A. Davis, Mr. Lester Griswold, Miss Helen Jackson Mrs. A. H. Jordan, Mrs. Erma Long, Mr. C. C. Morris, Miss Clara Perley, Mrs. C. T. Ryder.

This gift was planned as an expression of appreciation for the devoted service of Mrs. Jones to the Young Women's Christian Association. She was president of the board from 1922 to 1937. Colorado Springs citizens remember with gratitude the efforts and contributions of Mr. Jones to many worthwhile community efforts.

Taking part in the dedication service were: Mrs. Lester Griswold, Mrs. M. B. Mize, Mrs. C. T. Ryder, Mr. C. C. Morris.

Sunday Dinner

Oxtails with Tomatoes and Peas
French Bread Tossed Salad
Pineapple Upsidedown Cake

Oxtails With Tomatoes and Peas

- 3½ to 4 pounds oxtails, cut up
- 1 teaspoon salt mixed with ¼ teaspoon pepper and 3 teaspoons paprika
- 3 medium onions chopped
- 1 clove garlic, crushed
- 1 can (1 pound) whole tomatoes undrained
- 1 can (1 pound) green peas drained

Rub oxtails with mixture of seasonings. In a heavy saucepan, brown the oxtails, adding a little fat if necessary. Add the onions and garlic. Cover tightly; simmer, turning several times, until very tender—about 3 hours; add a very little water from time to time if necessary. With a slotted spoon, remove oxtails to a container; cover and refrigerate. Refrigerate gravy separately. After chilling, usually overnight, skim off fat from gravy; reheat with oxtails, tomatoes and peas, adding salt and pepper to taste. Makes 6 servings.

LUTHERAN CONVENTION

DETROIT (UPI) — The 46th general convention of the 2.6 million - member Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod will be held in Cobo Hall here June 16 to 26.

Delegates will be asked to approve a constitution for the proposed Lutheran Council in the United States of America. Women from rural sections of Spain are helping to supply hair for wigs. Their hair has not been subjected to colorings, permanent wavings and other treatments that break down good hair, reports the maker of Mona Lisa wigs.

At a recent California men's wear convention, Greer Garson voted or more showing of the masculine calf, reports Ron Postal of the National Council of Men's Fashions. She suggested that men return to the tight-legged silks and satins of the Cavalier era or something as interesting as the Scotman's kilt. "Give us girls a thrill and let us see your well-turned calf or knee," she said.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Listen, gals:

I was in a woman's home recently and saw a darling, old rocking chair she had just reupholstered. And do you know how she did it?

She took all of her husband's old neckties (the wide kind that they don't wear any more) and cut them up into little patches about two-by-three inches and stitched them together on her sewing machine as if she was making a quilt. She used a small stitch and top stitched each seam twice.

One good thing about this, she says, is that when one part becomes soiled, she just rips it off and re-patches that one part.

The chair was absolutely beautiful.

She also had one Sleepy Hollow rocker covered with a patchwork of wool materials. It was adorable, too.

Those who have a lot of old ties, or some beautiful heavy woolen materials, could try this. I know you'll be pleased. It's so adorable, different and homey. —Heloise

Dear Heloise:

A small washboard inserted in a pillow case (behind the pillow) makes a wonderful backrest for those in bed.

It will not slip or slide.

Letter of Laughter

Dear Heloise:

Regarding the ladies who spatter their dresses with grease when they cook . . . I wonder if they ever tried wearing an apron? —M. E. B.

Dear Heloise:

I think I've found a feasible way to carry a delicious salad in my lunch . . . all that is needed is a good, airtight, plastic container for the salad and an aspirin bottle!

Yes, an aspirin bottle is just the right size for carrying salad dressing.

One tip on preparing the salad is to leave out the tomatoes because they tend to make the salad soggy by lunchtime.

When the French, or vinegar and oil dressing, from the aspirin bottle is poured on top of the salad, it's really a tangy treat and such a relief from the heaviness of sandwiches.

Also, try it for those dieting husbands . . . they'll like it, too. —Mrs. Ernie Olson

Dear Heloise:

As she listened to her teacher, she absent-mindedly rubbed a pencil eraser on the marks left by an adhesive bandage. The marks came off!

It also works on the gummy adhesive which labels sometimes leave on new pans, glasses, etc. —Phyl H.

Dear Heloise:

After struggling to pick up a needle on the floor (with short fingernails), and just about ready to give up, the idea popped into my head to tear off a small piece of tape and try to pick up the needle with it. Presto . . . there's the needle! —Faye O.

Dear Heloise:

When you see a bug or spider that is too high to reach, attach the long handle to the vacuum cleaner, turn on the vacuum and draw the insect into the tube. —Mrs. Carl Kanel

Dear Heloise:

We use those patio candle holders that are about 12 inches high, have a narrow opening at the top and completely encase the candle.

When the candles burn down, I use a paper drinking straw to relight them.

I just light the end of the straw with a match, turn the bottle to a 45 degree angle and insert the straw to the wick of the candle. This method has saved many burned fingers. —Reid Stetson

Dear Heloise:

Here's a tip for those who take home movies and who also sew:

When you transfer your movies, save those small empty spools to roll your extra bias tape, ribbon and elastic on. This way, you can see much you have and what color. Marilyn

Dear Heloise:

In re-covering my dining room chair seats, I find a piece of clear plastic put under the material (over the old covering) keeps spots from coming up "through" the new material!

My covers have lasted twice as long with this clear plastic under them . . . saves time and money replacing covers. —Stella Erickson

Lemons For Beauty

To keep your skin clear and fair and your hair brilliant you need the natural cleansing and bleaching tonic of lemons. Ask your druggist for a bottle of lemon jelvyn, the latest lemon-type skin freshener that beautiful women are now using. Lemon jelvyn bleaches yellowness of the hands and neck, beautifies the complexion as it melts out plugged pores and closes them to a beautifully fine texture. Lemon jelvyn is excellent for a quick cleanse or to quell a greasy nose. A little lemon jelvyn brushed on the hair after your shampoo will give it the glamour of sparkling diamonds. This is a luxury skin freshener and cleanser.

Company Buffet

Curried Chicken Rice
Chutney Salad Bowl
New Date Pudding Beverage

New Date Pudding

- 1¼ cups unsifted regular flour
- ¼ teaspoon baking powder
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 container (10 ounces) diced dextrose-coated dates
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 cup boiling water
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 large eggs
- 1 cup coarsely broken walnuts

Grease the bottom of a baking pan (9 by 9 by 1¾ inches); line bottom with wax paper; grease paper. On wax paper, stir together the flour, baking powder and salt. Turn dates into a mixing bowl; sprinkle them with the baking soda; add boiling water. Cream butter and sugar; beat in eggs thoroughly, one at a time. Stir in flour mixture, then date mixture and walnuts. Turn into prepared pan. Bake in a slow (300 degrees) oven 1 hour — pudding should shrink from sides of pan. Turn out; remove paper; turn right side up. Serve warm with whipped cream.

The Mature Parent

Why Make Excuses?

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: I am having a very hard time with my 14-year-old girl. Though she continues to take her piano lessons, she no longer practices. Whenever I try to talk about this to her, I get a long string of excuses: she can't practice because her homework is too heavy or somebody has had the television on. The subject has grown so tense that she goes wild if I even mention practicing.

ANSWER: Maybe she's proud—too proud to admit that she hasn't got what it takes to become a serious musician. And she doesn't want to expose herself to you as a disappointing child. Certainly these excuses she gives you for her failure to practice make it sound so.

We, too, turn to excuses when we are disappointed by our own behavior. When we break a promise, lose our tempers or accuse unjustly, we too try to whitewash this disappointing behavior with excuses that will make it acceptable to our pride. If anyone continues to criticize it, we will go "wild" in our frantic effort to avoid knowing that we can be a disappointing person.

For myself, I've worked out this problem of excuse-making children. Knowing that excuse-making in myself is always my pride's insistence that I mustn't disappoint anyone, I blow up when I'm given excuses by the young. I yell, "Who do you think you are to give me excuses for leaving your coat in the living room? Why do you have to concoct alibis for your carelessness? Why can't you just be what you are—careless—instead of trying to make me believe you're somebody else?"

It usually works. Instead of getting "wild," the young first look sheepish and then begin to laugh with relief at my permission to be what they are.

I don't know whether this kind of response to your daughter's excuses would produce for you because I don't know how sure you are that your own excuses derive from pride in faultless, never-disappointing behavior.

It would be nice if you were sure. Because it's awfully hard to live with excuse-making people. You can't get at them. It gets lonely for everybody.

Household Hints

United Press International

One way to experiment tearlessly with a new hair style is to try the idea out in shampoo. Work up a really elegant amount of suds the next time you wash your hair, then shape and swirl the suds into approximations of new hair styles. You can get a general idea of how the experimental style will go with your face.

For quick welsh rabbit, combine four cups of diced, sharp American cheese, ¾ cup milk, ½ teaspoon dry mustard and ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce in the top of a double boiler. Melt over hot, not boiling water, salt and papper to taste and serve over toast points.

To make a small amount of meat go a long way, combine with a thick cream sauce and cooked noodles or rice in a casserole-type dish.

Cleaning around faucets and other hard to reach parts of your sink is easy if you use an old tooth brush and scouring powder.

An old hair brush is ideal for taking fuzzy balls off blankets. Using downward strokes, brush the blanket thoroughly either while it is wet or after it dries.

Seamstresses should know that wash and wear fabrics may pull out of line if torn, instead of cut.

Expect a new toaster to last 15 years, a new upright vacuum cleaner for 18 years.

Fill ice cream or milk cartons with sand, then store them in a car trunk for ready aid in getting out of difficult spot on an icy or snow-packed road.

Flood of Books Pouring Into Appalachia

By FRANK S. JOSEPH

CHICAGO, (AP) — Because Jennelle Moorhead felt that time doesn't wait for a child, a tide of books is pouring into Louisville, Ky.

The books are destined for the one- and two-room schoolhouses of Appalachia, "where the wind whistles through the cracks in the walls" and there are few libraries, Mrs. Moorhead said.

Mrs. Moorhead, president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, said in an interview at PTA headquarters in Chicago that she hopes the total of books will reach a million by June 15.

The books include children's classics and reference works "that will really open the eyes of youngsters to the outside world," she said.

The national PTA has enlisted the cooperation of its 47,000 local units, the federal government, private enterprise and a group of 1,200 Kentucky college students who call themselves the Appalachian Volunteers.

Mrs. Moorhead, of Eugene, Ore., said Books for Appalachia had become a reality when "I went to Washington Dec. 12 to talk to R. Sargent Shriver — chief of the Office of Economic Opportunity — about the role the PTA might play in helping disadvantaged children."

"He talked to me about the need for books in Appalachia," said Mrs. Moorhead, 61.

"While the aid to Appalachia bill will aid the economy, time doesn't wait for a child. If they don't have books and supplies for today, then the days are gone very rapidly," she said.

In February the National PTA mailed the local PTAs book lists, bright colored shipping labels and blueprints for the special pine-and-fiberboard shipping crates that hold 100 books and later serve as bookcases.

Local PTAs begged, borrowed and bought books. PTA fathers hammered the boxes together. The Railway Express Agency, Inc., offered a special rate — 1.95 each to ship the 50-pound crates to Louisville from anywhere in the United States.

But how were the books to be transported the approximately 200 miles from Louisville to Barbourville, Ky., the operation's focal point?

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad said it would ship the books free. Mrs. Moorhead said the railroad had told her 10 boxcars would be needed.

The Applachian Volunteers take over in Barbourville. Kentucky's 1,200 rural one-teacher schools are the project's first point of attack — and then, "We'll extend it further," Mrs. Moorhead said.

The PTA's efforts have not gone unappreciated. When the first shipments arrived, said Mrs. Moorhead, a University of Oregon health education professor, "the children were overjoyed — and the teachers were, too."

200 to Hear Panelists At School Arts Festival

More than 200 students and uests are expected to hear a iscussion of television in modn society of the fifty Associaion of Independent Schools Arts Festival at the Fountain Valley School at 10:30 a.m. Saturday n the school auditorium.

Panelists this year are Richrd Salant, director, Columbia Broadcasting System Inc., Lew Tilley, Colorado Springs artist and film director and Tom Mayer, Santa Fe author.

The discussion will place emphasis on the influence of TV today, its effect on the artist and the possibility that TV can be considered an art medium in its own right.

Salant is a graduate of Exeter Academy and Harvard University (1935) where he received highest honors as an undergraduate and later in the law school. He has since been an attorney for the National Labor Relations Board, acting director of the U. S. Attorney General's Committee on Administrative Procedure, a Lt. Commander in the United States Naval Reserve, and a partner in the firm of Rosenman Goldmark Colin and Kaye in New York City. He has been an official with CBS since 1952.

Mayer's first collection of short stories, "Bubble Gum and Kipling," was published by Viking Press last September. A native of Santa Fe, Mayer is a graduate of Andover Academy and one of Harvard's most successful "dropouts." While at Harvard he wrote a short story "Just Fine," selected by Story magazine as the best college work of short fiction. Other stories have appeared in national magazines including Harper's and the New Yorker.

Tilley has just returned to Colorado Springs after two two years working in Northern Nigeria with the British and American governments as an audiovisual advisor, journalist, photographer, and graphice designer. He is a graduate of the University of Georgia and the Colorado Springs Fine Arts Center where he was later an art instructor from 1945-1951. From 1951-1958 Tilley was a free-lance painter and writer a part-time instructor at Colorado College and the Fountain Valley School, and from 1958-1962 a writer-producer director for the Alexander Film Co.

The panel discussion will be preceded by a student written and produced play, "My Grandmother Was Hit by an Omnibus," by Ralph Gibson, editor of the school Literary magazine and senior director of the Arts Festival.

Members of the Association of Independent Schools are the Fountain Valley School, the Rocky Mountain School of Carbondale, Colo., Colorado Academy, Graland, Randall Kent and Denver Country Day School, all of Denver and the Whiteman School of Steamboat Springs, Colo. The Colorado Springs School for Girls will be participating this year, though not yet a member of the ACIS.

Home Owner Injured in House Fire

Fire Companies 1, 2 and 8, and the aerial were out for about two hours Thursday on a fire at the home of W. R. Collins, 1632 N. Nevada Ave.

Firemen said the fire apparently started from sparks originating from a smoking couch on the back porch. The fire spread upstairs to the attic, causing extensive damage to the porch ceiling and attic area. Smoke and water damage was also reported.

The heat also damaged paint on the house next door at 1628 N. Nevada Ave., owned by Richard R. Edwards.

Collins suffered first and second degree burns on both hands in his attempts to fight the fire before firemen arrived at 2:50 p.m. The upstairs of the house is occupied by Peter Stahl and Thomas House.

Deputy Chief Argus Cummings was in charge of the operation. The last company and the aerial were in quarters at 5:02 p.m.

Bank Petitions Okayed By Commissioners

Two petitions by D. H. Wilson and the First National Bank and a third by Dr. Robert McCollom were approved by El Paso County Commissioners Thursday.

Wilson and the bank trust department petitioned the board for permission to change two A-2 Farming Districts to C-2 Suburban Business Districts. Areas are located near the intersection of Wilson Road and the Garden of the Gods Road. Together they comprised 18.14 acres.

Dr. McCollom requested permission to change an A-5 Rural Farm District to an R Residential District. Area contains 75.93 acres and is located two miles east of the north entrance to the Air Force Academy.

Dr. Foote To Lecture At Revival

Beginning Friday night and continuing through Tuesday, Dr. William A. Foote, pastor of the Beverly Hills Baptist Church, Memphis, Tenn. will be the speaker at revival services in First Baptist Church, Manitou Springs. Johnny P. Cox, his Minister of Music will conduct the song services. The pastor, Paul B. Cawthon will continue the services through June 2.

The public is invited.

Dr. Foote is a graduate of Union University, Jackson Tenn., and Southern Baptist Seminary, Louisville Ky. He and his wife Evelyn have two boys, Tom and Jim. Brother Cox is a graduate of Memphis State University, Memphis, Tennessee, and attended New Orleans Theological Seminary, New Orleans, La. He and his wife have a son, Randy.

Indecent Liberties Taken With Girl

Indecent liberties were taken Thursday with a nine-year-old girl by a man in the pedestrian underpass at 800 S. Nevada Ave., police reported.

The girl said she was on her way home from school at approximately 11:50 a.m., and as she was going into the underpass a man was ahead of her. She said when she got to the middle of the underpass the man was waiting for her, and as she approached he put his arm around her and told her she was cute.

He then said "I want to see something," and used his other hand to pull up her dress. The girl at this time screamed and fled out the west end of the underpass, and the man went out the east end, according to the report.

The girl described the man as a white male, middle - aged, approximately five feet 11 inches tall, and wearing white or light colored pants and shirt. The girl said the man's clothing had paint on them, and she thought he was a painter.

Florence Reservoir to Be Sealed to Prevent Leaks

The sealing of Florence's No. 3 reservoir with soda ash in an effort to prevent serious seepage and loss of precious domestic water will begin this week, it was announced by the City Council.

City Manager Frank Carochi outlined the major work projects facing the city crews and noted that work on the reservoir was slated to get started here Tuesday morning. A total of 23 tons of soda ash was hauled in this week from Green River, Wyo., by a local trucker. The soda ash was donated to the city by a Woming firm.

Reservoir No. 3 will be first plowed and then seeded with soda ash and then packed and rolled by city equipment and borrowed farm machinery. Water will then be slowly admitted to the reservoir and flumes in the creek bed below the reservoir will be installed to check for seepage. Cost of the project has now been estimated at about $1,000.

Carochi told the council that all pipe and material for the new east Florence water improvement project has arrived and work will get under way on the installation of two plugs, 1,950 feet of six-inch line from Florence Avenue to Gumaer and 420 feet of line from Maine to Second Street on Gumaer Avenue.

The city manager noted, however, that landscaping at Pioneer Park will be completed before the water line is installed.

Councilmen also hard a report that a new roof is needed for the sexton's house at Union Highland cemetery and outside painting is needed. It was agreed to get this project launched.

In routine action, the city council:

Adopted a resolution to quiet title to about 82 tax sale certificates dating back as far as 1903, to clear the city's books of the old debts;

Agreed to have the council's swimming pool committee meet with a community swimming pool committee at an early date to hear the plans now under consideration by the community group.

Authorized the city manager to place an advertisement in the Colorado Municipal League magazine for the sale of the city's present 1946 fire truck;

Agreed to make a trip to the Florence Mountain Park on Newlin Creek Sunday to inspect the proposed park site and invited members of the public interested in the park to also make the trip.

Bids on the demolition of the E. Soriento property at Santa Fe and Third Street will be opened May 3 at 7:30 p.m. at the city council chambers. To date two sealed bids have been recieved for this project.

Research Director Blames Tobacco Industry for Cover-Up of True Facts

The multi-billion dollar tobacco industry was blamed again Thursday for "covering up" the true facts about smoking.

Dr. Roger S. Mitchell, director of the Webb-Waring Institute for Medical Research, Denver, told delegates of the Colorado Public Health Association that the "hue and cry" over proposals to restrict cigarette advertising originates directly from those involved with tabacco production.

Restrictions would affect the production of 500,000 tabacco farms and $7 billion paid by the industry to government, he said, not to mention advertising, which cost manufacturers about $250 million last year.

But Dr. Mitchell could offer no solutions to the problem.

"I honestly do not know. Being an American I'm against force," he said. "Should we try to frighten people?"

Dr. Mitchell said a "scare" campaign might work for older persons who are getting concerned about their health, but probably would have little success on youthful smokers. He said primarily youth smoke because it is considered a sign of growing up.

"It's largely a desire to grow up. Smoking gives the appearance of being grown up. It is a mild evil in a sense," Dr. Mitchell said. "What youth wouldn't want a sample of the evil fruit?"

Pertinent about smoking, he said, is the number of harmful effects it could bring. Lung cancer represents only about one-quarter of the hazards involved Dr. Mitchell said.

"Nicotine is lethal if given all at once. A pack of cigarettes smoked all at once could kill," he said.

Tar could have damaging affects upon tissue and could lead to a change in cells "in the direction of cancer," Dr. Mitchell remarked.

However, he emphasized that smoking in itself is not a shown cause of heart attacks, peptic ulcers, cancer or other physiological problems, but smoking is harmful and might lead to a condition that would result in such effects.

Reviewing cigarette advertisements, Dr. Mitchell said the filter on cigarettes was introduced because manufacturers recognized a health-cigarette relationship.

"It was an effort of the tobacco industry to hide the true facts," he said.

The biggest rejection of filters by smokers, Dr. Mitchell said, is because the pack-a-day man can't "get that taste" or "that nicotine lift" if the cigarette is properly filtered.

Air-softening cigarette papers have some advantages, but again the absence of taste is present, he said. The hotter the tobacco burns, the more harmful it is. But the "cooler" the smoke the less taste there is because air-softening paper cuts down the drag, Dr. Mitchell said.

"If you want to get the same effect, tear a hole in the cigarette paper," he said.

A point is that heavy smokers develop a resistance to air, that is, circulation of air through the body is hampered which could increase the chances of infection, Dr. Mitchell said.

He said studies are being conducted to determine what effects the burning of mint and menthol in cigarettes has, but they will not be available for some time.

Some industrial production, which Dr. Mitchell said has been considered harmful to the lungs, are ores, nickel refining, cromates, asbestos, iron arsenic and coal tar.

Despite publicity over the dangers of smoking, Dr. Mitchell said cigarette smoking increased from 1900-1960. Pipe and cigar smoking decreased, as did tobacco chewing during the period, he said.

Dr. Mitchell urged that cigarette packages be appropriately labeled to show nicotine and tar contents in cigarettes and the industry should be persuaded to use more restraint in advertising.

Probably the most important factor is for adults to set good examples for youth, he said.

"Maybe one of the best ways is to educate our elders to educate our young," Dr. Mitchell concluded.

But if smoking is a necessity, attempt to follow rules, he said, including:

— Smoke in moderation.
— Avoid inhaling.
— Drag slowly.
— Switch to a pipe or cigar.
— Smoke less than one-half of a cigarette.
— Use effective filters.
— Stop smoking if you have a chronic cough.

Independent Study Program at CC Featured in Wall Street Journal

George Melloan writes that the experiment by CC, Lake Forest College, Ill. and Allegheny College, Pa., "could have interesting and significant results."

Each college this fall will select 25 talented freshmen and allow them to pursue their entire undergraduate educations through independent study, free of the usual requirements for attending classes, maintaining grades or taking prescribed courses.

"In theory, although probably not in practice," Melloan writes, "a highly talented individual among the 75 could earn a bachelor's degree without ever showing up for a single class."

Melloan observes that "By making increased provision for independent study, more and more colleges and universities are giving undergraduates greater freedom from classroom schedules, note-taking, tests and quizzes, frequent grading, book outlining and all the other trappings that have been a traditional part of earning a degree in most U. S. institutions.

"As a practical matter it (the program) is enabling colleges to handle more students without a corresponding increase in the size of facilities and faculties. Some educators argue that it has great educational value because it enables students of varying intellectual abilities and with varying interests to develop their potential at their own pace.

Dr Roy Cleere Honored at Meeting Here

Dr Roy L. Cleere, executive director of the Colorado Department of Public Health, Denver, was honored with a distinguished service award at a luncheon concluding the 28th annual meeting of the Colorado Public Health Association in the Broadmoor Hotel Thursday.

Dr. Cleere, who celebrated 30 years with the State Public Health Department in March, was cited for his contributions to the growth of public health in Colorado.

The award was presented by Dr. Ruth B. Howard, outgoing president of the association. Dr. Cleere first was appointed to the Board of Health on March 2, 1935 and was elected secretary.

"During the 30 years since Gov. Johnson made his new appointment to the Board of Health Colorado Public Health has grown up in the shadow of a big man, a shadow lengthening through the years as his stature increased.

"For his foreseeing wisdom, his vision in planning and his determination and courage in making the visions reality, the Colorado Public Health Association is proud and glad to offer its Distinguished Service Award to Dr. Roy L. Cleere," the past association president said.

Eleanor Maguire Named to Head State Association

Eleanor Maguire, director, Division of Public Health Nursing for the City - County Health Department, Colorado Springs, has been named president of the Colorado Public Health Association.

She was elected to office during the 28th annual meeting of the health association in the Broadmoor Hotel. Outgoing president is Dr. Ruth B. Howard, director of the Crippled Children Section, Colorado Department of Public Health.

President elect was Albert J. Klimaszewski, health educator with the State Department of Public Health, Denver.

Other new officers are J. Douglas McCluskie, vice president, director of Environmental Health Sciences, Department of Health and Hospitals, Denver; Mrs. Geraldine Weedin, secretary, Colorado Multiple Sclerosis Association, Denver, and Robert B. Hickman, treasurer, United States Public Health, Denver.

Directors are Dr. Donald G. Evans, Pueblo; Mrs. Lucille Beck, Denver; Dr. Dorice Van Camp, Pueblo; Mrs. Virginia Ferguson, Denver; Mrs. Neva Eames, Grand Junction; Dr. Samuel Johnson, Denver, and Dr. Arthur L. Warner, Durango.

Cadet Choir Appears at World's Fair

The Air Force Academy Cadet Choir, under the direction of J. Roger Boyd, director of Chapel Music, will appear at the New York World's Fair today and Saturday.

At the invitation of the Department of Commerce, approximately 61 members of the choir will perform in the United States Pavilion.

T. C. Callies, Class of 1965, is cadet - in - charge of the Choir.

Springs Council Seeks Navy League Meeting

The Colorado Springs Council of the Navy League wants to host the National Navy League Convention here in 1968. A 20 member contingent of Navy Leaguers and Naval Forces personnel are now in Washington, D.C. bidding for this affair.

This group headed by League President Edward Lohman, Joe Reich St., City Councilman Carl Decker and Navy Captain Hoyt D. Mann, Commander Naval Forces, CONAD, will make their presentation offer this week during the National Convention.

According to Joe Reich there are three cities "pitching" for this yearly affair — which include Honolulu, Seattle, and Mexico City. "Because of the successful Regional Convention held here in November, 1963, Colorado Springs has a strong point in its favor," said Reich.

Helping to "cinch" this convention are League members, Siegfried Faller Jr., sales and convention manager of the Broadmoor Hotel; Clay Banta, chamber manager; and Will Jurgens, convention manager.

The four - Day National Convention, which began on April 20, will focus its attention on the Navy's role in anti-submarine warfare. It is being held at the Washington Hilton Hotel.

The Navy League is known as "The Civilian Arm of the Navy." It is an organization of civilians dedicated to the support of all elements of a strong national defense. Its objective is to develop and maintain public interest in the Navy and Marine Corps and its missions.

Palmer High Play Slated Here Tonight

"A Far Country," Palmer High School's last production of the year, will be presented again at 8 p.m. in the Palmer auditorum. This play is a drama of young Sigmund Freud and the beginnings of psychoanalysis with a young patient who displays hysterical pain.

Doug Jones — seen previously in Palmer productions of The Gazebo, Twelfth Night, The Man Who Came to Dinner and The Music Man — plays Sigmund Freud.

Peggy Mola — who has played in The Crucible, Twelfth Night, The Man Who Came to Dinner, and The Music Man — will appear as the patient Elizabeth Von Ritter.

The prologue an epilogue is double cast with Norm Peterson, Judy Lans, and Sherman Gardner appearing tonight. Rick Roten, Lynn Vandenburg, and Scott Matteson were seen in these roles last night.

Also in the cast are Chirs McCauley, Lisa Gray, Gerry Pierce, Ann Monyhan, Gingi Henry, Marilyn Mallory, and Mike Street.

Wrestler With Coins Arrested by Police

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — Police Chief Clyde Adair was watching a local wrestling match on television and saw a possible crime committed.

The show featured Mario Galento who had won his match when a spectator climbed into the ring. The newcomer was Billy Boy Hines, also a wrestler.

The chief said Galento swung at Hines, hitting him in the face. With the blow, pennies scattered over the ring. Adair ordered an investigation.

Galento was arrested on a disorderly conduct charge for having a roll of pennies in his fist when he hit Hines. He was released on $77 bond pending a trial in Recorder's Court today.

Mennen Williams Stays on in Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — G. Mennen Williams is staying on as assistant secretary of state for African affairs.

The onetime Michigan governor revealed his reappointment Thursday after a unannlunced meeting with President Johnson. He said the President has expressed "continued confidence in what we are doing."

Williams said he expected to remain in his post indefinitely.

There have been numerous reports that Williams, appointed by President John F. Kennedy, was on his way out of the Johnson administration.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, M.D., Ph.D.

Rev. Gums is trying to bring happy marriage within the grasp of every young couple. But this requires specific advice and factual knowledge of the basic sex differences with which God endowed men versus women. "God helps those who help themselves," so send for the sex booklet below.

CASE V-471: Rev. R. H. Gums is Executive Secretary of the Church Federation of Greater Chicago.

He conducts a splendid educational television program in Chicago with an inspiring religious flavor.

For example, he has broken the marriage ceremony into appropriate phrases, which then serve as the themes for a 30-minute TV time slot.

Recently I was invited to be the guest for the topic "Forsaking All Others."

Marital fidelity was thus the topic.

Prof. Jack Herring of the McCormick Theological Seminary, plus his charming brunette wife, Beth, made up the threesome for our discussion.

And we brought out the salient fact that marriage is aspiritual contract that is supposed to endure for life.

But God expects us to be smart instead of stupid followers of his precepts, so the Almighty wants us to carry part of the load.

"God helps those who help themselves," thus runs an old adage that is very appropriate.

First, you should be sure to pick matrimonial merchandise, for you always pay top price.

Women are usually noted for their keen bargain hunting skill in other realms, so they should make sure they get quality A-1 matrimonial merchandise.

Beware of selecting shoddy, used or secondhand marriage merchandise!

Next, you must play the game of marriage according to the precise rules.

Marriage is a team -work game and not a place for "solo" or grandstand players, trying to monopolize the spotlight all the time.

"Act the way you'd like to be," runs an axiom of psychology, "and soon you'll be the way you act!"

If bride and groom will thus be reasonably considerate and forgiving, and if they will cultivate mutual hobbies or interests so they can be jolly good friends, even when they aren't wildly erotic, they will have a strong chance of avoiding divorce.

Besides, if they are both active together in the same church, they have about 50 times as great a likelihood of happy marriage!

Wives, you must vividly realize that men were created by God Almighty to have much greater gastric and erotic appetites than you do.

You recognize this quickly and urge your new husband to help himself to seconds and even thirds at the dinner table.

But you often grow indifferent if not evasive about his wishes for extra erotic calories.

Since most divorces start in the bedroom, usually due to a wife's sins of omission (indifference, evasion, sleepiness, etc.) then you must affect interest many times when you don't physically crave physical affection.

* * *

For a satisfied husband at home, will seldom crave outside calories, either gastric or erotic!

Jacob had four wives, so you modern women must be a one-wife harem!

Send for my booklet "Sex Differences Between Men and Women," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing along stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Hunting and Fishing

By DICK MOORE

Lake Setchfield, a Game, Fish and Parks Department Reservoir, 25 miles south of Las Animas, has gone dry according to a phone message today from Wildlife Conservation Officer, Al Heins, at Las Animas.

Attempts to salvage the few remaining fish proved futile. State official, Ernest Strieter, advised against risking the loss or damage of equipment in negotiating the mud flats to save the few reminaing fish. Water levels have gone down steadily during the recent dry years.

Depending upon rainfall from the surrounding watershed for its water supply, Lake Setchfield experiences drastic changes in water level. Occasionally heavy rains fill the lake bed to its 2130 acre limit and fishing is good for some time after.

With another run of water into Lake Setchfield and the restocking of white bass, crappie, walleye pike, perch and catfish, Setchfield will come alive again.

Colorado Springs — Comments originating from Game, Fish and Parks Department throughout Southeastern Colorado, indicate that for the most part fishing conditions improve as the waters warm.

However, many favorite streams and lakes in the higher country west of here remain locked by ice and snow. Road conditions are practically impossible, especially the side roads which are snowy, icy or deeply rutted mud.

The state - administered recreation use fee will be charged for use of 25 designated recreation areas under state management. This state windshield-mounted sticker has a calendar year fee of $5 per vehicle, and does not limit the number of people each stickered vehicle may contain. The Federal Recreation - Conservation Fund sticker costs $7 annually, and involves use of nearly 400 U.S. Forest Service Campgrounds, national parks and monuments.

Only recreationists have to pay the state use fee, with no costs or restrictions intended for tourists or sight - seers merely driving through the areas involved. Only those persons actually using the recreation facilities — picnic tables, rest rooms, trash barrels, boat ramps and designated parking lots — are expected to help defray the maintenance and development costs.

Boat licenses required on motorboats over 10 horsepower remain unaffected by the state main unaffected by the state use fee, but Game, Fish and Parks Commission action has eliminated all boat use fees on state - managed waters.

The state recreation use stickers will be available at most hunting and fishing license agencies shortly after the first of May. The stickers will be required on June 1. Until then, boaters, fishermen and other recreationists may enjoy the 25 state areas free of charge.

Information on the Federal Recreation - Conservation Fund sticker may be obtained at any office of the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, the Bureau of Land Management, the Bureau of Reclamation, the U.S. Forest Service and the Corps of Engineers.

The federal sticker does not apply during hunting season, but will be required on cars-June 1 through Labor Day each year.

Game, Fish and Parks Department Director Harry R. Woodward stated he hopes the use fee system will be given a fair chance to work before lots of changes are requested. "This system was designed to keep administration and enforcement cost at a bare minimum," Woodward said. He continued, "This will insure that practically every penny of the use fee will be used for development and improvement of facilities, rather than for administrative paper work."

Other states feel that use fees significantly encourage area users to have a greater personal interest in facilities and maintenance. They have found that maintenance costs have been reduced radically after use fees were initiated. It is apparently more meaningful to the individual when he knows that his use fee dollars are going into capital development or land acquisition.

The recent repeal of the $50 bounty on the mountain lion was followed closely by another legislative act aimed at making the lion a game animal.

Although not effective until July 1 of this year, the latest legislation has set up the framework to make the mountain lion a game animal much like the present status of the bear. Lion licenses will cost the non-resident $10, with a cost of $5 to residents.

The Game, Fish and Parks Commission is expected to set seasons and bag limits as soon as all of the recommendations from fieldmen have been submitted at the spring big game meetings around the state.

Until July 1, the lion remains classified as a predator, and may be taken on a valid small game license as before. The main difference right now is that no more bounties will be paid for any lions.

Singer Pearl Bailey Has Heart Attack

NEW YORK (AP) — Singer Pearl Bailey, 47, collapsed in her hotel suite Thursday night and was taken to Doctors Hospital with a mild heart disturbance. She has had two previous heart attacks.

Louis Bellson, her husband, a drummer in the band which accompanies Miss Bailey, was with her when she reported feeling chest pains. A doctor ordered her hospitalized, over her protests, Bellson said.

USO Sponsors Royal Gorge Trip Sunday

Service personnel going on the USO Club - sponsored trip to the Royal Gorge Sunday will have as their guide a man who knows the famous site as well as he knows his right hand.

He is Henry E. Coupland who has lived in Colorado for more than half a century. Coupland is an active member of the El Paso County Pioneer Association, the local Historical Society, and the State Historical Society.

"You're going to one of the famous battle grounds which is little known," Coupland said, when he learned the USO was planning the tour.

Coupland, a well known railfan, was no doubt referring to the no holds barred battle in the last century when Gen. Palmer fought it out with the Santa Fe Railroad to build his Denver and Rio Grande Railroad through the gorge.

Service personnel interested in making the trip should sign up as soon as possible. The bus will leave the club at 1 p.m. returning around 6 p.m. Free passes have been secured through the Royal Gorge officials and the special services office.

USO is supported through the United Fund.

Lengthy Debate May Be Avoided On Vote Issue

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders hope to forestall lengthy debate on the voting rights bill by putting the first of its many amendments to a vote early next week.

The prospective ice breaker is a rider by Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., to impose heavy criminal penalties for vote-buying and other election frauds.

Both Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said they hope Williams' amendment can be brought to a vote Monday or Tuesday.

But counter to their hopes for quick action on the bill is Sen. Allen J. Ellender's prediction that the debate may run for eight weeks. The Louisiana Democrat spoke to newsmen Thursday after a meeting of Southern senators. He is their acting leader in the absence of Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., who is ill.

Debate is in its second day today. Ellender said that unless the Senate eliminates an amendment to bar the poll tax in state and local elections he doesn't think leaders could get the necessary two-thirds vote to block a filibuster.

And Dirksen, in a separate interview, agreed. He reiterated that he considers the poll tax rider unconstitutional and that he thinks it jeopardizes the bill's chances.

In Thursday's opening debate, the floor manager for the measure, Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said he has no doubt that the amendment is constitutional.

The major provisions of the bill would permit federal examiners to register voters in five Deep South states and in parts of six other states and would suspend use of literacy or other voter qualification tests.

The junior class annual play will be presented at Woodland Park High School auditorium the 23rd and 24th of April. Four students from Lake George, Beverly Toms, Myrna Robson, Linda Lovejoy and Barbara Warling will participate in the play "The Red House Mystery."

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Moreland and son were Easter Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Brewer and family at Buena Vista.

Little Rock Adopts 'Freedom of Choice'

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The Little Rock School Board has abandoned the state pupil assignment law, adopting a new assignment policy based on the so-called "freedom of choice" plan.

The new plan would let students attend schools of their choice — without regard to race — where possible, the board said Thursday.

Herschel Friday, attorney for the board, said some provisions of the state pupil assignment law probably would be struck down under the 1964 Civil Rights Act if challenged in court.

Under the state pupil assignment law, a student is assigned to a school by the board. Provision is made for the student to challenge the board's action in court.

'LUV' TO TOUR A WHOLE SEASON

NEW YORK (AP) — "Luv," Broadway's only nonmusical SRO hit of the season, sends a company on national tour beginning Aug. 30.

Producer Claire Nichtern hasn't yet settled on the casting for the three-role comedy, but has already booked engagements that will keep the group travelling through May 9, 1966, when it settles down in Chicago for an indefinite engagement.

Queen's Party Turns Into Vaudeville

By COLIN FROST

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth's birthday party turned into a hilarious vaudeville act Wednesday night before a widely cheering audience in a London theater.

The queen obviously loved every minute of it.

Wednesday was the queen's 39th birthday, and Prince Philip took her and a small party to see Irish comedian Spike Milligan in a play based on the Russian novel "Oblomov."

Among the royal guests were actor Peter Sellers and his Swedish wife, Britt Ekland. Milligan and Sellers are old buddies and soon turned the play into a double act, with Milligan gagging from the stage and Sellers from the royalty row in the stalls.

"That's cost you your knighthood," he told the blushing latecomers.

Then he cried: "Is there a Sellers in the house?"

Sellers quickly swung into the old vaudeville routine with "I don't know. Why does Prince Philip wear red, white and blue braces?"

The classic reply to that ancient chestnut is "to keep his pants up" but whatever Milligan said was lost in the audience's laughter.

In the final scene Milligan, playing a Russian landowner who had taken to his bed rather than face the world, was joined between the sheets by his pretty housekeeper. The star waved a warning finger toward 16-year-old Prince Charles and shouted: "Philip, get that lad out of here."

Milligan also threw in an imitation of Queen Victoria, kicked a slipper into the audience, narrowly missing Prince Philip's head, and appeared for his final curtain call with a sword with which he invited the queen to knight him.

Her majesty declined, and instead Milligan and others in the cast were invited back to the birthday supper at Princess Margaret's home in Kensington Palace.

France Will Ignore SEATO Maneuvers

PARIS (AP) — France will not participate in naval maneuvers of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization next month, responsible French sources reported today.

SEATO headquarters in Bangkok announced two days ago that French forces would take part in the exercise, dubbed Sea Horse, to be held May 1-24 in the South China Sea. The headquarters said Pakistan was the only member of the eight-nation alliance which would not participate.

The French decision to boycott the war games followed by three days an announcement that France would not send its foreign minister to the annual meeing of SEATO foreign minister in London May 35 Instead the French are sending an observer.

French aloofness from the Southeast Asia pact is a demonstration of President Charles de Gaulle's disapproval of U.S. policy in Viet Nam, which is backed by the other members of the alliance. They are Britain, Australia, New Zealand, Thailand, Pakistan and the Philippines.

Speculation mounted that De Gaulle intends to withdraw France entirely from SEATO, but there still was no official indication of that.

"I've just got to find time to look for another job. For weeks I've been living off my husband's salary!"

H. L. Hunt Writes

No good intentions ever turned a crime into a blessing, or a mistake into a wise choice.

A man's intentions, if we can really learn what they are, may help in sizing up his character. They can never be of any help in judging the good or evil of his deeds.

Let's take the most obvious case first. Madmen have been known in the history of crime to have killed people in the perfectly sincere belief that those people were better off dead. Their intentions were actually good.

They were still guilty of murder. Their good intentions were of no value whatever to their victims.

Another case is almost as clear, at least when we look at it from afar. The evidence from history indicates that many men who ultimately became dictators and tyrants began their careers sincerely motivated by benevolence. They wanted to "force men to be good" or "force men to be free."

Their good intentions were no protection to the people they enslaved.

But when we move away from great and obvious evils to lesser or confusing wrongs, and simple mistakes, we often accept good intentions as an excuse for any misdeed. Worse than that, we allow the mistakes and the wrongs to continue on the grounds that those who make them are so sincere and have such good intentions that they ought to have a chance to try again.

If we are doing wrong or making mistakes we ought to stop, regardless of anybody's good intentions, and try doing what is right HLH.

Customs Men Proven Wrong About Screen

The package contained a Japanese inlaid screen valued at $150. At least that was what the wine expert thought it was worth when he had it shipped from Japan to San Francisco in 1963.

Stung by what he regarded as injustice, the educator hired an attorney and began action to get it back.

After a long battle, during which he enlisted the aid of California Republican Sens. Thomas Kuchel and George Murphy, Amerine finally was able to prove that the screen was Japanese and not Red Chinese in origin.

George Brokaw, local customs inspector, invited Dr. Amerine and the press in for the "ceremony" of returning the screen Thursday.

Wall Street Report

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market continued to push ahead on balance early Friday afternoon, moving some market averages further into record high ground.

Trading was active but most gains were small.

The market seemed to be taking in stride the renewed threat of a steel strike May 1 and the possibility of increased U.S. military involvement in Viet Nam.

The international oils still were moving ahead generally even though Texaco lost a fraction as profits were taken on its latest strong upsurge.

Steels were unchanged to narrowly mixed, with investors inclined to believe that the administration would find some means to eliminate the strike threat to the steel industry.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .5 at 339.5 with industrials up .9, rails up .3 and utilities up .1. The average was still a shade below its recent closing high.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.70 to 917.76, moving beyond its historic closing high reached Thursday. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index also was rising above a closing peak made Thursday.

Chrysler was active and little changed, Ford held steady and General Motors was up a fraction.

Texas Gulf Sulphur held a gain exceeding a point, recovering from recent selling triggered by the Securities and Exchange Commission suit against the company.

A jump of more than 3 points by Du Pont bolstered the averages, as did a gain of nearly a point by Jersey Standard and a full point by Eastman Kodak.

Prices turned mixed on the American Stock Exchange. Trading was active.

Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP)—Trade was light on a thin demand and nearly all contracts eased into weakness most of the time today in the grain futures market.

Old crop soybeans led the declines with losses ranging to about three cents a bushel. However, they showed a slight rallying tendency from those levels in the early afternoon.

May wheat continued its easier trend and all rye deliveries were at or near their season lows most of the day.

Eastimated carlot receipts were wheat none, corn 220, oats 5, rye none, barley 5 and soybeans 12.

Phil Long Ford Will Sell New Camper Line

Phil Long, president of Phil Long Ford in Motor City, last week signed papers for the Colorado Springs Highway Cruiser franchise. The exclusive franchised line of campers will be displayed on the lot south of the Ford outlet today and Saturday.

Highway Cruiser's eight models, all of which are presently in the Phil Long inventory, will be part of a large recreation display. The two-day showing will also feature a number of boats, some outdoor equipment and other recreational units.

All eight camper models by Highway Cruiser are designed to fit Ford pick-up truck models. The campers are permanently mounted on the truck bed, to allow the motorist the conveniences of home wherever he travels.

Attendance at the recreation display is enhanced by Phil Long Ford's offer of six prizes, with free registration open to all. Among the prizes are a rubber sail boat and various camping items.

1965 Highway Cruisers on display will include the Standard Sports Cab, Deluxe Sports Cab, "Sports Bac" Walk-in and the Tiny Star.

Designed for the sportsman who uses his camper for work and play, the Standard Sports Cab provides maximum space for all types of loads, along with protection from sun and rain. It comes equipped with comfortable six-footer bunks and mattresses.

The Deluxe Sports Cab has all the versatile advantages of the Standard plus roomy built-in cabinets, quality hardwood paneling, picture windows, a power exhaust ventilator and special exterior finish and trim. Highway Cruiser, Inc., officials call the Deluxe "the finest sleeper available at a sensible price." They say "it's sensibly priced and quality - built for years and years of outdoor fun."

"Sports Bac" features the "cab-over" design and is said to have all the comforts of a compact home. Its design includes equipment and space for cooking, dining, and sleeping, with the latter accommodating four persons or more.

Exterior is enameled aluminum and the frame is of rugged design. Fiberglass is used throughout to provide effective insulation. It is also designed for perfect roadability when mounted on a Ford pickup.

The low-silhouetted Tiny Star can easily double as a covered van for commercial, use, if necessary. Its makers say it is "ideal for hunting and fishing excursions, or camping trips." They term it "a perfect example of our work and play idea."

Highway Cruisers on display at Long's Motor City outlet, at 1212 Fountain Creek Blvd., are available with almost any number of accessories and most are equipped with a large amount of standard features. Models shown in the recreation display will all be mounted on Ford pick-ups and equipped with much of the standard and optional equipment available.

CIG Requests To Service Kansas Plant

Colorado Interstate Gas Company has applied to the Federal Power Commission for authority to deliver an average of 71,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas daily from the Greenwood-Sparks fields of southwestern Kansas to the Alamo Chemical Company for processing at the latter's proposed helium extraction plant.

The Alamo Chemical Company, wholly owned subsidiary of Phillips Petroleum Company, will extract the helium and some of the liquefiable hydrocarbons from the gas and then return the balance of the gas to Colorado Lnterstate for use in the latter's transmission system.

The proposed helium extraction plant will be built adjacent to CIG's Morton compressor station in southwestern Kansas near the Colorado border.

Estimated cost of the facilities to deliver the gas and necessary alterations to Colorado Interstate's field gathering system is approximately $204,000.

The Alamo Chemical Company states it will complete its plant by late fall of 1966.

Colorado Interstate also delivers helium - bearing natural gas for processing to two U.S. governemtnt plants. One is located at Keyes, Okla., where the Department of Interior began helium processing in 1959. Another Department of Interior plant using natural gas from CIG is located at Excel, Tex., where operations started in 1943.

Continental Set To Expand Credit Card Program

Continental Airlines is planning expansion of its credit card program to connecting carriers, Chris F. Whelan, senior vice president - marketing, announced today.

On May 9 Continental for the first time will begin accepting American Express, Diners' Club, Hilton Carte Blanche and BankAmericards for connecting travel over the routes of other airlines. At present, the company accepts these cards only for travel on its own flights.

On June 3, Travelers also may begin using Continental's own credit card to purchase connecting airline tickets. At the same time, Whelan said, the company will reduce its monthly handling charge on unpaid balances from the present one per cent to three quarters of one per cent. There is no handling charge on bills paid on receipt of statement.

The changes in the airline's credit program are subject to approval of the Civil Aeronautics Board.

City Directory Is Now Off the Press

The city directory, like street and traffic signs, house numbers and maps, is one of the necessities of modern city life. The truth of this statement is shown by the interest which local citizens exhibited when they learned that the new Colorado Springs city directory is off the press and ready for use. It has just been distributed to subscribers by R. L. Polk & Company.

The new edition is a substantial handy volume, listing 62,442 pesonal and business names in Colorado Springs, including Audubon Heights, Broadmoor, Cragmor, East Manitou Springs, Ivywild, Manitou curity Village, Skyway Park, Stratmoor Hills, Stratton Meadows and Stratton Park, with 18 continued as the minimum listing age. The count considers the combined names of man and wife as only one name, the publishers explained.

The directory shows occupation or business connection, marital status and name of wife, whether head of house or roomer, names and titles of proprietors and officers of corporations, and other items of information.

Special regular features of the new directory include the designations of tenant-owned and rented homes; and telephone number listings by streets and houses.

The variety of business hereabouts is revealed by the many groups catalogued in the yellow pages of the new directory, ranging alphabetically downward from abstracters to yarns-retail. New and old classifications go "hand in hand" here. For Example: day nurseries and locksmiths; aircraft charter and rental service and auctioneers; drive-in banks and brick manufacturers.

As with previous editions, there will be a distribution of the new directory to replace the last directory in free-reference directory libraries in other cities, the publishers announced. This distribution is a a part of the service maintained by the members of the Association of North American Directory Publishers in connection with the publication of their directories, they said, and will help to keep outsiders acquainted with this community and its people and products.

A branch of this out-of-town directory service is located at the offices of the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce.

First and last on the new roster are A-1 auto wreckers to S. J. Zyskowski. Between these two, one may find such picturesque family names as Ashe, Baker, Blunt, Clamp, Dove, England, Fogg, Golden Good, Hale, Iles, Ireland, Horn Keys, Lilcy, Marsh, Needles, Oldfield, Page, Quick, Ream, See, Tack, Urban, Valentine, Wiseman, Young, Zink.

Local Realtors To Test Drive New Fords

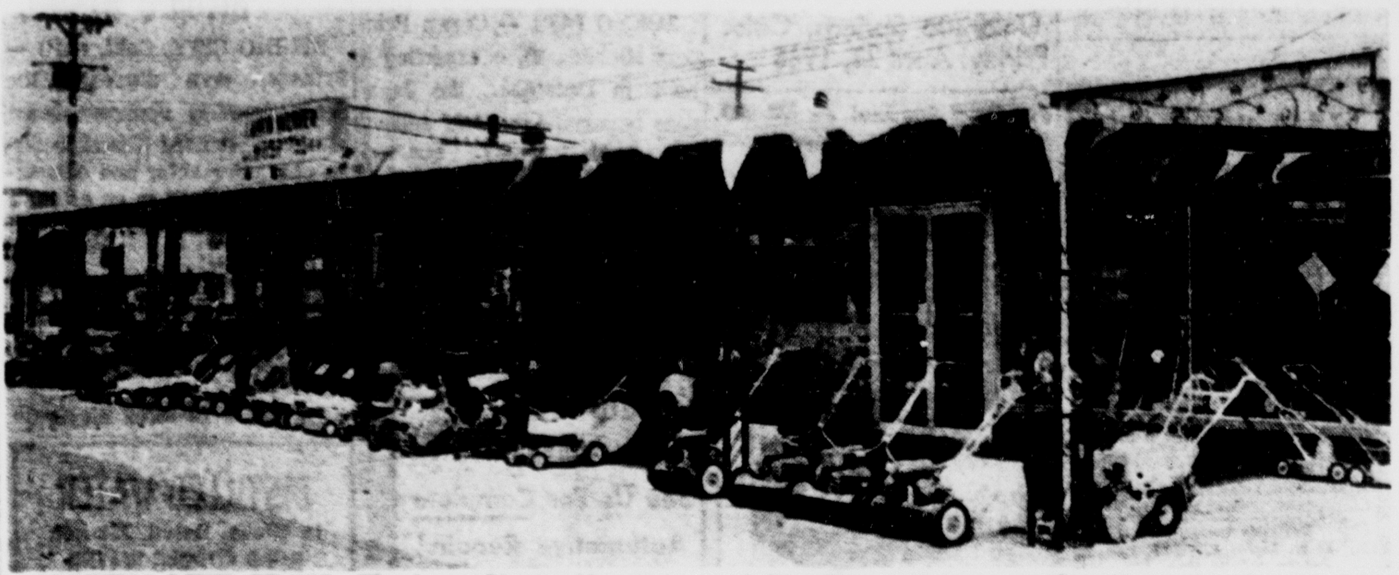
Realtors of Colorado Springs will receive 15 brand new Fords Monday to test drive for a full week.

The presentation of the cars will be made to the members of the Colorado Springs Board of Realtors, Inc., at the luncheon meeting at the Palmer House.

Prior to the regular program representatives of the Ford Motor Company and Phil Long Ford will conduct a drawing to determine the 15 "test" drivers.

Thurlo Newell, division manager for Ford in Denver, along with Joe Ballew, customer relations manager for Phil Long Ford, will make the delivery of the cars and keys. The two-door and four - door Galaxies and LTD's will be ready for the Realtors to pick - up immediately after the meeting.

The program for the Realtor luncheon is a special one conducted by the professional standards committee. A nine - member panel will explain and discuss the By - laws of the Realtors and the Code of Ethics of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.



GROWING LIKE GRASS—The Lawn Mower Hospital, at 2303 N. Weber St., is holding its grand opening, in new enlarged facilities, today and Saturday. A number of free door prizes are on the agenda for the two-day opening. The Lawn Mower Hospital more than tripled its original size with the recent enlargement program.

Lawn Mower Hospital Holds Grand Opening

The Lawn Mower Hospital, at 2303 N. Weber St., is holding a grand opening in its new, enlarged building today and Saturday. A number of door prizes will be given away during the two - day affair.

The addition to Lawn Mower Hospital's original 1,200-square - foot building was completed in late December, but the grand opening was delayed to coincide with the advent of warm weather in the retion.

The construction job, which took a major portion of the year, was handled by Damian P. Depatie and J. O. Betts construction companies. Depatie designed the 2,400 square-foot addition.

Construction of the enlarged facility was of pre - cast concrete and pumice block with a brick exterior. The building is a one - level type, with a full basement for storage. Besides tripling its size, the lawn mower establishment also enlarged its parking area at the front of the outlet.

Inventories at the Lawn Mower Hospital were tripled with the building expansion. The outlet now carries larger lines of lawn mowesr, engines, accessories and garden supplies, along with mower parts and used machines.

An inventory of from 50 to 60 new mowers, along with about 25 used mowers is always kept at the Weber Street facility.

All of the mowers are displayed outside the building, when weather permits, giving co-owners Russ and Cliff Harding additional space incide for their garden center, parts department and modern service facility.

The mower shop first opened 11 years ago in another city location. The outlet moved to its present location a year later and for 10 years operated the growing business in the cramped 1,200 square foot original quarters.

The old building ,whose styling is matched by the new one, now serves as the company's repair facility. Up - to - date machines and skilled personnel keep up with the mammoth task of repairing and sharpening mowers for customers.

Jacobsen is the primary lawn mower line in stock running the gamut from 16 - inch blades on rotary or reel type, to 30-inch blades on garden tractors. Commercial tractors are handled by the Lawn Mower Hospital ,but only when ordered in advance of purchase.

Mower engines in stock include Kohler, Briggs - Stratton and Clinton, available in models from two to 10½ horsepower. The firm also stocks a line of Parker Sweepers, used to pick - up cut grass.

Ten persons are employed at the Mower Center during tthe peak summer months. Winter time brings a lull in the mower business, but the Lawn Mower Hospital then stocks a line of snow - blowers and keeps its parts and service departments open for year - round convenience.

Introduction of customers to the 4,500 square - foot faciltiy will feature a number of door prizes, with free registration. A number of lawn mowers, both gasoline -driven and electric are among the items to be given away over the weekend

Northwestern's State Holdings Top $40 Million

The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co.'s investments in Colorado reached more than $40 million, according to figures released April 20, 1965. This is 556,000 or 13.08 per cent above the 1963 amount in this state.

Colorado investments include $30.4 million in real estate and mortgages on residential, business, institutional and farm properties; and $9.6 million in stocks and bonds of Colorado industries and governmental units.

Over 25,000 Colorado residents hold NML policies with insurance protection of more than $197.2 million. The company paid benefits of $7,089,060 to Colorado families in 1964, including $1,060,582 in death benefits.

Chamber Men To Attend Washington Meet

President John Sawyer, Vice President Larry Ochs, past President Norman Coleman and Manager Clay Banta will attend the 53rd annual meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce in Washington, D.C.

The meeting gets underway Sunday.

Along with other community leaders from throughout the eight mountain states, they will serve as hosts at the annual Mountain States Association Congressional Dinner Monday evening.

All Senators and Representatives from the mountain states, together with a number of key government officials, will be guests at the reception and banquet.

In addition, the Colorado Springs representatives will call on Colorado Congressmen and Senators to discuss various problems of current interest and will also make a number of calls at the Pentagon.

The group will return to Colorado Springs on Tuesday.

The Junior Class will present their class play, "Red House Mystery" on Friday and Saturday in the High School Auditorium.

Roy Dean Seaney is doing his practice teaching under Fenton Vest at the Woodland Park School. His supervisor is Dr. Boyd Baldauf of Southern Colorado State College in Pueblo.

Spending the weekend in Longmont were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wolfe and son.

Weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. Monty Schupp was Jim Smaka of Greeley.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davis were Mr. and Mrs. Gary Davis and children of Canon City, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shull, new residents of our community, Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Davis and children.

The Star Fellowship met Tuesday for an all day meeting with a covered dish lunch at noon. Thirteen members met in the fellowship hall of the Church in the Wildwoods to sew for Sands House.

Appointed were Thomas Stephenson, Teller County Surveyor; board members John Turpen and Thomas Bonifield; Pete Brown, Chamber of Commerce president; Bill Cornie and L. H. McAdams, Woodland building inspectors.

The first project of the commission will be arranging for an aerial survey of Woodland. The commission will hold a special meeting soon to determine how much area should be included in the survey.

The board read three estimates for the survey, based on 1,560 acres, all running about $3,900. The Chamber of Commerce, it was announced, has agreed to pay $1,000 of the cost. The remainder will be split between the town and the sanitation district.

The Commission will also make a land use survey and an economic analysis. Zoning is also included in forming a master plan for the town. A survey is now being made of the city limits, to be completed about June 1.

Dr. Roy Matthews was appointed to the council to fill the vacancy created when Junior Fleischer resigned at the last meeting.

Town Attorney Paul Evans suggested the town pass a bail-bond ordinance as many persons cited for traffic offenses were not appearing in court. If the ordinance were passed, those ticketed would have to post bond before they could leave town. If they failed to appear, the bond would be forfeited. This would cover costs of arresting these persons or cover amount of their fine.

The council voted to consider such an ordinance at their next meeting.

Evans also informed them that a bond had to be posted for anyone in a town acting as a marshal. The board set $1,000, the minimum under the state statutes, and voted to post the bonds for Marshal Hal Cron and Patrolman Fred White.

A driving rodeo will be held at the Rodeo Grounds on May 7 and 8 with eight schools participating.

The schools are Falcon, Monument, Fairplay, Cripple Creek, Woodland Park, Cotipaxi, Westcliffe and Florence.

The safety clubs of Woodland Park and Cripple Creek schools are sponsoring the event.

State Patrolman Larry J. Claxton is director of the Cripple Creek Safety Club and State Patrolman Marion E. Leonard is director of the Woodland Park Safety Club.

A traveling trophy will be donated by the Free Press. There will also be first, second and third place trophies. Sleeve patches will be furnished by merchants of Woodland.

Entertainment will be provided by the Colorado School for the Deaf and Blind.

Eighteen schools have been invited to attend the two - day events.

Guest speakers will include Col. Gilbert R. Carrel of Denver, chief of the Colorado State Patrol; Capt. Richard S. DeSalvo of Pueblo, commander of the Pueblo District of the Colorado State Patrol; Col. James Kingwell Jr., provost marshal of the 5th Infantry Division Mech.), Ft. Carson, and Jerry Mills, a Woodland Park attorney.

A ten cent admission charge will be donated to the Deaf and Blind School Band.

Two boys and two girls will represent each school in the competition. They must have no traffic convictions within a year and have a valid driver's license.

Registration and written examinations will be conducted on the morning of May 7. The driving course will be run during the afternoon.

Entertainment will be furnished on the morning of May 8. Speakers and presentations of awards will be in the afternoon.

Spending the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Edd Kelley were Mrs. R. H. Owens and Marsha of Otis. On Sunday they were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Burdick and family.

Bull-Pen Strong Terrors To Clash With Arvada West

By MORRIS FRASER
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

If you come out to Memorial Park Saturday looking for an explosion of base hits, forget it, brother.

Palmer, the leader of the South Central League and the state's top-ranked baseball team, hosts eighth-ranked Arvada West at 10 a.m. West is co-leader of the Jefferson County League.

The Terrors probably will start Tom Medlicott on the mound. The senior left-hander has limited opposing batters to 11 hits in 34 innings, striking out 52 and walking 17.

Teammate Phil Johnson has given up 14 hits in 38 frames, struck out 60 and walked 19 as Palmer's talented duo has brought the Tribe to a 10-0 regular season mark and a 7-0 SCL record.

But don't ignore the upstate Wildcats. Their two starting hurlers, John Owen and Jim MacDonnell, pitched a combined no-hitter against city rival Arvada Wednesday to gain a 1-0 verdict over the Redskins and hold their share of the JCL lead.

Palmer gained the highest position on the Denver Post poll this week after defeating Centennial and Trinidad. The Terrors reversed positions — and by the same number of points, two—with second-ranked Thomas Jefferson. Palmer downed the Spartans, 2-1, earlier in the season.

The Wildcat pitching Saturday probably will be some of the toughest Palmer batters have faced this year. Thanks due mainly to Medlicott and Johnson, the Terrors have rapped 76 base hits to 25 for their ten foes. Twenty-four of those were for doubles or triples. Palmer has yet to get its first home run.

Two players have come in for their share of praise by coach Jerry Hughes. Larry Williams was cited this week for his work as Terror catcher.

"Larry does a fine job of blocking the low pitches," says Hughes. "He's probably the most improved player on the team." Williams has made only three passed balls this year, although some of the toughest pitching he has faced has been Medlicott's swift low curves.

Ken Rose, now the Terror regular third baseman, also came in for plaudits from Hughes. "Ken has progressed very well. At the first of the season I thought he and Johnson would alternate at third," says the Tribe chief. "But he has done so well in the field and at the bat we have to keep him in."

Medlicott and Johnson have shown impressive statistics thus far to enemy stickers. Johnson's earned run average is 0.55 and Medlicott's is slightly above at 0.82. They have combined to hold the ten losers to a combined .107 batting average, while Palmer hitters are snapping off a .259 clip.

Should the Terrors record their 11th straight victory against Arvada West, they will try for No. 12 Tuesday against Pueblo South and No. 13 will come up Saturday against Wasson. Both games are set for Memorial Park.

Palmer Rated Tops In State

Palmer's unbeaten Terrors have taken over the number one spot in the most recent Denver Post poll ranking Colorado's high school baseball teams.

The Terrors, who were second last week, edged past previous leader, Thomas Jefferson of Denver, by the slim margin of two points. The Tribe pulled 189 points to 187 for Jefferson. Palmer defeated Jefferson in a non-league contest earlier in the season.

Aurora Central, leader in the Centennial League, retained third place in the standings and Fort Morgan's Northern League leaders are ranked ninth. Centennial is the only other South Central League team in the top 10. The Bulldogs are ranked 10th.

Cinder Stars Gather at C. U.

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

BOULDER — Colorado University expects the largest field in history for the 41st running of the C. U. Relays here Friday afternoon and Saturday.

Teams from the Colorado Springs area are expected to be among the top contenders for crowns in at least two of the five divisions of the gigantic track carnival at Folsom Field. Air Academy High, champion of the "AA" division at the Aurora Relays, and St. Mary's, winner of the lower classification at last Saturday's Pikes Peak Relays, will be among the choices to capture the championship of the "AA" high school meet here. Wasson, with outstanding teams in at least two of the five relays which count in the scoring, may have an outside shot at the "AAA" crown.

Local representation will be headed by the Air Force Academy team which will compete in the classy University division of the Relays. Coach Arne Arneson will have the majority of his squad in action at Boulder, although four of the top individuals have a special assignment at the Drake Relays in Des Moines, Ia. over the weekend. Dave Dick in the hurdles, Bob Lambert in the high jump and javelin, and Bob Thomas in the discus, will compete at Drake.

The remainder of the Air Force team will be at C.U., competing in a field that will include defending champion, Colorado, plus Kansas State, Wyoming, Utah, and Utah State. C. U. will again rule as favorites, primarily due to the fact that ace Jim Miller is apparently sound again.

Miller, the former Palmer High school great and holder of the high school state hurdles marks, has been troubled with a leg injury much of the spring. However, he performed well at last week's Kansas Relays and can be expected to anchor all the Buffs short distance baton teams Saturday.

Colorado College coach Frank Flook has said that he will also take several of his top athletes to C. U. The group will include ace miler, Tony McGinnis, and hurdler Ed Loosli.

On the prep front the local area will be represented by both Wasson and Palmer in the "AAA" division and by Academy, High, Widefield, Canon City, and St. Mary's in the "AA" classification.

Coach Jim Hartman of Wasson will have top - contending teams in both the mile and two-mile relays. His mile quartet of Mike Martin, Bob Toof, Terry Charlton, and Tom Benson clipped off the fastest time in the state thus far with a 3:28.5 that won the Pikes Peak Relays last Saturday.

The two-mile team of Roger Browning, Dan Poole, Barry Clayton, and Alan York has not worked as a unit previously but all four have recorded excellent times at the 880 distance. Hartman will also enter teams in both sprint relays and in the distance medley as well as his fine high jump duo of Randy Vance and Craig Gillette. Vance and Martin will compete in the triple jump, Bud Hoffpauir in the high hurdles, and Toof in the shot put and discus.

Palmer's Bill Westbay will enter his two-mile relay team of Jim Seitz, Carl Nelson, Dennis Williams, and Jessie Martinez. The Terror coach also plans to use Ron Smith and Gary Stockdale in the shot put, David Paul and Claude Spears in the pole vault, Spears in the high jump, and Dennis Bair in the broad jump and triple jump. All of the field events are open, and will not count in the team scoring.

Academy High will have the same flashy quartet that sped to triumphs in both the sprint relays at Aurora intact for Saturday's action and another double triumph could deliver the crown for the Kadets. Scott Haney, Bert Spear, Ken Peterson, and Jim Mack, who carry the baton in both the 440 and 880 relays, also set new records at those distances in the Pikes Peak Relays last week.

St. Mary's showed fine overall strength a week ago and the Pirates should have contenders in both the two mile relay and distance medley. Larry Green, Clark Davis, Gary Dobson, and Mike Walth work in the two-mile while Bill Fagin, Jim McCarthy, Tom Rhue, and Knauf give the Bucs better than average sprint relay units. In addition Coach Eddie Kintz plans to enter Cliff Clark and Dave Carle in the shot put and Tom Socha in the high jump.

Widefield's mile relay team of Perry Pierce, Don Black, Steve Rhodes, and Paul Bray won that event at the Pikes Peak meet and should be a contender at Boulder. Canon City will bring two of the state's top athletes in hurdler Dennis Meese and sprinter - vaulter, Mickey Gann.

Defending champion East Denver will be back in the "AAA" division with what appears to be another outstanding team. Brighton, winner of the "AA" crown a year ago, is expected to be among the top contenders again this weekend.

The schedule calls for the college - freshmen — junior-college division to lead off at 2 p.m. today to be followed by prep prelims and the finals in the high school two-mile relays at 4. Saturday prelims will commence at 9 a.m. with the finals in all divisions starting at 1:30.

STRADDLE ROLL BLUES—Frank Costello, University of Maryland high jumper, heads for a hard landing in the pits after completing his straddle or belly roll over the bar while training for competition in the Penn Relays at Philadelphia Saturday. Costello has cleared seven feet and won the IC4A and NCAA indoor titles last winter.

Wasson, Centennial to Break Second-Place SCL Deadlock

PUEBLO — Wasson's waning South Central League title hopes go on the line here again Saturday when the Thunderbirds meet Centennial in a contest that will see the loser virtually expelled from the race. Game time at Pueblo's Runyon Field is set for 2 p.m.

The struggle between the two teams that had the SCL chase to themselves the past two seasons will serve to break a second place deadlock Saturday. Centennial and Wasson both carry 5-2 league marks into action and both trail unbeaten Palmer by two full games. The Terrors, who skip conference play this weekend, must meet both Wasson and the Bulldogs before the race concludes; thus Saturday's victor will still retain some chance of at least tying for the crown.

Coach Gib Funk's Thunderbirds, who have shaken off the effects of a slow start, have now put together a string of five straight triumphs and raised their overall mark for the campaign to 7-3. Included on the black side of the ledger is a solid 11-4 win over Centennial in Wasson's lid-lifter last month. The latest entry was Tuesday's classy 1-0 victory over Pueblo Central, a game that featured excellent pitching by righthander Jim Krug and outstanding defensive play.

Funk said late this week that he will not make a decision on Saturday's starting hurler until just before game time. The Wasson coach has employed four pitchers regularly this spring and all, with the possible exception of Krug, are ready for this assignment. Krug, however, will still rate consideration. Despite the fact that he will have had only three days rest, his last two outings have been complete games and he appeared especially strong in Tuesday's shutout.

If not Krug, then veteran righthander Ray McCaffrey may get the call. McCaffrey owns the team's best rcord at 3-0 and was strong in a 6-2 win over Pueblo East last Saturday. It was McCaffrey who got the start and win in the Thunderbirds' first meeting with Centennial. Bob Lynn and Bruce Meller round out the staff and both have also seen action as starters.

The Thunderbirds' defense has been more than adequate in recent outings, both on the mound and around the rest of the diamond. But Funk is still searching for ways to pick up an attack that has had a couple of good afternoons but has generally lagged behind what it was expected to produce.

The infield appears to be set, with the exception of second base. Budgie Hamilton handles the catching with Rich Wadlow at first, Jim Smith at third, and Mike Biernacki at shortstop. McCaffrey, when not pitching, occasionally handles second but Funk has used a number of players there. In the outfield, Steve Herzberg is a fixture in left and Don Cossette will be in center, unless he fills the gap in the infield. Jim Keeton is expected to work in right field Saturday.

Keeton continues as the team's leading hitter, although he has seen only limited action. His .571 mark is the result of only seven plate appearances. Brian Clarke follows with a .471 average on eight hits in 17 trips. Then comes Smith, the top full-time regular, with a .433 average and leadership in most offensive departments.

Meller has the best earned-run-average among the pitchers with a classy 1.40. But Krug has now lowered his to 1.44 and the staff overall has a nifty 2.21 mark.

Wasson batting averages and pitching records including 10 games.

Seattle Wood Puts Beavers Down in PCL

By The Associated Press

Things were going well for the Portland Beavers until Bobby Gene Smith and Dick Simpson came to bat for the Seattle Angels midway in the nightcap of their Pacific Coast league baseball doubleheader Thursday night.

Portland was lading 2-0. Then Smith hit a two-run homer over the left field wall in the bottom of the fifth inning and Simpson duplicated the feat in the sixth.

An insurance run in the seventh gave the Angels a 5-2 victory. Portland won the first game 4-2 as Tom Kelley racked up his second victory of the five-day-old season.

Salt Lake City exploded for five runs in the seventh inning for a 7-5 Eastern Division win over the San Diego Padres, defending league champs.

Arkansas' Frank Rubino hit a double and a homer to drive in five runs for an 8-4 Traveler decision over Oklahoma City, ending a four-game winning streak for the 89ers. The Travelers scored all their runs in the first two innings.

The Indianapolis Indians pounded Denver pitchers for 15 hits and beat the Bears 8-3. It was the first loss for Bear hurler Jim Merritt, who opened the season with a shutout against Arkansas.

'Gail' Warnings Hoisted At Pinehurst Golf Course

B KEN ALYTA
Associated Press Sports Writer

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — "Gail" warnings were hoisted today as the North and South Amateur Golf Championships headed into its semifinal round with 17-year-old Gail Sykes, the Schenectady N.Y., high school junior, still among those present.

The New York State junior champion fashioned her second successive upset, a 19-hole conquest of veteran Mrs. Alice Dye of Indianapolis, in quarter-finals play Thursday.

Miss Sykes was paired today against Nancy Roth of Hollywood, Fla., the medalist and hottest shooter of the tournament. The other 18-hole match sent national champion Barbara McIntire of Colorado Springs, Colo., against Mrs. Jason Weiss of Indianapolis who 10 years ago was a national finalist.

The New York schoolgirl was 10 over par for her tour of the 5,900-yard No. 2 course of the Pinehurst Country Club.

She never trailed until she lost the par 5 16th, a hole on which she shot a 7. But she squared the match with a par 4 on the 18th hole with a putt of about four feet.

Mrs. Dye brought about her downfall when she drove into a trap on the extra hole and lost to a par 4 when Gail chipped to about a foot from the cup.

Based on what has happened thus far this week, Miss Sykes will have to play much sharper golf to threaten Miss Roth. The Curtis Cup player, who won here two years ago and captured four tournaments last year, won her third Florida State title two weeks ago.

Since shooting a record 69 to win the medal she has breezed through three opponents with the loss of only four holes. She has been not extended beyond the 14th hole.

Miss Roth lost only one hole Thursday in a 7 and 5 romp over Mrs. J. M. Dyson of Sugarloaf, Pa.

Miss McIntire was three over par in a 7 and 5 conquest of German-born Mrs. Christl Hasa of nearby Spring Lake.

Mrs. Weiss won two of the first three holes and was in command the rest of the way as she eliminated Anne Richardson of Columbus, Ohio, 5 and 4 with the loss of only two holes.

Stolle, Ralston Meet Dallasites At River Oaks

HOUSTON (AP) — Second-seeded Fred Stolle of Australia and third-seeded Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif. attempted to move into the semifinals of the 31st annual River Oaks Invitational Tennis Tournament today.

Stolle played young Cliff Richey of Dallas in one quarter-final match and Ralston met Hamilton Richardson of Dallas, the 1956 River Oaks champion, in the other.

The other semifinals spot was determined Thursday when top-seeded Roy Emerson of Australia and fourth-seeded Ramanthan Krishnan of India ousted quarter-final opponents in straight sets.

Emerson overcome a slow start and defeated Gene Scott of St. James, N.Y., 7-5, 10-8.

Scott, a 27-year-old Virginia law student, and Emerson the defending champion, played the most interesting match of the tournament so far.

Although he doubled faulted seven times, an unusually high number for Emerson, the Australian steadied as the match progressed.

On three occasions in the 18th game, he missed a match point but on the fourth his backhand volley placement ended the match.

Krishnan, an effortless player, disposed of Osuna with unexpected ease. Maneuvering Osuna about the court at will, Ramanthan mixed his angled volleys with lops and flick-wristed placements.

'Sunday Pitcher' Koufax Hurls Four-Hitter Thursday

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sandy Koufax is a bust as a Sunday pitcher.

He took care of that Thursday night.

Koufax, the arthritic-elbowed southpaw, pitched a four-hitter and gained his second complete game victory in as many starts in the Los Angeles Dodgers' 2-1 triumph over the New York Mets.

His performance came with only four days rest, marking the first time Koufax has tried to pitch in regular rotation with the damaged elbow.

When it was discovered earlier this month that the 29-year-old left-hander had an arthritic condition, Dodger officials believed he might be able to pitch only once a week — simply a Sunday pitcher.

He started out that way last Sunday in beating Philadelphia 6-2. In less than 48 hours, though, Koufax had decided he could pitch before the week was up, even with only his usual four-day layoff.

Following his trial against the Mets, it appeared as if the injury-plagued ace were ready to continue in rotation. As usual, though, that depended on how the elbow reacted today.

"It's the day after I pitch that it locks," Koufax explains.

If the elbow responds well, Koufax will draw the Phillies at Los Angeles next Monday night.

Against the Mets, Koufax was much sharper than in his first effort against Philadelphia when he gave up just six hits but walked five.

All of the hits the Mets got were singles, two by Billy Cowan. Koufax walked only one batter — Roy McMillan in the seventh inning — while striking out nine. The lone run of him was unearned, a result of Maury Wills' seventh-inning error, leaving him with a 1.00 earned run average.

In the light American League schedule, Baltimore annihilated Washington 18-4 as Luis Aparicio collected four hits and drove in four runs, and Minnesota whipped New York 8-2 with Tony Oliva belting a pair of homers.

Despite Koufax' stingy pitching, the Dodgers had to go until there were two out in the ninth to defeat Jack Fisher.

Wes Parker led off the inning with a double but was out trying for third on Willie Davis' bunt. Willie then moved to second as Tommy Davis grounded out and scooted home with the winning run on John Roseboro's single to right field.

Ron Swoboda singled across the Mets' run with two out after McMillan walked and raced to third as Wills let Joe Christopher's grounder get by him.

The Cubs edged the Reds on Billy Williams' run-scoring single in the eighth inning. Glenn Beckert, who scored Chicago's first run in the first inning, opened the eighth with an infield single, was sacrificed to second and came in on William's hit.

Kintz New Grid Mentor For Pirates

Ed Kintz, who played his college football at Colorado College, has been named the head football coach at St. Mary's and he succeeds Chuck Haering, who resigned to take the assistant football coaching job at Palmer.

In addition to his duties as head football coach at St. Mary's this fall, Kintz will also continue coaching the track team. Kintz is in his second year at St. Mary's and last track season he led the Pirate thinclads to second place in the State Private Schools Track Meet.

Kintz also served as head wrestling coach the past two seasons and was instrumental in starting a wrestling program at the local Parochial school.

Haering, who compiled a brilliant record during his three Mary's when his teams wrote a 26-5-1 won-loss-tied record as well as winning the first Denver Parochial League championship two years ago, gave credit to Kintz for his outstanding job of coaching the backfield the past two seasons. Haering also related that he felt Kintz was responsible for developing the defensive secondary last season which made it possible for the Pirates to enjoy a 9-1 won-loss record.

Kintz indicated that he plans to stay with basically the slot-T offense that has been used the last three years at St. Mary's.

Secretary Of Meadows In Springs

Assistant racing secretary James S. DeWitt arrived at Pikes Peak Meadows from Waterford Park, W. V., this week and began preparing the racing office for the May 7 opening of the new track.

DeWitt expressed pleasure at seeing the facilities at Pikes Peak Meadows for the first time. "It's a fine racing plant in a beautiful setting," he enthused after a quick tour of the grounds and before settling down to the tremendous task of putting new offices in readiness for the rest of the racing department.

DeWitt, a former jockey, rode for more than 20 years at race tracks throughout the country. Most of his riding career he spent on the east coast, at New England, New York, New Jersey, and Florida tracks.

After retiring from riding he spent a brief period as a representative of the Jockeys Guild in Ohio. He started in race officiating seven years ago at Wheeling, W. V. Since then he has held various official and racing office posts at Wheeling, Shenandoah Downs, Waterford Park, and Hialeah.

Other new arrivals included trainers Pat Holder and Bob Gibson. Holder checked in with five horses including Miss Pan Pan, a three-time winner last year, Irish Ellen, and Irish Sambo.

Gibson brought in seven head including older horses Boss Maker and Lucky Alairne, and a good looking two-year-old colt, Somawray, by Somali II.

Ex-U.S. National Women's Skating Champ Is Dead

Police Chief Julian P. Darman said Mrs. Gay may have been dead for as long as a week. He said death appeared to be from natural causes. An autopsy was ordered.

Mrs. Gay was apple blossom queen in Winchester, Va., in 1948. She had participated that year in the Winter Olympics in St. Moritz, Switzerland.

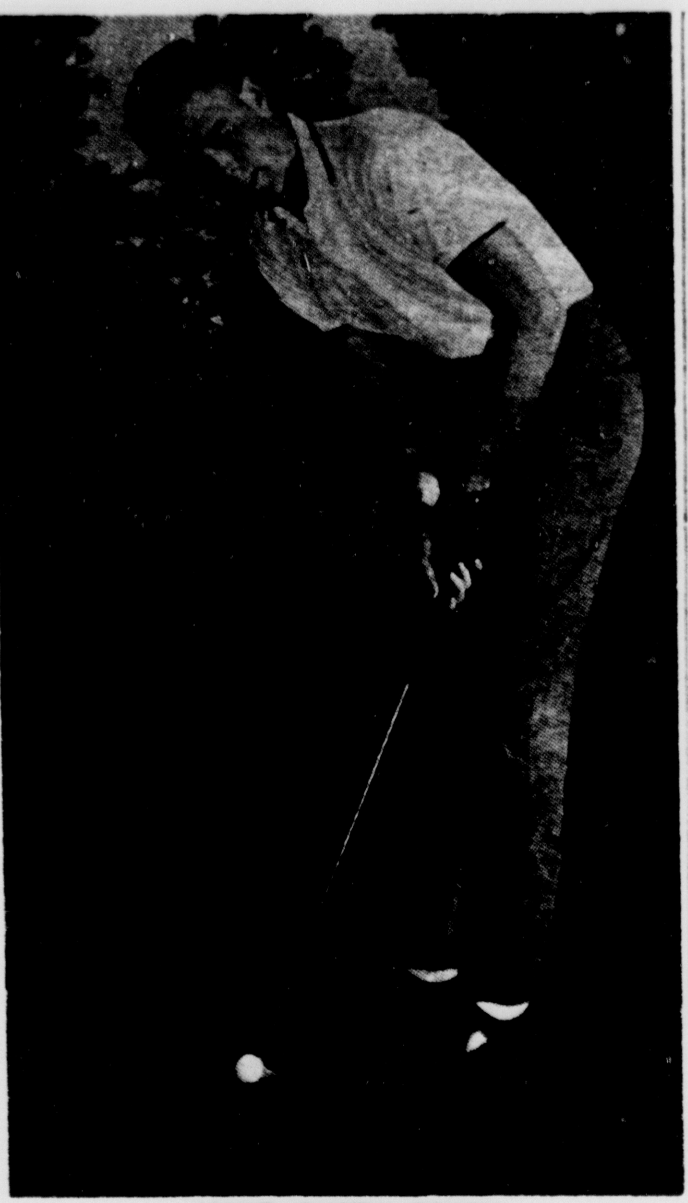
A neighbor notified the apartment building superintendent when she noticed that Mrs. Gay's car had not been moved for several days. Mrs. Gay was found lying on the living room floor, fully clothed.

She had been married to William Otis Gay of Boston in 1953. They had lived in New York City before their divorce. They had no children.



JAMIE (RUSTY) GOUGH
Leads Falcon Golf Team

* * *

Gough Anything but Rusty When Beltin' Golf Balls

Jamie "Rusty" Gough (rhymes with golf) led the Air Force golf team to its fourth straight victory of the season, Wednesday, with a match play score of 21½ to 5½ over Colorado College.

The win, which gave the Cadets a 4-2 season record, could be termed sweet revenge for the Falcons, as they were edged by the Tigers twice in 1964 with scores of 9½-8½ and 5-4.

Coack Vic Kregel will be counting on "Rusty" this Saturday when the Falcons take on a strong Eastern New Mexico golf team in the fourth meeting of the two schools. The Cadets could even the series which began in 1961 with a win over the Greyhounds.

The junior from Alexandria, Va., has so far this season matched par on the difficult 18-Golf Course, the Cadets' home grounds. Rusty's 72 led his teammates on a cold, windy day to wins over the Colorado State College and Colorado State University.

He also led the team to a 20½-6½ rout over Denver University, Tuesday, shooting a good 73 score on the Cherry Hills Country Club Course in Denver.

The freckle-faced Cadet is probably the most talented golfer to tee up for the Falcons. He came to the Academy with a solid background in golf, lettering two years in high school, and being selected as the captain in his second year. He also has had extensive tournament experience in the National Junior and Junior JC tournaments.

Last year, his first with the varsity, Jamie compile the lowest average score for the season, shot the lowest round of the year, and despite his number one position, was the second highest point contributor for the Falcons.

So far this year, it looks as if Rusty will repeat his 1964 record and establish a few more. He is leading the team with a 74 average through the first six matches.

The old adage — like father, like son — could well apply to Rusty. His father, Maj. Gen. Jamie Gough, played golf at Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Tex., in 1937 and 1938, and was the Air Force World Wide Golf Champion in 1948. Rusty's parents live at McDill AFB, Fla.

Wonder Drug Aids Dickinson's Round

By RONNIE THOMPSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Something went awry in Gardner Dickinson's right shoulder as he hit a ball in the practice area minutes before he teed off on the first round of the $50,000 Texas Open. It hurt so much he couldn't swing the club.

So he hurried to the clubhouse and swabbed what he called some "wonder drug" on his shoulder, then went to the first tee.

You'd never have known the shoulder was hurt — he called it a pulled or torn muscle — as he fired a five-under-par 65 to capture the lead Thursday in the Texas Open.

But it was a narrow edge Dickinson carried into today's second round.

He was one stroke head of Bert Weaver, the 10th leading money winner on this year's PGA tour; Tom Aaron, who has never won a tournament but manages to make a good living, and Jacky Cupit, one of the more successful youngsters on the tour.

Jack Rule Jr., Charles Sifford and Ken Nagle were tied with 67s. Steve Opperman, Rocky Thompson and Butch Baird had 68s.

Bobby Nichols, the 1964 PGA champion who won the Houston Classic last week, and Juan (Chi Chi) Rodriguez, who finished in a tie for second at Houston one stroke behind Nichols, were among eight knotted at 69.

Nichols had two bogies and three birdies over the 6,790-yard Oak Hills Country Club course.

Dickinson, called golf's Thin Man because of his slight 130-pound build, hasn't won a tournament since the Coral Gables Open in 1962. He turned pro in 1952.

"Without the pain-killer, I absolutely could not have played," Dickinson said after posting his 65.

He explained that he hurt the shoulder when his club jammed into the ground during the third round of the Houston Classic last week, but it seemed to be practically well until Thursday.

He hit 16 greens in regulator or better, and needed only 30 putts.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Scores of first round leaders in the $50,000 Texas Open, played over the 6,790-yard par 35-35—70 Oak Hills Country Club course:

Aparicio Heads Latin Shortstops

Associated Press Sports Writer

Baltimore's Luis Aparicio remains undisputed president of the Latin American Shortstop's Association today despite a short revolution staged by Minnesota Twin insurgent Zoilo Versalles.

Versalles, the fiery Cuban whose spring training squabble with Manager Sam Mele resulted in a $300 fine, had challenged for the top spot with three hits including an inside - the - park home run, and three runs batted in as the Twins thumped the New York Yankees 7-2 Thursday.

It fell to Aparicio to match the performance in the only other American League game played Thursday and Luis went Zoilo one better.

Aparicio ripped four hits including a homer, drove in four runs and scored three as the Orioles walloped Washington 18-4.

Luis, who celebrates his 31st birthday next Thursday, even topped Versalles' speed, swiping two bases to Zoilo's one.

Both shortstops had plenty of help, Tony Oliva slugging two home runs for the Twins and Curt Blefary and Brooks Robinson tagging two-run shots for the Orioles.

In the National League, Chicago edged Cincinnati 3-2 and Los Angeles nipped New York 2-1.

"I want respect," Versalles complained after his spring training battle with Mele. The manager had warmed up Zoilo's replacement before the inning was over after Versalles had booted a grounder in an exhibition game. "He treated me like a busher."

When Versalles got to the bench he refused to sit down and Mele fined him $100. "Make it $200," snapped Zoilo. "All right, it's $200," replied Mele. "Why not 300?" asked the shortstop. "That's what it is," said Mele. And that's when the bidding ended.

The Yankees wish Versalles had sat down Thursday. The little shortstop knocked out New York starter Al Downing in the second inning with a bases-loaded single which delivered two runs. He was on second with a double with Oliva connected in the seventh and then his homer triggered the wins' three-run ninth.

Jim Kaat was the winner with a five-hitter his first victory over the Yankees in five years and only his second in 11 lifetime decisions against New York.

The Orioles scored four runs in each of the first two innings and completed the rout with seven runs in the eighth, six of them unearned.

Aparicio ignited the eighth inning rally with his first home run and drove in two more runs later in the inning with a double.

Blefary and Paul Blair, another rookie outfielder, combined for five hits and five runs batted in with Blefary adding a run-producing single to his two-run homer and Blair driving in two runs with three singles.

Oriole starter Wally Bunker was listed for a pinch hitter in the sixth and Jim Palmer finished with four innings of hitless relief as Bunker won his first game.

Players' Return Bolsters Black Hawk Playoff Hopes

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Black Hawks have taken on new hope in their bid for the Stanley Cup with the return of forward Kennedy Wharram and defenseman Pierre Pilote.

Not only did the two come off the ailing list, but both played starring roles in a 3-1 victory over the Montreal Canadiens Thursday night for Chicago's first triumph after two losses in the best-of-7 series.

Pilote assisted on Chicago's first goal, scored by Phil Esposito 51 seconds after Montreal had taken a 1-0 lead in the second period on John Ferguson's goal.

Wharram broke the tie early in the third period and Chico Maki added an insurance goal in the final minute when he scored into an empty net.

Neither Wharram suffering from bruised knees, nor Pilote, hampered by a shoulder injury, had seen any action in the first two games in Montreal, which the Hawks lost 3-2 and 2-0.

But the way they came back exceeded even the greatest of expectations, both seeing full-time duty without the hint of injury.

Wharram was expected to play but Coach Billy Reay didn't decide to use Pilote, the team captain, until shortly before the game started.

"Pilote spent the night in the hospital," said Reay, "and was given medication. We then learned it was neither a separation nor a dislocation. So we decided to go with him."

Pilote said he received no shots in his left shoulder. "They put on some medication and the soreness went away. Sure it hurt every time I got hit but I think it'll be all right now."

Wharram said his knees began to weaken in the final period but "I can't see any reason I can't continue to play. Of course, I never really got hit hard so I can't say how they'll stand up. I'll be okay."

Both teams went full speed from start to finish and Reay admitted "we played better once we went ahead on Kenny's goal. It was the first time we held a lead in this series."

The game was marred in the final seconds when fighting broke out between the two teams with Chicago's Matt Ravlich and Montreal's Ted Harris the main agitators.

Montreal Coach Toe Blake refused to comment on the game other than say "we had a lot of chances and we missed them. That's all there was to it."

Matson, Robinson, Easton In Spotlight at Drake Meet

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

DES MOINES, Iowa, (AP) — A mighty weightman, a springy broad kumper and a dismissed track coach elbow for the spotlight in Friday's opening of the 56th Drake Relays.

Texas A&M's Randy Matson, 260-pound top attraction of the two-day cinder carnival, was expected to launch a bid for a Drake double with a record-smashing discus performance.

Among all the coaches of the 37 university and 47 college squads sending a total of 1,300 athletes into Drake action, the center of conversation was "lame duck" Coach Bill Easton of Kansas.

But the outspoken Easton has little hope he will get back a job apparently ear-marked for his former assistant and newly named Oregon State track coach Bob Timmons.

In the university four-mile, Kansas — winner in the Texas and Kansas Relays — and Oregon State, anchored by stellard Morgan Groth, lead an expected assault on the Drake record of 16:43.4.

The university sprint medley field is one of the best in Drake history and could wreck not only the Drake standard of 3:17.8, but also the NCAA record of 3:17.7, set last year by Oregon State.

Lakers Must Prove Again In NBA Tilt

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers have proved they are capable of beating the Boston Celtics. But they have to do it again tonight.

A 126-105 Laker victory Wednesday night shattered the aura of invincibility of the Celtics acquired with 142-110 and 129-123 triumphs in the first two games of the National Basketball Association final playoffs.

Another strong Laker performance could deadlock the teams at two games apiece as they head back to Boston for the fifth game Sunday.

On the other hand, a Celtic victory tonight would virtually assure the Boston club of its seventh straight league championship.

Because the home court advantage is as important as any factor in the NBA, and the Celtics seldom lose at home, the Lakers consider a win tonight a necessity.

"It's anybody's playoff now," said Laker Coach Fred Schaus after Wednesday's triumph. "We have a good chance to win Friday night, and then it's just a best-of-3 series."

Schaus pointed to the excellent rebounding of center Gene Wiley, who grabbed 28 and held Boston's Bill Russell to 19, as the deciding factor in his team's success.

Kingpetch Is Underdog In Match With Burruni

ROME (AP) — Salvatore Burruni, a slick Sardinian who has won 56 straight fights, gets his long sought title shot at world flyweight champion Pone Kingpetch of Thailand in the Olympic Sports Palace tonight. Newspapers made the challenger a slight favorite.

"I'm going to beat him," said the 32-year-old Italian when the last obstacle to the three times postponed 15-round title fight finally was cleared Thursday.

A sellout crowd of 16,000 was assured with ticket prices ranging from $4.80 to $19.20. The fight will start about 6 p.m. EST. The champion has been guaranteed $50,000 while Burruni, the No. 1 contender, will get only $2,000.

"I would have fought him for nothing," said Burruni, unbeaten in the last five years. "The title is what I am after."

The Italian is a clever boxer with a good punch. In eight years as a pro, he has racked up a 76-3-1 won-lost-draw record, including 23 knockouts. He never has been stopped.

Pone, 29, has a 31-6 record and only nine knockouts. He has been stopped three times, twice in losing the title.

The Thai holds the record for winning and losing the flyweight crown. The figures are three and two since he first dethroned Argentina's Pascual Perez five years ago. He has a 6-2 record for title fights.

The rhubatb over the referee arose when Italian newspapers reported he had visited Pone's camp and had chatted with the champion. The writers said this was improper.

Apparently Piero Pini, the chief Italian official, was not too disturbed over the report. Pini, secretary of the European Boxing Union, had the referee and two judges in his office to explain the rules. All four left the office smiling.

The official doctor became aroused when the champion first refused to come to his office for the examination. He said the doctor should come to his hotel. The physican said Pone would be examined in his office or there would be no fight. The champion yielded.

Italian sports fans are excitable, to put it mildly. So the National Union of Sports Veterans appealed to the fight fans to maintain "the dignity of Rome" and to show "civil comportment and "benevolent tolerance and sympathy."

Fame Hall Member Dundee Dies

EAST ORANGE, N.J. (AP) — Johnny Dundee, former world's featherweight champion and a member of Boxing's Hall of Fame, died Thursday.

Dundee, who gave up the championship in 1924 because he couldn't keep his weight below the 126-pound limit, was a veteran of 321 pro fits. He hit most of the big names from 126 pounds to 135 pounds over a 23-year period.

The colorful boxer was hospitalized two weeks ago with an upper respiratory infection complicated by pneumonia. His age was listed as both 71 and 74.

Born Joseph Carrora, son of a fisherman in Shaikai, Italy, Dundee was given his ring name by his former manager, Scotty Monteith of Dundee, Scotland.

His parents brought him to New York in 1909.

PAINT GLARE AWAY—Houston painters Dave Smith and Red Ivy spray the skylights of the Astrodome with a light blue paint. The $20,000 paint job is to relieve sun glare, so that fielders can see the fly balls during day games. The job is to be finished within the next three days, before the Houston Astros return home. Kansas Team Stands Up for Coach

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — The 40 members of the University of Kansas track team issued a long statement of devotion to their coach, and there were indications their spokesmen might appear before the Kansas board of regents today to protest the firing of Bill Easton.

"Bill Easton was fired for trying only to stand up for us," it said. "He was simply striving to obtain a reasonable budget with which to buy our equipment, pay our scholarships and enable us to represent our university with pride...

"It is not humanly possible to run a track team with the budget allotted... we have athletes who have been out with injured feet due to inadequate shoes — shoes which must be used because we cannot afford to buy new ones... no K.U. athlete ever gained weight on a track trip.

"We fear that if Coach Easton goes, so will the tradition of excellence he has built up. What coach of any quality would accept the job, knowing he must work within an entirely inadequate budget? What athlete will come to K.U., where the future of track appears so uncertain?"

The statement said the 61-year-old coach was offered the track job at the University of Southern California, which has an outstanding track program. It said Dr. Wescoe was instrumental in persuading him to stay at Kansas.

Easton was fired by Wade Stinson, who became director of athletics a little more than a year ago and was Dr. Wescoe's personal choice for the job.

Petitions asking for Easton's reinstatement were being circulated on the campus. The goal was 5,000 signatures and Rheams said reports from the dormitories indicated "they're filling up like wildfire."

Glare Problem Eliminated in Astrodome

HOUSTON (AP) — The glare problem in the $31.6 million Harris County doomed stadium apparently has been solved with paint.

Earlier, outfielders had difficulty following fly balls because of the sun glaring through the 4,596 plastic skylights during afternoon exhibition games and workouts. Many wore batting helmets to protect themselves against the balls lost in the glare.

Houston Astro officials announced this week the problem could be solved by painting the plastic sections with a thin coat of off-white paint.

Your Freedom Newspaper

Ever striving for the Pikes Peak Region to be an even better place to live

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is self-control, no more, no less. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Killed, Or Only Knocked Out?

A headline in Wednesday's Gazette Telegraph says, "Billboard-Ban Bill Killed by Colorado Senate." But killed isn't precisely the word to use in connection with any bill that has the support of much money and many lobbyists. It has been killed for this session of the legislature only. It will be revived in the next session.

Fighting something of this kind is a continuing battle, the sinister forces that seek to control everything and everybody never give up. One of their proposals has more lives than the proverbial cat. Witness the daylight saving bill that was defeated by the citizens of Colorado each and every time they were allowed to vote on it, now it is the law of the state against the voting majority's wishes.

Senator Decker of Denver has suggested placing the Billboard Bill on the ballot to let the citizens decide the issue in 1966. But Governor Love, a sponsor of the bill, knows full well that the citizens may reject it, as they probably would. So he has a better idea. He is going to try to push it through the legislature next year (1966) when the lawmakers will have nothing to consider but what he, the governor, proposes. Meanwhile, great pressure is going to be put upon the recalcitrant senators who will be carry overs from the present session and on the voters to defeat those who will be up for re-election.

Our great conservative Republican (?) governor says this of the Senate's action, "It was time to make a move in this area. I am disappointed they did not. Colorado above all states has some need to reasonably protect its beauty." The Billboard Bill was simply one more short step toward a propertyless society, nation or however you choose to term it. What is beautiful about slavery? We do not have so many more steps to walk down the road in its direction before we have arrived, we would do well to conserve them.

The news item states that the legislators received "thousands of letters and telegrams" supporting the bill and only a few opposing it. What does this prove? The sponsors of such legislation, who always remain discreetly in the background and shove innocent well - meaning stooges out front, are always well organized and have printed forms ready at hand for letters of telegrams and thousands of suggestions on how the individual can compose his own.

If the legislators really believe there are so many for the bill and so few opposed, why are they afraid to put it to the vote of the people? The bill will be pushed again in 1966 a little harder, even than it was this year. Meanwhile, the propaganda machines will work overtime in an effort to convince the voters that the bill is for the "best interests of the people," just in case it does go on the ballot.

There is more at stake here than the banning of billboards from our highways. The very concept of property ownership is at stake. The billboard bill, if ever enacted, will be just one more nail in the coffin of liberty.

Nature's Bulldozers

It seems that nature has decided to lend LBJ a hand in his war on poverty by creating several new "disaster areas" where many people are going to be a lot poorer than they were before the floods and tornados struck.

Prejudicial Law

So strong is the view of men in government that laws must now be enacted which do not attempt to find an equitable remedy, that prejudicial proceedings are now commonplace.

Take the current hassle in the labor department between Secretary Wirtz and his popular under-secretary, John F. Henning.

The Labor Department, in an effort to tie up with President Johnson's anti-poverty crusade, is asking for federal funds to push birth control projects. Henning, a devout Catholic, is fighting this allocation. These are the facts on the surface that everyone sees.

But take a look at the proposal as to how the money, if it is obtained, is to be allocated. As Secretary Wirtz wants it, the money will be spent primarily in depressed areas and among the poor and the so-called "under-privileged" in an effort to cut down on births in these areas alone.

Once more we see government, not endeavoring to be objective, impartial, just and acting as a referee; we see government, instead, with its collective mind made up. Persons who are poor, or who live in a depressed area, so-called, are to be discouraged from having children. Presumably, persons who live in a more fortunate locality (as if localities had anything to do with it) or who are making a larger income at the moment, are going to be presumed to offer no problem from the standpoint of increased population.

Note the assumption that if you are poor now, you will always be poor; contrariwise, that if you have a good income now, you will always have a good income.

Notice the tendency to judge a man on the basis of his address or general location.

And understand that the government, presumably impartial, is seeking to enact prejudicial laws once more.

This is not too surprising. The Civil Rights Act was an astonishing display of legal effort to put it down in imperishable law that Negroes are second-class citizens and must have laws enacted to tip the scales in their favor, since it is presumed by the government that such legal emphasis is required to make everything "fair."

But certainly the Civil Rights Act was not the first such enactment.

Essentially, the invasion into the quagmire of opinionated legal enactments began with the progressive income tax. It was not the tax, per se, that did it. It was the concept that the more you earned, the higher the percentage you would have to pay.

Thus, beginning with income tax progressivism, the law was to be no longer devised on the basis of treating everyone alike; rather, it was twisted to treat some with favor and some with antagonism.

In theory, it has generally been held in nations descending from the Greco-Roman tradition of legalism that the law is merely to establish the ground rules. The race is to be run by each according to his ability with rewards descending in ratio as they are earned or not earned.

Since 1913 the concept is in reverse. It is not a fair race that is envisioned by a "fair" termination of the race so that everyone is "tied" at the end. No one is to win. The potential winner must be handicapped so that he is reduced to the level of the least competitor. Nor is the least competitor to be permitted to lose. Instead, he is to be supported and subsidized, until his chances of finishing are exactly as good as the best.

Now, if the birth rate is an actual problem (which we profoundly doubt), clearly, the logical, rational, objective way to proceed would be for a bit of education to occur. We do not mean politically financed propaganda, but rather honest and objective education conducted by private and independent research agencies and educational institutions, of which there are many.

Informed of the facts, the concept of individual responsibility is nurtured. Then, too, if the government were to cease its bolstering of the least able, financially, the concept of individual responsibility would be nurtured there.

There seems to exist at the moment the thought that poverty is some kind of dread disease which must be eradicated. In actual fact, poverty is the spur to production. And if none of us could obtain except as we produced, our general lot would be infinitely enhanced.

There is no requirement at all for federal meddling, even by promotional techniques, in the intimacies of family relationships. If parents understood once and for all that they were responsible for their children and that there would be NO sympathetic government standing by to bail them out of their self-induced difficulties, the so-called "population explosion" would probably never have been sloganized.

When governments enact prejudicial, slanted and unfair legislation, then justice flees the courts. Solutions to problems can only be found outside governmental juridictional areas.

OBJECTIVITY

To the Editor:

The most discussed aspect of our newspapers, as a news media, is the lack of respect for the "front page," or format. In all sincerity they attempt to inform the American citizen with the news of the day. The constructive criticism that the newspaper field must take into consideration is the responsibility to the American Citizen and his inherent ability to make decisions as an individual. The objective reporter and editor must never be responsible to anyone or any group.

Headlines and stories in our modern concept of journalism are masterpieces of dialect, but most have the individual biases of the writers and-or editors who dictate the policies.

It seems that if the newspapers would stick to their true responsibility of informing the public, without biases, instead of their drift toward the entertainment field, we "common" citizens would be far less confused.

The editor of the G.T. has indicated that local news in our area has precedence over national news which is logical thinking. This gives one the conclusion that since, as an example, the G.T. of Wed., March 31, 1965 has nine headline stories of national origin, or news items outside of the immediate area and has only five headline stories on the front page of a local nature, 64 per cent of the front page stories concern the local area to the extent that ye editor gave national news more importance than the local news stories.

This could also be a decision that since we have no men or events worthy of our words to give the public what is handed out by the AP, UPI or other official sources. The importance of selectivity is the main concern. Is the man with this authority over the front page, or format of our newspaper, worthy of the task? You might say this is too technical for the readers concern which has nothing to do with the contents. Does it? It is generally known that the news media in the United States is the very foundation of liberty. Can we as a people neglect the influence of this media to the point of defending a communist put into this position with the power to mis-lead? The answer is knowledge, knowledge in respecting the good judgment of our fellowman, knowledge in respect to the communist conspiracy, knowledge of the fundamental principles of Christianity and putting this knowledge into effect. When the newspaper stories seek to mis-lead or withhold the truth from the public, this is a matter for each individual's knowledge of the philosophy of the writer. Which will seek truth in the actions of man, not his words. He is not accountable to other men for his decisions, only to himself. The reporter that writes only those words which will not upset his fellowman is harmful to himself as well as his readers. Those who try to justify the actions of others without fully understanding the end results is guilty of half-truths and distortions that can lead only to confusion.

The importance of the front page of our newspapers as a "public opinion" molder is known, but the number of the men who are unaware of the damage and in positions that withhold the truth for the "public good" is significant. The front page format of a large segment of our newspapers is responsible for the election of national and local representatives. The results of most elections can be directly attributed to the honesty of the area newspapers in reporting the facts of issues and individuals without bias.

For comparison let's recall the 1964 national elections and compare the voting results with the front page format of the leading newspapers. In Colorado Springs the majority of voters, without actual statistics, were for the Johnson Administration. The leading newspaper is the G.T. with its fine open-minded editorial section, but a compassion to entertain rather than to inform on the front page. In comparison, in Jackson, Mississippi, the voters went to Goldwater in 1964 due to a large extent to the objective news coverage by the Jackson Daily News. Objective news coverage can be obtained by the editor in the front page format as effectively as if the reporters were each individually objective. Editors are, or should be, selected who will correct the biased reporter, for the truly great reporter has become extinct in our "great society."

Since the editions of the Jackson Daily News and the Gazette Telegraph of March 31, 1965 contain the same, or approximately the same, percentage of national news over local, it is conclusive that national news is more important on this day rather than local. This is understanding and warranted with the speed of news coverage today.

To be objective we now have for comparison two editors, two front page formats and the facilities of the national news media teletypes. Granted, the areas covered are distinctively different and in different sections of our country, but still bound by the Constitution, our laws of justice, and the wisdom of the editors.

NEW YORK NEWSPAPER STRIKE AVERTED New York. (AP)

MAN'S ARM SEWN BACK BY SURGEONS — Pittsburgh. (AP)

RED FIRE DOWNS THREE 'COPTERS — Saigon. (AP)

LBJ RULES OUT MASSIVE BLOW — Washington. (UPI)

The editors of both newspapers have both AP and UPI news releases at their disposal and can select any or all, with time and space limitations prevailing. Is there a significant pattern? National headlines in the G.T. are 100 per cent from the AP releases. National headlines in the Jackson Daily News are selected from AP, UPI and a special correspondent in Washington. In connection with the formats of both, the Jackson News is far more objective, since they are selecting from several sources available, rather than one. Could this be intended, and editor bias, lack of good judgment or pure carelessness? The analysis of the UPI releases against the AP releases in objectivity gives the conclusion that the UPI releases are far more objective in their contents. Or is it the freedom that management of UPI has in developing a co-operative effort in the accumulation and release of news, against the controlled policies of AP?

All news releases, of local or national origin, are given and received in good faith and with proper importance in wording to evade a libel suit. The ultimate answer lies not with the multitude of written sources, but the good judgment of those in the position to decide what is to be released for the information of the citizen to enable them to decide, with the newspaper as a tool, not as a weapon against him and his principles.

As a citizen of Colorado Springs with freedom of choice between the Gazette Telegraph and the Free Press, my subscription and my support must be maintained for the best available. Therefore, it is the Gazette Telegraph, but in all honesty, would change drastically if the Jackson Daily News policy was available in our area.

LeMOYNE BROWNING
1506 N. Prospect

Editor's Note: The editors of the Gazette Telegraph endeavor to be objective in covering the news. We have been complimented for objectivity on many occasions. Of course, no human being, including Mr. Browning, is absolutely objective, but we do try.

NOT A CHANCE

To the Editor:

Before any world government can be set up these United States must be brought to the world level, economically, mentally and morally. It must be admitted great progress is being made in that direction and that viewpoint appears to prevail in all that is done down on the Potomac.

American citizens are denied by law the right to own gold coin and have made no objections to the fact that just any alien can come and get it as long as any remains, just so he will take it away out of the USA. If he has nothing on which to base a claim to it the New Frontier will obligingly provide him one under the Great Giveaway.

Now as the next step we are to be deprived of our silver coin and virtually worthless coin made of copper and silver used to replace it. Whether it will be made a felony to hoard any silver has not yet been revealed. The pretense is we are short of silver but that shortage is a created one.

Were Congress to wake up and restore the free coinage of silver that would insure the reopening of scores of long closed silver mines, give our people a sound circulating medium and create the greatest economic revival we have had in a half century, a sound, intrinsically good currency and that would go a long ways toward discounting and discrediting one worlders arguments.

Is there a chance of that being done? Not even the slightest. Congress knows who holds the money bags and who issues the orders that gets things done. A Congress that will vote more than two to one for the UNCivil "RIOTS" act, knowing it is only a grab for unconstitutional, undelegated federal power, is not going to try to save civilization, rest assured.

Vast amounts of rich silver ore remain in our earth, as the one worlders are fully aware and the reopening of those silver mines, resulting from restoring free coinage would reverse all progress made toward a red one world under centralized authority.

Will Congress reverse its trends and save Christian civilization? Not a chance. The CFR-BAC will see to that.

The Importance Of Free Entry

By OSCAR COOLEY

Associate Professor of Economics
Ohio Northern University

In 1961 the Manufacturers Trust Company, New York, merged with the Hanover Bank to form the Manufacturers Hanover Trust Company. The merger was approved by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, as all such bank mergers must be.

Three years later, at the insistence of the Anti-Trust Division of the U.S. Department of Justice, a federal judge held the merger illegal. He admitted the merger had benefited the public, but said that "no matter how beneficient" a bank merger might be, if it reduced the number of banks it was illegal.

The Manufacturers Hanover is not New York's largest bank; there are two larger ones: First National City and Chase Manhattan. And since 1961 the assets of the Manufacturers have grown only 11 per cent, according to the Wall Street Journal, while the assets of the other two have increased by 30 per cent. If Manufacturers has a monopoly, it apparently isn't working.

This decision highlights the conflict of opinion among govarnment agencies as to the wisdom of bank mergers. The bankers would be pleased if the Federal Reserve board and the Anti-Trust division would get together on this question. After all, it is quite a chore to unmerge the parts of a $7,000,000,000 bank three years after they were put together.

The decision also suggests that the Anti-Trust division has become hostile toward bigness as such. One is moved to ask: What is the difference between a firm that gets big by merger and a firm that gets big by producing a wanted service and promoting its sale successfully? In either case the result is bigness. If the Anti-Trust division is opposed to growth by merger, is it also opposed to growth through good management?

Consumers are not concerned about the size of the firms they patronize. They are concerned to have freedom of choice to buy where they will, and they enjoy such freedom of choice when firms are free to enter or leave every industry at will. This the economist calls "freedom of entry," and it is a vital economic freedom. From the producer's point of view it is the freedom to enter any business he wishes and to grow and expand in that business to the utmost. From the consumer's point of view, it is the freedom to patronize any firm in the industry and to encourage others to enter the industry by the promise of patronage.

Freedom of energy is the consumer's best protection against exploitation by monopoly. It is a better protection than the Anti-Trust division or any other division of the government. It works automatically. It makes no mistakes. And it costs the taxpayers not a red cent. It works this way:

Assume there is but one firm making a certain product. Assume it is a product for which there is no good substitute. The firm will tend to raise its price until it makes a generous profit. This profit acts as molasses to flies; it lures other firms into the industry to garner some of that toothsome profit.

The output of the new firms, added to that of the old one, increases the supply of the product, whose price must now be lowered if all is to sell. Thus the firm which had the original monopoly must rescind its price increase.

In practice, that firm probably does not raise the price, because its managers can look ahead and foresee the chain of events. They reason: If we don't want flies, we had better not spread molasses. Thus, the very fact that entry is free inhibits monopolies from exploiting consumers.

If the government truly wanted to serve its citizens, it would insure freedom of entry in all industries. But it does not; it restricts freedom of entry. I have pointed out how it restricts freedom of entry into banking by wholly or partially denying banks the freedom to establish branches.

But this is not all. When a group wants to organize a new bank, it must first get the government's permission. If the government examiners decide that the area "does not need" a new bank, they will refuse permission. Thus an existing bank is shielded from the potential competition of a new one.

In many other fields, freedom of entry is denied by the government, federal or state. Are government officials wiser than the laws of economics?

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

Question No. 676: "Does the charter of the United Nations contain statements from the Manifesto of Karl Marx or Communist Party; also is there some trace in the contents of the Civil Rights Legislation of November 1964?

"Has either or both certain quotations or paraphrases of the constitution of the U.S.S.R.?"

D. B. RALSTON
Westminister

Answer: We know of no similar wording of the Communist Manifesto and either the U.N. Charter or the Civil Rights Act. While the objectives of portions of the charter and of the Civil Rights Act appear to be aimed at elimination of the rights of individuals to own their honestly acquired property, they do not frankly say as much as Marx did, when he wrote:

"In a word, you reproach us with intending to do away with your property. Precisely so; that is just what we intend."

The U.N. has not come out flatly and said it wants to do away with property. But in discussing the U.N. "Universal Declaration of Human Rights," Charles Malik of Lebanon, former chairman of the commission on human rights and former top official of the U.N., wrote: "For the second year an unsuccessful attempt was made to include an article on the right to own property. . . .The concept of property and its ownership is at the heart of the great ideological conflict of the present day. . .a study of this particular debate will reveal the extent to which the non-communist world has been communistically softened or frightened. It seems incredible that in these economic matters, which reflect indeed much more than mere economic divergencies, the Western world is so divided on itself as to be incapable of presenting a common front against communism."

The same is true of the so-called civil rights legislation, which takes away from an individual his right to control his own property. When an owner, regardless of race, color or creed, cannot say who can and who cannot come into his property, he is being deprived of control. If ownership means control, then he is being deprived of ownership of property.

It is quite possible there are similar statements in the Russian constitution. However, there are also some similarities between the Russian constitution and that of the United States of America.

Questions are limited to general human relations questions that will improve the well-being of all mankind on this earth.

The Local Scene

Open House

By RUFUS L. PORTER

We attended the Open House ceremonies of the Park State Bank at Woodland Park Friday evening. And it was well worth the drive up there. The building, inside and out, is most pleasing and delightful to the eye. Everybody who had any part in the erecting of this small, but elegant building deserves the thanks of the community, and I do not mean just Woodland Park, but the whole Pikes Peak Region. Here is workmanship at its finest.

The architect is to be congratulated for a masterful and imaginative design. The stone masons, the carpenters, the glaziers (there is a lot of glass), the cabinet maker who built the counters, desks, closets, etc., and all the other workers who helped on the building deserve a rousing vote of thanks from the community.

The building, viewed from the exterior or interior, looks solid, weatherproof and comfortable, and substantial enough so that you would know it for a bank on first sight.

We met the officers and directors of the new bank, some of them we've known for years. The atmosphere was cordial and visitors were plentiful. Refreshments were served and praises for the workmanship of the builders were heard on every hand.

After an excellent dinner in a Woodland Park cafe we drove home feeling that it was an evening well spent. It was the first time, by the way, that we had ever attended an Open House in and for a bank. And we forgot to inquire if they were giving out free samples.

The bank opened for business Monday morning, April 19, and there is little doubt but what it will have a prosperous future. Woodland Park is growing.

ANOTHER BUILDING

I have had occasion several times to visit the Charles Leaming Tutt Library at Colorado College, and I have always admired the exterior of the building. And the interior, also, as far as I had been, which was only the ground floor.

But recently I visited the library to look up something in the old newspaper files, they have them there all the way back to the earliest times in Colorado Springs. I was hunting for a Colorado Springs Evening Telegraph for 1901, and I found it — up on the third floor. The old papers are preserved in heavy, bound volumes and researchers are allowed to pore over them to their heart's content. And they are very interesting, more so perhaps if you are old enough, as I am, to remember way back there when some of these things were happening.

As I ascended the stairs to the second and then the third floor, I was struck with the massive simplicity and the restful, ethereal beauty that surrounded me. Glancing down I noticed that all the floors were covered with subdued orange colored carpet, glancing up, I noticed for the first time the magnificient arrangement of skylights. The second and third floors are composed of rooms surrounding great wells below the skylights that let the daylight filter down thru the entire building. No wonder, I thought, why so few windows are visible on the outside, except on the ground floor, they don't need them.

The skylights are not clear but a near white and the daylight and the orange carpet make a delightful combination, subdued and most restful. What a place to go to read and meditate. Peace reigns at the Charles Leaming Tutt Library. I am going to find more excuses to visit it in the future.

There is more building activity up around Colorado College, it is rapidly taking on a new look. If the new buildings are as architecturally symmetrical and handsome as the library, they will add considerably to the prestige of the college. The new architecture isn't as garish as it was 15 years or so ago.

U.S., India Relations Cold Despite Aid

By DAN COGGIN

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The new billion-dollar aid pledge by the United States and nine other nations for India's economic development was received matter of factly in New Delhi today as U.S.-Indian relations continued cool.

The leftist newspaper Patriot, as expected, linked the aid promise with anger here over President Johnson's postponement of Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri's visit to Washington and Shastri's subsequent cancellation of the trip that was to follow one to Moscow next month.

"The size of this year's U.S. contribution to assistance through the Aid-India Consortium," it said, "is said to have been influenced as much by anxiety to assuage India's feelings at President Johnson's abrupt postponement of Mr. Shastri's visit to Washington as by any assessment of India's economic viability."

The aid pledge for the last year of India's third five-year plan, which is falling short of many important targets, drew front page headlines in the Indian press but the treatment was matter of fact.

All newspapers noted prominently that the aid pledge was $223 million less than India asked for.

The Press Trust of India news agency said there was "general satisfaction considering the opposition to foreign aid in countries like the United States and West Germany. The U.S. pledge was the same as last year. West Germany's was ten per cent less.

"A sense of thankfulness if not of jubilation," greeted the aid news, said an Indian Express editorial. One reason there was no increase, it said, was that aid-giving nations doubt India's "ability to put the aid to the best possible use."

The Statesman agreed. "Unmistakable is a growing weariness with the very concept of aid," an editorial said. "India as the largest recipient may have contributed to this by her halting advance toward self-sustenance."

The United States has poured $6 billion into India since 1951, yet India's average per capita income increased only 1.5 per cent in each of the last four years and at $68 dollars remains among the world's lowest. The growth of India's 480 million population by 12 million a year eats up almost all economic gains.

Shastri still plans a June 11-14 visit to Canada, a decision hailed by Indian newspapers as a fitting rejoinder to Johnson who was deemed here to have insulted Shastri by postponing his June 2 Washington visit.

Shastri will proceed to the Commonwealth Prime Minister's conference in London.

There has been pressure on the prime minister to keep a luncheon appointment at the United Nations but Shastri canceled this.

Since the U.S. visit was put off, Shastri has spoken out in stronger terms against U.S. air strikes against North Viet Nam and said there was "hardly any point" in Johnson offering peace talks as long as this continues.

TWO TOURING UNITS OF NATIONAL REPERTORY

Michael Dewell, cofounder of the company with Frances Ann Dougherty in 1960 said that the growth of audiences is necessitating the booking of added performances in cities regularly visited. In addition a project is underway for a tour of New York colleges in cooperation with the State Council on the Arts.

Censorship in Viet Nam Is 'Different'

Robert Eunson, who filed this dispatch, was a war correspondent for The Associated Press in World War II and in Korea. He is now director of Asia services for The Associated Press.

By ROBERT EUNSON

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —In World War II and in Korea, regulations for news coverage of armed conflict involving U.S. servicemen came from the military.

In Viet Nam, such information is under the supervision of the U.S. Information Service, a unit of the U.S. Information Agency, whose objective is to present the image of the United States in the most favorable light.

USIA is an independent agency under the policy direction of the White House and the State Department.

U.S. military briefing officers in Viet Nam are subordinate to Barry Zorthian, head of USIS in Viet Nam. He has criticized reporters in private for stories which did not violate security but which he thought were unfavorable to the United States.

Daily briefings on military operations are held in Saigon by Lt. Col. L.A. Breault, but they are held at USIS headquarters. Breault held a similar post in Korea, but his information came from Army intelligence and did not have to be cleared by USIS.

George Beebe, managing editor of the Miami (Fla.) Herald and president of The Associated Press Managing Editors Association, said in Miami Tuesday that USIA control of military briefings "should be of deep concern to the people of the United States."

Beebe in a statement said editors fear the American public is not getting "the full story nor the true story" of the war in Viet Nam.

"With rare exceptions," he continued, "the press has always felt the military should be the spokesman for military matters. It resents USIA requiring escorts when reporters talk to the men in our armed forces.

"I speak for the APME board in protesting the present U.S. policy of providing information on developments in Viet Nam which is inadequate and too often unreliable.

"The people of the United States deserve to be well informed in this crisis no matter how negative the news might be."

A set of 20 ground rules for coverage of air strikes in Viet Nam was issued a week ago. Zorthian signed these as "minister-counselor of public affairs" although Col. Ben Lagare is the press information officer for the U.S. Military Assistance Command.

Zorthian's memorandum states that the rules "must be observed by official briefers and other American and Vietnamese official personnel."

It says information that will "normally be released as soon as available" includes the target hit, nationality of the striking force, whether the aircraft was land-based or naval, general characterization of the success of the mission, ordnance expended and tonnage, numbers of strike and support planes in round numbers, general description of enemy anti-aircraft ground fire, and pilot sightings of unfriendly aircraft.

The memorandum prohibits disclosure of information on aircraft taking off on strikes, identification of land bases or location of bases from which aircraft were launched, number of aircraft damaged, or enemy air reaction other than that actually seen by strike personnel. The total aircraft lost will be released when recovery operations are completed.

Correspondents do not object to regulations issued for security reasons. But they object strongly to a policy of not allowing free access to military personnel unless an "escort officer" is present. The newsmen feel this inhibits military personnel during interviews.

Another memorandum issued by Zorthian says "entry and movement within airbase areas controlled by the Vietnamese air force will be in the compasy of a guide. Journalists passing through a Vietnamese air force area to reach an American infrom the American installation by a Vietnamese air force guide."

The memorandum also says:

"Beginning Monday, April 12, foreign journalists who hold government of Viet Nam and Military Assistance Command Viet Nam accreditation can apply for Vietnamese high command authorization for entry to military airfields in Viet Nam, including Da Nang."

After briefing on security regulations and agreeing to accept them, the newsman may move without an escort "through unclassified areas of the American installation."

U.S. newsmen have been barred since last March from the Da Nang airbase, from which many strikes have been launched against North Viet Nam. Zorthian announced that issuance of accreditations would begin April 12, but it was not until April 20 that authorization was issued by Vietnamese officials in Saigon for some newsmen to enter the Da Nang base and other installations.

Authorization for entry of Associated Press correspondents were being forwarded April 21 to them in Da Nang.

American billets, messes and service men's clubs are still closed to newsmen. Interviews with pilots have generally been forbidden, although some have been arranged off the base under the stipulation that the pilots discuss their missions in general terms.

U.S. Given Praise for Italian Improvement

NEW YORK (AP) — Italian Prime Minister Aldo Moro said Thursday night that Italy's economic improvement since the end of World War II was due in a large part to the effective friendship of the United States.

He also said a reason for the "drastic improvement" of Italy's standard of living was due to Italians' "industriousness and desire for progress."

Coeds Evacuated In Fire Alarm

NEW YORK (AP) — About 500 Barnard College girls were evacuated from three dormitories early today when a fire broke out in one of the rooms.

There were no injuries, firemen said.

There were about 18 girls on that floor, said Miss Harriet Van Sickle, director of residences. All of the girls in Reid, Hewit and Brooks Halls walked to the gymnasium in nearby Barnard Hall during the firefighting. They later returned to their rooms.

NEW YORK (UPI) — If you must keep an eagle eye on the building budget, try this money-saving move: adopt for your new home simple frame construction in the shape of a rectangle. If neighboring structures are the same shape and construction, variety can be obtained by landscaping with various shrubs and plants, adding a quarry tile terrace and attaching a breezeway and carport.

CU Springs Center Offers Master Degree Program

Work leading toward master's degrees in business administration, electrical engineering and applied mathematics will be offered by the University of Colorado Center in September when it moves into new residence at Cragmor, an 80 - acre campus in the northeastern part of Colorado Springs.

Announcement of the master's degree program was made Thursday by Dr. R. C. Rautenstraus, assistant dean of faculties, University of Colorado, at the Kiwanis Club luncheon in the Acacia Hotel.

Other "kinds" of courses which might be offered by the university next year and oriented toward the master's degree are education, history and political science. Dr. Rautenstraus said, in addition to sufficient undergraduate work which could lead to degrees.

Non - credit courses will continue to be offered through the Springs center. Rautenstraus said "first rate people in discipline" will comprise the staff of the center next fall to fulfill the needs of the community.

He said the center will be able to accommodate 1,500 part-time students, but that its capacity will be around 2,000. The bulk of graduate and undergraduate courses will be offered in the late afternoon and late evening, Dr. Rautenstraus said.

He predicted no great expansion of present facilities at Cragmor, but said nearly all of the buildings in the campus area will be used. Dr. Rautenstraus said only minor renovations are anticipated. An appropriation of $25,000 was asked for a detailed study of facilities at Cragmor to determine expansion needs, he said, but it's disposition still is in the hands of the state legislature.

He praised Colorado College for its cooperation with the Boulder based university. The center has been operating in administrative and faculty offices, a business office and a small library at 1105 N. Nevada Ave.

The some 1,000 students attending classes at the center also have had access to Tutt Library on the CC campus. Most classes have been held in Jackson House and Palmer Hall, also on the CC campus.

Cragmor has facilities for all but a few courses. The new campus was a gift to the university by the Cragmor Foundation in November, 1964, and includes buildings which formerly was a tuberculosis sanitarium operated by the foundation.

Extension of the graduate program was spurred by interest of area residents. Dr. Rautenstraus said about 300 persons recently have applied for master's degree work.

He said a librarian has been appointed and books for the Cragmor campus library have been allocated. Dr. Rautenstraus said the university expects to "shuttle" books between Colorado Springs and Boulder.

Courses offered by the Springs center will be interchangeable with those offered by the main campus at Boulder, which would lead to degrees, he said. Catalogues describing course offerings should be available in about one month, Dr. Rautenstraus said.

QUAYLE LONDON HIT COMING

The project marks return of Peter Cookson to production here. He was last represented by "The Innocents," during the 1950-'51 season. Cosponsor is Amy Lynn, who shared in the management of "Lord Pengo" two years ago. It is expected that Anthony Quayle, Coral Browne and Anna Massey, who head the West End cast, will be available for the local presentation.

For the second year in a row, the nation's cotton crop will average more than a bale to the acre. This production will be three times the yield of the early 1930s.

Plans for National Rail Strike Put Off

ROME (AP) — Plans for another nationwide railway strike Monday and Tuesday have been put off by Italy's three railway unions to give Premier Aldo Moro time to study their grievances.

Moro, on a state visit to the United States, is due back Saturday.

The Transport Ministry recently gave bonuses to higher level employes. The unions want all railway workers to receive the bonus.

The Statue of Liberty was formally presented to the American people by France on July 4, 1884.

Ohio was the first state to pass a law requiring the use of eye safety equipment in school shops, laboratories and vocational arts classes.

Students at Ole Miss Stage New Race Protest

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — University of Mississippi students demonstrated Thursday night outside a dormitory where a professor and two male students, all white, from predominantly Negro Tougaloo College were staying.

The demonstration did not spread to another dorm where three Negro coeds from Tougaloo were quartered.

There were conflicting reports on the length of the demonstration and the number of Ole Miss students involved.

Ole Miss was the scene of rioting in the fall of 1962 when James H. Meredith enrolled as the university's first Negro student. Two persons were killed and several hundred were injured.

Pat Smith, university public relations director, said "about 75 students" were involved. A campus security police officer estimated the number at 100. Other reports placed the crowd size at 300.

Smith said the windows in the auto of one of the Tougaloo representatives were smashed by rocks.

"I guess it was just a case of spring fever," said Smith. He said the students voluntarily dispersed when the dean of students, Franklin Moak, asked them to return to their own dorms.

Smith said students began milling outside Haydon Hall dormitory about 10:30 p.m. After the rocks were hurled at the car window, he said the students began yelling.

Smith said no Negroes were housed in Haydon, which is near Lebauve Hall, where the university's two Negro students live.

A university staff worker, who asked not to be identified by name, said she could hear noise from the demonstration at her home, nearly two miles off campus. She said she also heard several small explosions that "sounded like cherry bombs."

In Jackson, the Tougaloo College president, George A. Owens, said he had been assured by campus police early today "that the situation is under control."

The Rev. Kenneth Dean, executive director of the Mississippi Council on Human Relations, was also in the dormitory. He had driven to Oxford late Thursday after a council session in Jackson.

Dean talked by telephone to Tougaloo College chaplain Ed King, also a white clergyman, and described the demonstration to King as "terrifying."

The biracial group from Tougaloo were refused service when they tried to order coffee at the University Grill late Thursday. This action, one faculty member said, caused considerable concern among university administrators because Ole Miss has signed desegregation compliance agreements in order to continue receiving federal aid.

The Virgin Islands have three main islands —St. Thomas, site of the capital; St. Croix, 40 miles south, and tiny St. John, mostly a national park. There are also nearly 50 other bays and islets.

Geneva Agreement on Indochina Did Not Work

EDITOR'S NOTE — In July

EDITOR'S NOTE — In July 1954 the major powers and the three Indochinese states met in Geneva to end the 7½- year war between the French and Red rebels. This article backgrounds the Geneva declaration and its observance — or lack of it — through the years.

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1954 Geneva agreements on Indochina rate high in lip service and low in observance as the tempo of fighting steps up in Viet Nam.

Under the oft-quoted Geneva accords, the Southeast Asian country is supposed to be peaceful, neutral and free from outside interference.

This in fact is the avowed aim of the combatants on both sides, an deach is accusing the other of violating the 1954 pact.

At the heart of the conflict is the Communist Viet Cong effort to bring down the pro-Western South Viet Nam government. The Viet Cong guerrillas have the support of Communist countries; the United States and some other Western countries back Saigon.

As long as the conflict is military, diplomatic moves toward a peaceful settlement stand little chance. If either side eases up, negotiations might get somewhere.

There may be a possibility — not in sight now — that the fighting would simmer down without a new peace conference. Then the Geneva accords, pretty much a dead letter now, could govern again.

The 1954 conference wound up the 7½-year Indochina war in which France failed to save her colonial empire in Southeast Asia. Representatives of the three Indochina states — Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia — and of the major powers interested — among them the United States, Red China and the Soviet Union — met to restore the peace and security to the area.

In the Geneva agreements:

— The conference powers promised "to respect the sovereignty, the independence, the unity and the territorial integrity" of the Indochina states "and to refrain from any other interference in their internal affairs."

— "No person, military or civilian," was to cross the demarcation line without permission of the International Control Commission set up under the agreements.

— The opposing parties agreed to "commit no act and undertake no operation against the other party" and to insure that their areas "are not used for the resumption of hostilities or to further an aggressive policy."

— Introduction into Viet Nam of troop reinforcements, additional military personnel or new weapons was barred as was establishment of new military bases. Creation of a military base "under the control of a foreign state" was prohibited.

— Free general Viet Nam-wide elections by secret ballot with the aim of reunifying Viet Nam were to be held in July 1956 under the supervision of the international commission.

The Communist powers as well as Britain and France agreed to the pact. The U.S. and the South Vietnamese representatives refused to sign. The United States promised not to use force to violate the agreements.

The South Vietnamese regime under Ngo Dinh Diem was unable in the relatively short period before the election deadline to establish Saigon's control over the war-wasted country. An election then could well have gone to the Communists who had solidified control in the north and were making political headway in the south. Diem did not go through with the elections.

Diem suuceeded in creating a measure of political stability and over the next few years South Viet Nam began to prosper.

The North Vietnamese Communists under Ho Chi Minh saw their prospects of a takeover without use of force dwindling. So in 1958 the Reds decided to wage a terrorist campaign to capture control of South Viet Nam. They had left behind thousands of agents and arms caches in 1954 and began to send in more guerrillas and weapons.

The United States stepped up its arms assistance to Saigon and in 1961 began sending in what Washington called military "advisers" in sizable numbers.

Last Feb. 7, the United States started a direct combat role with air strikes on North Viet Nam and on guerrillas in the South.

Both the Communists and the United States say the essence of their policies is in accord with the Geneva agreements.

Congress Gets Real Scientist As Member

WASHINGTON (AP) — The typical congressman is a lawyer, a veteran, and has had previous government service. But there are some mighty untypical ones, too.

The house of the 89th Congress, for instance, boasts three funeral directors, two submarine commanders, five ex-FBI agents, a television producer and a one-time female vocalist for Don McNeill's radio "Breakfast Club."

And at long last the House has a bona fide scientist, Rep. Weston E. Vivian, D-Mich., a physicist.

These facts are gleaned from biographical sketches furnished by the House members and just published in the new edition of the Congressional Directory, a thick blue book that is the almanac of Capitol Hill.

The members can tell as much or as little about themselves as they desire, and both extremes are represented in the directory. Rep. Eugene J. Keogh, D-N.Y., said it in four words: 'Elected consecutively since 1936."

Others dwell at length on their backgrounds. Rep. Barratt O'-Hara, D-Ill., has the longest biography — 44½ lines. But, then, O'Hara, at 82 the oldest member of the House, has crammed a dozen careers into his lifetime and probably needed the extra footage.

There is no pattern to the kind of information the members think important enough to include. Rep. Chet Holifield, D-Calif., mentions the fact he has 14 grandchildren. Rep. Joe D. Waggonner Jr., D-La., proclaims he comes from Anglo-Saxon stock. And Rep. William Jennings Bryan Dorn, D-S.C., in contrast to the many who note they entered the Army as privates and emerged as high-ranking officers, discloses he began as a private and was discharged 3½ years later as corporal.

Of those who indicated their religion, and many did not, 38 were Roman Catholic, 35 Methodist, 30 Episcopal, 26 Baptist, 25 Presbyterian, 11 Jewish, 9 Christian Church, 6 Lutheran, 6 Mormon, 5 Congregationalist, 4 Unitarian, 3 Evangelical. In addition there were 14 who indicated they were Protestant without specifying a denomination.

Lawyers dominate the professions represented, with 239 out of the 434-member House. Some kind of previous governmental experience, often in city or county government, was listed by 303 members. Of these 27 were judges. Three House members are ex-governors, and two are ex-senators.

Most are college graduates, but 63 list no college degree. The Ivy League is well represented, 73 members reporting degrees from its institutions. Harvard leads with 31, followed by Yale, 17, Columbia, 11, Princeton, 7, and Cornell, 7.

U.S., Soviets Closer On Issues in U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union appeared today to have narrowed their differences slightly on what roles the Security Council and General Assembly should play in U.N. peacekeeping.

U.S. Ambassador Charles W. Yost acknowledged that the Security Council has primary responsibility for peacekeeping but said only the General Assembly has the power to apportion expenses for operations.

Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko reiterated that the Security Council should have sole responsibility for authorizing and financing peacekeeping operations. But he added that if the council failed to act "nothing can prevent the General Assembly from considering the whole question anew" in order to adopt new charter recommendations.

AAU Judo Tourney Set

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A field of 250 judoists including four defending champions, opens competition in the National AAU Championships with a team of 12 collegians from Japan vying for honors.

Matches start tonight at the University of San Francisco gymnasium with two sessions on Saturday deciding the championships in six weight classes.

San Jose State won the team title last year and has two individual champions back seeking to defend their laurels — Yozou Koga in the 135-pound class and Harry Kumura at 180.

James Bregman, Olympic gold medal winner from Washington, D.C., battles to hold the 1963-pound crown while Renzo Shibata of Los Angeles competes again at 150.

In both heavyweight and unlimited classes, the champions of last year have retired.

LEGAL NOTICE

PUBLIC NOTICE
OF SCHOOL BOND ELECTION IN SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 38
EL PASO COUNTY, COLORADO
MAY 4, 1965

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That at the regular biennial school election to be held on Tuesday, the 4th day of May, 1965, in School District No. 38, in the County of El Paso and State of Colorado, at the Lewis-Palmer High School Building, in Monument, Colorado, there will be submitted to the registered qualified taxpaying electors of the District the following question:

"Shall the Board of Education of School District No. 38, in the County of El Paso, State of Colorado, contract a bonded indebtedness in the principal amount of $75,000 for the purpose of erecting and furnishing a school building within said District, said bonds to bear interest at a rate or rates not exceeding 3½% per annum and to mature serially within 11 years from date thereof, and to be redeemable at such time or times, upon payment of such premium or premiums, if any, not exceeding 2% of principal, as may later be determined by the Board of Education?"

The polling place for the reception of ballots on said question shall be opened at the hour of 7:00 o'clock A.M. of said day and said polls shall remain open continuously and be closed at the hour of 7:00 o'clock P.M. of said day.

Ballots to be used in voting upon the question submitted will be furnished by the Secretary of the District to the Judges of Election, to be by them furnished to the voters. Each elector voting at said election shall deposit in the ballot box a ballot whereon shall be printed the question to be voted upon and the words "FOR THE BONDS" and "AGAINST THE BONDS" following such question. The elector shall indicate his approval or disapproval of the proposition submitted by placing a cross (x) opposite the group of words on his ballot which expresses his choice.

The following persons shall be entitled to vote at said election on the question of issuing bonds: Any person who is at least twenty-one years of age, a citizen of the United States, who has resided in the State of Colorado for twelve months, in the County of El Paso for ninety days, in School District No. 38 for thirty days and in the School Election Precinct for fifteen days immediately preceding the date of election, and who, during the twelve months next preceding said election, has paid an ad valorem school tax upon property situated within the School District and owned by said person and whose name appears upon the registration list of the School Election Precinct in which he resides.

Those electors who are qualified as indicated above but who are not registered may register at the office of the County Clerk and Recorder of El Paso County, in Colorado Springs, Colorado not later than Monday, April 19, 1965.

Persons who are otherwise fully qualified to vote on said question but will be unable to appear at the polls on election day should contact the Secretary of the Board of Education, or the Assistant Secretary, at the office of the Secretary, in Monument, Colorado, not later than May 1, 1965, to determine whether they are eligible to vote by absentee ballot on said question, and, if eligible, to make application for such ballot.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the Board of Education of School District No. 38, in the County of El Paso, State of Colorado, has caused this Notice to be given as required by law as of the 11th day of March, 1965.

(SEAL)

Budget Chief Influential In Washington

By STERLING F. GREEN

The professor picked by President Johnson to become budget director in June, Charles L. Schultze, 40, is a witty, gentle-spoken economist who helped develop some of the basic concepts of modern U.S. budget-making.

Is he also tough enough to knock bureaucrats' heads together when the public purse needs protecting? "I hope so," Schultze told an interviewer.

"I've had 2½ years of learning how to be tough. From now on I'll have to be tougher, I guess."

The 2½ years were spent as assistant budget director. Schultze left that post only two months ago to resume his academic career at the University of Maryland.

Even before that stint he had learned the bureaucratic ropes. Schultze spent most of the 1950s, except for one year at the University of Indiana, on the staff of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, under Presidents Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower.

There he earned a reputation as an economics forecaster. The Budget Bureau put the talent to use by making Schultze its representative on the three-agency team, the so-called "troika" which produces the annual official forecast of the nation's economic activity for the year ahead. The forecast is the basis for the budget estimate of federal revenues.

The troika, made up of one member each from the council, the Budget Bureau and the Treasury, had sensational success last year. Its January predictions hit almost on the nose the three key figures — national output, personal income and corporation profits.

Schultze belittles the feat: "It's like throwing darts. You hit it now and then."

By fellow economists he is widely esteemed as one of the group which evolved the concepts of "fiscal drag" and "full employment surplus." The theories were put to a massive test in the $11.6-billion tax cut last year.

It once was customary to measure how much the government stimulated or retarded the economy by the size of the government deficit or surplus, respectively. Schultze helped establish the idea that the true measure is how large the deficit or surplus would be if the economy were running at the full employment level.

Asked to explain it as if he were teaching a freshman class, Schultze paused a moment, then began: "Imagine a situation in which the government had a very high tax rate compared with its expenditures. At full employment there theoretically would be a big federal surplus.

"But because you are trying to run such a large surplus, a drag sets in. You are taking too much out of the economy in revenues, so you never get to full employment, and you never get the big surplus."

So the Schultze idea of how to reach full employment is, in effect, to calculate what full employment would do to government outlays and tax collections, and then try to adjust fiscal policy to achieve the result desired.

When President Johnson asked him to succeed Budget director Kermit Gordon, who is resigning to become vice president of the Brookings Institution, Schultze stipulated that he'd have to stay with his classes until June.

He is pleased at the new challenge, but: "It will be a grind, not so much physically as psychologically. Making the decisions is tougher than being on the staff."

Schultze enjoys government work — "I like the chance to make the theory live" — and he admires the Budget Bureau vastly: "It's a crackerjack staff, the best in Washington, I think."

What does he do in spare time?

"Sleep," said Schultze. "With six kids and a house to take care of, and some reading to do, there isn't much time left for anything else."

To keep in shape, he admitted, he doggedly does exercises every morning, following a routine of calisthenics set forth in a paperback manual of the Royal Canadian Air Force.

"The book assumes that you're fat, flabby and absolutely worthless and undertakes to build you up over a period of years," Schultze said. "The assumption was absolutely right in my case."

Not true. Schultze is an energetic 5 feet 10, has all his hair, and never has weighed over 175 pounds. He's down to 170 now.

He was born in nearby Alexandria, Va., and took his bachelor's and master's degrees at Georgetown University here and his Ph.D. at Maryland.

His wife, the former Rita Irene Hertzog, was born here. Their children are Karen, 16, Kevin, 14, Lynn, 13, Kathleen, 11, Carol, 3 and Mary Christine, 1.

Russian Ballet Dancer Praised In New York

By MARY CAMPBELL

NEW YORK (AP) — Rudolf Nureyev and Dame Margot Fonteyn were a touching, sensitive Romeo and Julet as the British Royal Ballet combined a gala season's opening with the American premiere of its most popular new production.

The pair Wednesday night attempted to act the story of youth, love and tragedy by expressive dancing and two beautiful love duets. They succeeded brilliantly.

Nureyev, 27, is the Russian who asked the West for asylum in 1961 just as he was being recalled from a European tour of the Kirov Ballet. He made news then and since, for the unusual height and distance of his leaps, his individualistic interpretations, and his occasional flashes of temperament.

Now 46, Dame Margot danced the 14-year-old Juliet to unbelievable perfection. Her dancing was light, graceful and steady.

The audience at the Metropolitan Opera House was elegantly garbed and sprinkled with prominent persons. Among those present were the three sisters of the late President John F. Kennedy, Mrs. Sargent Shriver, Mrs. Peter Lawford and Mrs. Stephen Smith, seated together and accompanied by Smith.

Sir Patrick Dean, British ambassador to Washington, and Lord Caradon, ambassador to the United Nations, represented the ballet company's homeland.

Since its world premiere at Covent Garden Feb. 9, also danced by Nureyev and Dame Margot, "Romeo and Juliet" has been one of the biggest box office successes in the company's 34-year history.

After the three-hour ballet came 35 minutes of 33 curtain calls.

Meter Reader Gets Big Opera Contract

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bert Lindsey Jr. was reading a meter — and singing at the same time — when his wife finally located him after a frantic search.

And when she told him about a telephone call she had received, Lindsey cheered loudly.

She informed him that he was to receive a 52-week contract with the Metropolitan Opera National Co. in New York City.

Lindsey, 25, a meter reader for the city's Department of Water and Power, had dreamed of such a break during five years of part-time musical education.

A tenor, he had auditioned for the Met in February.

But he said, "I certainly did not expect this."

"As a matter of fact I had a cold during the audition. When the company director refused to commit himself, I thought 'that's the end of that.'"

Tourists to the Virgin Islands numbered nearly a half million in 1964 and spent 48 million dollars. This is almost twice what the United States paid Denmark for the islands in 1917 as a base to defend the Panama Canal.

Peak cracker months are October through March; Americans ate 50 per cent more saltines in December and January than they did in June and July.
